PRAIRIE-OTTAWA IMPASSE ON RELIEF TREK

Alternative Vote In Saskatchewan Divides Commons

Government Introduces Bill For New System in Next General Election; Liberal Leader Objects to Only One Province Being Covered

TWO DIVISIONS SET PRECEDENT

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 14.—There were two full-dress divisions of the House of Commons to-day on a proposal to try the alternative vote in Saskatchewan at Dominion elections. It was a spectacle never before noted in the Canadian parliament.

The house first divided on a motion of Minister of Justice Hugh Guthrie for leave to introduce the bill. The government was upheld 77 to 39. Promptly another division took place on first reading of the bill and the government again was upheld, this time 75 to 37.

Noisy opposition from the Liberal benches led to the two formal divisions. Ordinarily such a test of strength does not take place until the second reading.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie introduced the bill as an amendment to the Dominion Elections Act. A few other changes were included, involving minor alterations in advanced polls, printing of the lists and forms

OBJECTION VOICED

Liberal Leader Mackenzie King objected to introducing a new system in a part of Canada and not the whole and to any change in the system so close to a general election.

Farmer and Labor members voted for the bill with the Conservatives. All Liberals and two Independent members voted against it.

The alternative vote is a system which enables electors to register a second choice in constituencies where there are more than two candidates running. It thus makes it certain the candidate elected will have a majority over all his opponents.

It has been used in provincial elections in several of the western provinces, but never in Dominion elections.

ADOPTED BY MINISTRY

Earlier this session W. A. Beynon, Conservative, Moose Jaw, as a private member introduced a bill to establish the alternative vote in Saskatchewan and Alberta, but the bill never reached a vote. By acting as it has the government has adopted Mr. Beynon's bill, but decided to apply it to Saskatchewan alone.

Ethiopians Train for Defence

Lively Debate On Grain Board Plan

Liberal Leader Tells Premier Bennett His Information About Liberal Caucuses Is All Wrong

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 14.—International wheat speculators are short between 25,000,000 and 35,000,000 bushels on the Winnipeg Exchange, Premier R. B. Bennett told the House of Commons this afternoon.

He said his government would never consent to dumping wheat on the market, forcing down prices so the speculators could make money at the expense of the Canadian farmers.

"Facing both ways," was the way Mr. Bennett described the attitude of the Liberal Party towards the proposed Dominion grain board.

He at once found himself in an argument with Liberal Leader Mackenzie King.

The Prime Minister wanted to know who had supplied Hon. J. L. Ralston, Liberal, Shelburne-Yarmouth, N.S., chief Liberal critic of the bill, with his information. He had repeatedly qualified his remarks with the words "if I am correctly informed."

"By, whom was he informed?" asked the Premier.

"Who gave him his brief?" Mr. Ralston was a great lawyer, he continued, but he was not ordinarily familiar with the wheat situation and did not want to make the speech. He had been told to make it and the Liberal members had held two caucuses before they decided that although they would like to oppose the bill there were more votes to be gained by supporting it.

CONTEST FOR NOMINATION

Four Possibilities For Conservative Honors in City Are Indicated

As the executive of the B.C. Conservative Association laid plans for a meeting here tomorrow at which preparations for the federal campaign will be discussed, local interest was centred on candidature possibilities for Victoria riding.

Both Liberal and C.C.F. parties having nominated their standard-bearers in this district, the Conservative group will be the last to enter its candidate. So far, there is little prospect of any independents.

Three men are mentioned as possible contestants for the Conservative nomination with D. B. Plunkett, the sitting member. Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter is understood to have a substantial following from Conservatives who desire to change their representative. Another section is expected to throw its support behind Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, ex-premier of B.C., and a former federal Minister of Agriculture, when he sat in the Commons for Victoria. Also a likely contestant for the honor is J. W. Jones, former B.C. Minister of Finance, who is now resident here.

It is expected the date for the local nominating convention will be discussed at the provincial executive meeting in conjunction with general organization plans for the campaign. Dr. Frank Patterson, president, will preside.

Prior to the general meeting, which will start at 9 o'clock in the Conservative Rooms, the women's committee will meet with Mrs. Angus McLean in charge.

Want Generous Island Grant

City Council Seeks Fair Expenditure of Government Funds on Roads Here

Application for a generous expenditure of the provincial government's $1,500,000 appropriation for works on Vancouver Island roads will be made by the City Council, following a resolution passed at a special meeting of the council this afternoon.

The resolution was sponsored by Alderman J. A. Worthington and Alderman Walter Luney, and is in line with previous applications for portions of government appropriations made by the council.

Alderman Worthington stressed the fact that the council should move fast and "get after" the government for a generous share of the money for much-needed work on the Island Highway and other island roads.

Alderman Luney felt the expenditure was a sound investment on the part of the government, in view of the fact that the island depended on tourist revenue. He thought Vancouver Island was entitled to a generous concession in the expending of the funds.

Alderman Archie Wills drew to the council's attention the fact that the government had been approached for a share for the island at the time Hon. F. M. McPherson had announced a $500,000 works programme. At this time it had been stated the island would receive only one-sixteenth of the total, he said.

"If we are going to get anything we have got to go after it. It is a sure thing the rest of the province will be after their shares," commented Alderman R. A. C. Dewar.

The executive of the public works committee, with the addition of Alderman Wills, was appointed to approach the government on the matter. This committee will also deal with a proposal to have the government contribute a portion to the Ross Bay seawall repairs.

Minister Schemes To Catch a Pig

Department of Agriculture Answers Farmer's Appeal for Help With Obstreperous Porker

Hon K. C. MacDonald and his colleagues in the Department of Agriculture had completed a deep-laid conspiracy to-day against a pig which escaped from a farmer's sty shipping crate at Alta Lake and refused to be caught.

For three weeks the porker has been at large. He comes for food, but he is big and strong and all efforts to catch him have been in vain.

Earlier this week the farmer appealed to the Department of Agriculture for help. After giving the matter grave deliberation, the minister and his officials forwarded to the farmer a mild opiate to mix with the pig's mash.

This will put the pig to sleep for half an hour. When he awakes it will be to find himself safely under lock and key and under the farmer's control.

MAY LUMBER EXPORTS UP

Province Shipped Nearly 83,000,000 Feet Last Month For Big Increase

Overseas lumber shipments from British Columbia in May bounded upwards and placed exports for the first five months nearly on a par with last year, official figures given out by the forest branch to-day showed.

Shipments for the month totaled 82,799,000 feet. This compared with 63,772,000 feet in April and 54,683,000 feet in May of last year.

The chief factor causing the upswing was an increase of 19,000,000 feet in exports to the United Kingdom.

Up to the end of May, the province had shipped out a total of 329,112,000 feet as against 339,808,000 feet in the first five months of 1934.

Touring Scots Sail For Home

Montreal, June 14.—With the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" wafting across the water, the touring Scottish soccer team sailed from Montreal to-day for home aboard the liner Duchess of Richmond.

Before sailing President "Jim" Fleming of the Scottish Football Association said the Montreal team, which the Scots defeated 3 to 0 here yesterday evening in their thirteenth match on this continent, had the best idea of positional play he had seen on the trip.

With 2,000 Camp Men At Regina, Saskatchewan Protests Federal Bar

Premier Gardiner Insists Strikers Be Allowed to Leave Province; Dominion Government Adheres to Order to R.C.M.P. to Prevent Their Departure For Ottawa

Orderly Parade Seen in Regina

Canadian Press

Regina, June 14—Orders of the Federal Government to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to stop the trek of relief camp strikers from British Columbia and Alberta to Ottawa still stand, and so does the Saskatchewan order to the police not to interfere in the movement of the strikers.

After issuing a 1,100-word statement reviewing the organization of the trek and the movement of the 2,000 men, Premier J. G. Gardiner stated this afternoon the impasse between the Saskatchewan Government and the Federal Government was unchanged.

By SAM G. ROSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Regina, June 14.—Facing orders that their trek to Ottawa must end at Regina, 2,000 striking relief camp workers from British Columbia and Alberta dropped off a fifty-car freight train here to-day, formed fours and marched to the stadium at the Exhibition Grounds, where they ate breakfast paid for by the Saskatchewan Government.

Inspector Fred Toop of the Regina city police force was the only police officer at the railway yards where 200 Regina unemployed gathered to shout a loud welcome to the arriving army. Three Canadian Pacific Railway constables were on the train.

Whether the 2,000 will challenge orders to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to stop the movement to Ottawa rests with a committee of seventy-seven men.

Some people have voiced hopes federal orders to Assistant Commissioner S. T. Wood of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police would be rescinded.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police here have been augmented by reserves from Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg. Although their strength is uncertain it is believed between 300 and 400 men are in barracks. Approximately 100 railway police are on call, if necessary, to stop the departure of the strikers on freight trains.

DEATH CALLS F. LANDSBERG

Victoria Loses a "Best Citizen," Leader in Public Welfare For Many Years

THE LATE FRED LANDSBERG

Fred Landsberg, to whom Victoria's "Best Citizen" medal was awarded in 1930, died early this morning in St. Joseph's Hospital.

He was in his seventy-seventh year. On May 1 last, he celebrated the fifty-first anniversary of his arrival in Victoria. Since that arrival there has been an unbroken and accelerating growth in Victoria's regard and pride in the Jewish youth who had fled to this country as a refugee from Polish pogroms to reveal here through the succeeding years a spirit of community and human service that few have equalled.

Surviving him are two daughters, Mrs. Percy A. Fitzsimmons, of Victoria and Mrs. T. W. White-Howles, of Sausalito, Cal., now in Victoria; and three grandchildren.

He was honorary secretary-treasurer of the British Columbia Red Cross Society, director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, president and a member of the executive of the Victoria Horticultural Society, honorary secretary-treasurr of the Near East Relief Society, executive of the Friendly Help Welfare Society, was founder of the Sunshine Camp for underprivileged mothers at Sasenos, organizer of the Citizen's Relief Fund Campaign during the early days of the depression, was a regular monthly cheer-bringer to the Aged Men's Home, was a member of the S.P.C.A., League of Nations Society, Canadian Club, Citizen's Recreation Room Committee, the Zoning Board at the City Hall, Real Estate Board, Independent Order of Oddfellows, Ancient Order of Foresters, Ancient Order of United Workmen, a former member of the B.C. Historical Society and of the Board of Trade, an organizer of the Civic Retrenchment Association and during the war the conductor of superfluities sales and fund-raising entertainments for the Red Cross. He was also active in Jewish organizations. With Capt. Burgess Gadshen, he was on the coun-

Seventy-two Pass At Normal School

Results of Teacher Training Announced By Department of Education; Joyce E. Applegate Wins Strathcona Trust Medal For Physical Training

Provincial normal schools graduated 213 new teachers during the term which finished June 7, according to pass lists announced by the Department of Education to-day.

At the Victoria Normal School eighty-six students attended. Four did not complete the course. Eight were repeating and three were taking refresher courses. Seventy-two received diplomas.

Joyce Elizabeth Applegate won the Strathcona Trust Gold Medal for excellence in physical training at the Victoria Normal.

In Vancouver 141 out of 160 students attending were granted diplomas, and Miss Louise M. Kennedy won the Strathcona Trust Medal.

William Miller Allan, Victoria; Joyce Elizabeth Applegate, Victoria; Jean Kathleen Armstrong, Victoria; Barbara Jean Daniels, Victoria; Rhoda Walton, Victoria.

Those qualifying for second class certificates and obtaining honor standing are:

Antoinette Emily Bourgon, Telkwa; Mary Elizabeth Conroy, Atlin; Noreen Lilian Creelman, Victoria.

LAST REQUEST IS PLEA FOR CHARITY

Fred Landsberg, who died early this morning, left the following letter, which has been made available for publication by his executors:

"To my Executors:

"With regard to my directions that 'no flowers be sent by request' in connection with my funeral it is my desire that any persons who intended to send flowers be urged to donate the cost of same to the Old Men's Home Fund which provides the aged inmates with pocket money. I also request that my executor, William Hodgson Davies, take my place as co-trustee of this fund and act with Mr. J. H. Beatty in this capacity.

(Signed) "Frederick Landsberg.

"Witnessed by:

"Lilian R. Pettman."

Logger Killed At Comox Lake

F. Tuddenham, Bridegroom of Four Months, Loses Life at Island Camp

Courtenay, June 14.—Frederick Tuddenham, aged twenty-four years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tuddenham of Courtenay, was killed yesterday at the Comox Lake camp of the Comox Logging and Railway Co. He was crushed by a log that had rolled from a coldeck pile. The widow is Mrs. Grace Tuddenham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ward of Sandwick.

Mr. and Mrs. Tuddenham were married last February. An inquest was held to-day.

Bronfman Group Given Acquittal

Montreal, June 14.—Judge Jules Desmarais to-day acquitted the four Bronfman brothers, Sam, Allan, Harry and Abe, Dave Costley, Barney Aaron and F. S. Blair, all of Montreal, and William Yule of Halifax of a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Dominion Government of $5,000,000 through the smuggling of liquor. Preliminary inquiry in the case had been going on intermittently since last fall.

The eight men were all who remained of the original sixty-one arrested by Royal Canadian Mounted Police on the conspiracy charge. The others, most of them residents of the Maritime provinces, were freed when Judge Desmarais upheld a defence contention Quebec courts had no jurisdiction as they had never actually conspired in Quebec. Named on the original warrant were residents of Quebec, British Columbia, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

IN ST. LAWRENCE

Charging of the sixty-one men resulted from investigations which followed arrest about two years ago of fifty-one persons in connection with an alleged $1,500,000 liquor smuggling ring operating through the St. Lawrence River and Gulf, Superintendent F. J. Mead, officer commanding the Quebec division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, said when the cast first appeared.

Present charges were mostly based on alleged routing back to Canada of huge stores of liquor shipped to St. Pierre-Miquelon from Canada prior to repeal in the United States. Fol-

SHIP CARGOES AT VANCOUVER MOVED

As Loading of Vessels Continues Strikers Call Public Mass Meeting For Sunday

Vancouver, June 14.—The Shipping Federation of British Columbia to-day extended activities to include ten of the fifteen deepsea vessels in port while striking longshoremen announced they would make no further effort to settle their differences with the federation until they had presented their side of the question to the public at a mass meeting Sunday evening.

TO UNLOAD AORANGI

Latest ship to arrive since the Vancouver and District Waterfront Workers' Association went on strike June 6, the liner Aorangi docked at Pier C early to-day and federation officials said unloading operations would start immediately.

Shipping authorities also announced the Empress of Japan and the Ms. Hikawa Maru would sail on schedule Saturday with full cargoes and passenger lists.

Meanwhile additional gangs were being hired from the Canadian Waterfront Workers' Association as the federation moved to start unloading operations on the remaining five idle ships in port.

COLOR MOVIE SETS NEW PACE

Producers, Actors and Directors Eye "Becky Sharp" Anxiously at New York

Canadian Press

New York, June 14.—Two young men from the social register to-day are pointed out as the authors of Hollywood's newest uneasiness. They are John Hay Whitney, thirty, and his cousin, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, thirty-five.

As officials of Pioneer Pictures Inc., they have installed "Becky Sharp," a motion picture photographed in colors, at a theatre here and set a great part of the industry to anxious speculation.

Actors and directors are openly concerned. Actresses, especially, are fearful. Their pigmentation may be unsuitable to the color camera, they fear, and they will be hooted from favor like the stars of the silent movies when talkies came in.

RUINS HUNTED FOR EXPLOSION VICTIMS

Officials Say Deaths at Reinsdorf, Germany, Fifty-two, But Estimates Much Higher Still Heard; Blasts Declared Accident

Associated Press

Wittenberg, Germany, June 14—Grimy Nazis dug into the debris that was Reinsdorf to-day for victims of a series of devastating munitions explosions variously estimated at from fifty-two to 1,000.

Flames, following fast on the giant explosions, added to the destruction. Shocked survivors of the catastrophe, many of them with only their clothes on their backs, streamed out of town on orders it be evacuated.

STRICT CENSORSHIP

Tight-lipped Nazi officials placed the dead at fifty-two. They said seventy-five were seriously injured and 300 less seriously hurt. But unofficial estimates placed the number killed up to 1,000.

All forces of the Nazi government were thrown into the task of rehabilitation. Firemen, police, storm troopers and workers attempted to get at some thirty bodies reported to be lying in the midst of ashes where a factory stood yesterday

Otto Heidenreith, Nazi district leader, speaking for the government, said: "It is out of the question for any act of sabotage to have been committed. It was a regrettable accident."

Dr. Sommer, district governor, in an official statement, said "the catastrophe a laid to a fire in a washroom which spread to the explosives. One detonation sufficed to scatter hot material and another and another followed with direful results."

FIGHTING ENDS IN CHACO AREA

Associated Press

Buenos Aires, June 14.—A ten-day truce took effect in the Chaco region at noon to-day, the Bolivian and Paraguayan general staffs issuing the "cease-firing" order to weary soldiers, whose hostilities had virtually halted several hours before.

The newspaper Noticias Graficas, in border dispatches, said Bolivian soldiers, learning a peace accord had been signed, abandoned their posts and deposed civil authorities in the town of Tariga.

"In interior Bolivia extraordinary excitement exists," the newspaper asserted. "Officers published proclamations against politicians and the military commands."

NO BANK PLAN FOR GLASGOW

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 14.—By unanimous vote, the corporation of Glasgow decided to-day to depart from the traditional methods of financing and raise money by mortgage. The decision came after a disagreement with the Bank of England, whose advice the Glasgow representatives rejected.

Glasgow has a £2,500,000 5½ per cent loan redeemable July 1. Representatives of the city corporation came to London and opened negotiations with the Bank of England. Differences arose over terms. Glasgow suggested a new 3 per cent loan, with the issue price at 101. The Bank of England proposed a 3 per cent loan at 99 for seventeen to twenty years.

The bank's advice was rejected and the general finance committee of the Glasgow Corporation recommended the loan should be replaced by offering the stockholders mortgages, in repayment of their stock, for seventeen to twenty years at 3 per cent.

This plan, which now has been accepted by the Glasgow Corporation, still, City Treasurer Dolan asserts, save the city £75,000 interest charges

CHINA ASKS POWERS' VIEWS

Will Send Envoy to Britain and United States

Shanghai, June 14.—China was reported planning to-day to send a special emissary to Great Britain and the United States on "a difficult and delicate mission."

Closer contact with those countries on matters in the Far East was described as an object of the visit. The reports also circulated in Nanking, seat of the nationalist government.

Japanese denied statements of Chinese leaders that Japanese officers had presented fresh demands which the nationalist government had refused to meet.

NEW CHAHAR DEMANDS

Tientsin, China, June 14 (Associated Press)—Japanese army officers placed a series of demands to-day before Chinese authorities of Chahar Province, asserting a recent incident at Changpei could be settled peacefully if the conditions were complied with.

Because a local Chinese magistrate questioned a party of Japanese officers motoring to Kalgan, the Japanese army demanded the Chahar government agree to:

"1. Immediate cessation of alleged anti-Japanese activities, or actions designed to slight the Japanese.

"2. Punishment of the persons responsible for detaining the Japanese travelers.

"3. An apology and a guarantee no further incidents of this kind will occur."

Replacements for Japanese garrisons in Tientsin and Peiping began arriving to-day from Chinwangtao.

A Japanese spokesman said further replacements from the same transport ship were distributed at Shanhaikwan and other railroad points between Tientsin and the Great Wall.

PREMIER IN ERROR

The Prime Minister had no right to reflect on Mr. Ralston, said Liberal Leader Mackenzie King, and was treating the matter in a wholly partisan way. He was entirely wrong about the Liberal caucuses.

"I am only saying 'If I am correctly informed,' as Mr. Ralston did," said Mr. Bennett.

Mr. King tried to interrupt, but Mr. Bennett insisted on holding the floor.

Liberal crtics had sought to destroy the reputation of John I. McFarland, head of the wheat pool selling agency, said Mr. Bennett. They had done so at a time when Mr. McFarland was "lying flat on his back" from an illness brought on by his heavy duties.

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 14.—While an easy passage through second reading seemed assured for the government's grain board bill when a vote is taken to-day, Liberal members served notice they would stage a fight before the special committee to which the bill will be referred.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, having the last word on the bill in its second reading stage to-day, will announce the make-up of the committee which will hear evidence and consider the details.

All of yesterday's session, except a brief interlude when the Ottawa-bound relief camp marchers reached the limelight, was devoted to the grain board measure.

TEMPORARY MEASURE

Liberal members, headed by Hon. J. L. Ralston, Shelburne-Yarmouth, N.S., announced they would vote for establishment of the board as a temporary expedient to meet an emergent situation. They declared their opposition to settling any permanent policy in relation to wheat marketing at such a late stage in the life of this Parliament and announced objections to the compulsory features of the bill, which would make the board the sole agency for handling wheat in interprovincial and export trade.

CANADA OUTDISTANCED

Col. Ralston said competing countries were outstripping Canada in the export wheat trade. This was because the government through John I. McFarland, head of the wheat selling agency, had tried to "make the customer pay the shot" and held the price of Canadian wheat above world levels. He said the government should have paid producers a fair price, taken a loss and sold the wheat for what it would bring.

The government had no mandate at the end of its term to take over the biggest industry in the country as a government monopoly.

The government had no right to ask Parliament to pass a law to whitewash its past mistakes and create a board which would be damned from the start of the "mess" the government was thrusting on it.

Mr. Ralston said he would consent to the creation of a wheat board, but only for the purpose of meeting an emergency and not as a permanent policy. He proposed, however, to take the view Mr. Bennett did not intend the board as a permanent creation, but as a continuation, temporarily, of the work which had been carried on by Mr. McFarland.

He thought, however, the compulsory feature of the bill should be removed.

Other Liberal speakers said the Canadian carryover had hung over the market, holding down prices.

The carryover at present was estimated by Premier Bennett on Wednesday as between 220,000,000 and 225,000,000 bushels.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Liberal, Melville, Sask., said every time the government had put its hand to the wheat market it had put its foot in it.

GARDINER'S VIEWS

Robert Gardiner, leader of the U.F.A. group, declared organized farmers of western Canada welcomed the bill. The days of free competition were over and monopolies had to be met with monopolies. The farmers, he said, had no fear of the compulsory features of the proposed board, which he thought might be strengthened.

A grain board, Mr. Gardiner said, would remove speculators from the wheat pits, who, prairie farmers believed, kept down prices.

STEWART SPEAKS

Hon. Charles Stewart, Liberal, Edmonton West, announcing he would support the bill, said the government now found it was in a mess through grinding down thre farmers and primary producers through high tariffs. It would have been better to have bonused the farmers and sell the wheat year by year.

If the government had established a grain board in 1931, when prices began to toboggan, there would not be a 200,000,000-bushel carryover to-day, said Mr. Stewart.

Fund Raised For Jailed Men

Twelve Imprisoned in Saskatchewan For Boarding Train Expected to Be Freed

Canadian Press

Saskatoon, June 14.—Three of the twenty-two men arrested here Wednesday by a combined force of Mounted and city police were liberated this morning by the same justice of the peace who at a hastily-convened night court sent twelve of the number to jail for varying terms, and fined six others.

The twenty-second man went free this morning when the police withdrew the charge against him. All were accused of fraudulently entering on a train at Chappell, a junction near Saskatoon, where the arrests took place.

C. I. McCool, K.C., retained for the three acquitted men by a group of prominent Saskatoon clergymen representing three denominations, argued the men believed they had a right to ride the freight trains, since 1,200 in the south had been permitted and aided to do similarly by the railway authorities. He further argued the men had got off at Chappell, and were not entering on the train as charged.

Local feeling about the halt called by the federal government and the arrests at Chappell, and the night court has been freely expressed. Prominent local businessmen were among those who contributed to a public subscription started by L. J. Walshe, J.P., to secure the liberty of the twelve men who, unable to pay fines, have been committed to jail. Mr. Walshe expected the total of $116.46, which according to the warden of the Prince Albert jail, would include railway fares back to Saskatoon, would be reached by this evening.

Naval Pact Plan Accepted

Germany Agrees on 35 Per Cent of British Fleet; Others' Replies Awaited

London, June 14.—High British sources to-day confirmed the fact of an agreement between Great Britain and Germany on the terms of a bilateral treaty restricting the German navy to 35 per cent of the under-age British naval strength.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler's assent to the terms was formally communicated this morning to Sir Samuel Hoare, British Foreign Secretary, at a conference with Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's armaments expert.

Some naval authorities asserted that under these terms the German navy would be actually only 17 per cent the size of the British navy at present in view of the great proportion of the British fleet composed of over-age vessels.

It was understood, however, the treaty contemplates replacement of Great Britain's over-age vessels within the limits prescribed by the Washington and London naval treaties.

An important aspect of the Anglo-German agreement, it was indicated, is that it will be operative between the two countries regardless of whether it is accepted by France and Italy. The United States and Japan raised no objections, but replies still are awaited from Paris and Rome.

If other powers should enter a naval building competition in excess of the limits contemplated under the present treaties, both Britain and Germany would simultaneously be released from their mutual agreement.

Although France and Italy are not bound by treaties except in the building of capital ships, it is understood a release clause in the Anglo-German agreement has been framed to protect Germany adequately in the event of a naval armaments race in smaller warships and submarines.

Alternative Vote In Saskatchewan Divides Commons

The bill adds eight new sections to the Elections Act, designed to set up in detail the proposed new method of counting the vote in Saskatchewan.

The bill also changes the hours of the advance polls, provides that when a date fixed for by-elections becomes subsequent to dissolution of Parliament it may be superseded by proclamation, and lays down new forms for the voters' oath.

By-elections to fill existing vacancies in the House of Commons have been fixed for August 19 next, although Parliament would dissolve by lapse of time on August 18. The proposed amendment would permit the chief electoral office to cancel the writ by proclamation in the Canada Gazette.

Another amendment would fix the hours of the advance polls from 2 to 10 o'clock in the afternoons of Thursday, Friday and Saturday immediately preceding polling day. The hours are now between 7 and 10 o'clock on the afternoons of the same days.

First amendment dealing with the alternative vote in Saskatchewan has to do with the candidate's deposit, which under the new arrangement would be returned to him if elected, or if he obtains a number of first preference votes at least equal to 50 per cent of the total number of first preference votes balloted. Otherwise it will be forfeited.

Under the preferential or alternative vote system the elector marks a figure "1" opposite the name of the candidate who is first choice on the ballot paper, the figure "2" for his second choice, if there are more than two candidates, and so on, expressing as many choices as there are candidates less one.

Directed Jury of Acquittal For Two and H. L. Stuart at Chicago

Associated Press

Chicago, June 14.—Federal Judge John C. Knox to-day directed the jury in the bankruptcy law violation of Samuel Insull, his son, Samuel Insull Jr., and Harold L. Stuart to return a verdict of acquittal for all three defendants.

Judge Knox declared:

"Under the proof submitted by the government the hypothesis of the defendant's innocence is as great as that of their guilt."

The elder Insull, who seemed a bit stunned by the suddenness of the decision, smiled happily and said: "All I can say is that I'm happy I'm through."

Prairie-Ottawa Impasse on Relief Trek

ORDERS OBEYED

Leaders of the trek would say nothing here to-day about federal orders they must return from here to the points from which they came. A man who gave orders—his orders were quickly obeyed—was asked if he were in charge?

"No one is in charge," he answered in a quiet voice. "There is a committee of seventy-seven me."

Asked what the "army" proposed to do about federal orders, he said the committee of seventy-seven would decide everything.

Few in the ranks would talk. One said: "If they try to stop us, and use force, we will retaliate." He was quickly told by his comrades to keep quiet.

NO DISORDER

With the strikers permitted to arrive and march to the stadium here, there was no disorder of any kind.

Leaders of the trek remained anonymous. "Please do not ask us anything," was the polite reply of a sharp featured, blue eyed man who undoubtedly was in command.

CONVENIENT LANDING

The long freight pulled into the railway yards of Moose Jaw, fifty-nine miles west of here, at 6 a.m. and stopped at a graveled stretch to let the 2,000 jobless jump down and avoid the mud and wet grass left in the wake of an all night storm.

An hour later and every man was stretched in the stadium, where thirty-five Regina jobless sang the Communist "Internationale" as a welcome hymn. It was greeted with loud cheers. Immediately after, the relief army broke ranks, dashed for wash basins and prepared for breakfast.

CARRY MASCOTS

Despite being damp, stiff and tired after their sleepless night, the trekking army of nondescripts showed exceptionally high humor. A dog and a cat carried by two of the men as mascots were guarded closely lest they become lost in the crowd. There was singing. One group sang the hymn, "Hold the Fort for We Are Coming."

Less than a dozen jumped off the rain-soaked box cars before the order was given by the commanders of the five divisions, and rebukes to them sharply came. Clambering down from the cars the men stood to attention and when the order to march was given they moved off with almost perfect discipline.

MANY BUNDLES

Moving along Tenth Avenue with warehouses in the background, the "army" gave the appearance of wartime troops leaving quarters to move into the front lines. A few men carried club bags. On their backs were bundles of all descriptions. Some carried blankets. Dozens wore goggles to protect their eyes.

Many are Canadian born, scores of them youths of sixteen to twenty years old who were with the trek at its start from Vancouver, or joined at one of the interior points. There was a strong representation of southern European people, but mostly they were Anglo-Saxon. A few were Indians. Two negroes were in one division. All the leaders appeared to be Anglo-Saxons.

SEEN BY CITIZENS

As they swung along over the asphalt to the stadium in the exhibition grounds, the dull grey mist of the morning began to lift and a few blocks across vacant lots early risers peeped out of windows or came on to verandas to watch the march. Inspector Toop stood at the entrance to the stadium. He was the only police officer there.

STRAW BEDS

Inside the stadium the marchers found the floor heavily bedded with straw. Immediately the first of the army entered there rose the mimic of cows in pasture. But no complaints were registered. The commander, his ragged coat still on and goggles slipped up on his cap, mounted a platform in the centre draped with red, white and blue bunting.

He announced no smoking would be permitted in the building, just as he sharply ordered all cigarettes and pipes put out as the men entered the building. "Soap, hot water and towels will be found in the corridors," he announced, "and then all will rest for a while. Breakfast will be served at 9 o'clock."

The move to the washrooms started without delay.

NEXT MOVE

The army will remain here during the week-end. It was stated no exact time had been set for them to resume their trek to Ottawa. They were in Moose Jaw twenty-four hours longer than they expected. It was believed they contemplated hopping freight trains eastward either Sunday night or Monday morning.

"DIABOLICAL CONSPIRACY"

In a telegram to the Government at Ottawa yesterday, Premier Gardiner stated the Saskatchewan Government would "co-operate in every way possible for the administration of justice," but would "not be a party to creating all the conditions necessary to a first-class riot and then quash it."

The Premier added:

"We consider the efforts being made from outside to create trouble in this province the most diabolical conspiracy ever perpetrated upon the people of any province or city."

EXCHANGE OF MESSAGES

The following telegrams were exchanged between the Saskatchewan Premier and Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, the first one a reply to Mr. Gardiner's first wire of protest:

"Your wire re marchers received. Understand both railways are forwarding requests to you for assistance to stop unlawful travel by trespassers on their lines eastward. Mounted police have been asked to assist in this work. In my opinion, continued unlawful use of the railways should be stopped and assume that you will co-operate to this end."

CARS PROVIDED

To this wire Mr. Gardiner replied: "Your wire re marchers: Our understanding these marchers not trespassers. Our information is cars have been provided them by railway. They have done nothing in this province warranting police action. This has nothing to do with usual unlawful travel, which we are prepared to co-operate with railways in stopping."

To this wire Mr. Bennett replied: "Re your wire: Apparently you are misinformed. I am advised railway solicitors have placed matter before your Attorney-General for the purpose of having the law regarding trespassers on railways and railway property enforced."

FULLY INFORMED

In answer to this telegram Mr. Gardiner replied:

"I have full information re movement of trains and facilities provided these men to reach Regina. I have also information re your meeting in Ottawa Tuesday. If there is any trouble while these outsiders are in Saskatchewan we will hold you responsible. We would ask you and all those concerned to provide the same facilities to take these men out of Saskatchewan as were provided to get them out of Calgary and into Saskatchewan."

Ottawa, June 14.—A half troop of the Lord Strathcona Horse was moved from Sarcee Camp to Calgary to protect Dominion property from damage by the "On to Ottawa" marchers, Minister of Defence Grote Stirling told the House of Commons to-day. He promised E. J. Garland, U.F.A., Bow River, to find out if the provincial government requested the officer commanding the Calgary district to move the soldiers.

Canadian Press Chooses Leaders

W. B. Preston, Brantford, President; F. J. Burd, Vancouver, 2nd Vice-president

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, June 14.—W. B. Preston of The Brantford Expositor was elected president of the Canadian Press to-day at the closing meeting of the board of directors. E. Norman Smith of The Ottawa Journal was re-elected honorary president.

H. P. Duchemin of The Sydney-Post Record was elected first vice-president and F. J. Burd of The Vancouver Province second vice-president. J. F. B. Livesay is general manager and secretary.

In accepting the presidency, Mr. Preston said he could not have been more happily honored than to be named presiding officer of the Canadian Press in the city where he was born and where his father, the late T. H. Preston, established his first newspaper, The Daily Sun, in 1880.

and £35,000 in underwriting and stockbrokers' fees.

"We were told," Dolan charged in reviewing the negotiations at London, "that we had no right as a corporation to give notice to redeem this loan and that we should go on paying 5½ per cent until the bank gave us permission to redeem the loan.

"The the Bank of England's legal right to interfere with us was challenged and as a result the bank had to admit it had no legal right to hold up municipal issues. That was the withdrawal of this fictitious embargo.

"The representatives of the corporation said they would go back to Glasgow and tell the people that, though they had made arrangements to redeem the loan and save themselves £75,000, the Bank of England was refusing permission. . . .

ADVICE IGNORED

"We were advised to consult certain firms to put the business through. We did not take that advice. We said we had no authority to hand over the business. We were told Tuesday that it was true the government and the Bank of England could not prevent us issuing stock, but no firm or underwriters would agree to issue stock unless we agreed to the terms laid down by the Bank of England. We were told that if we proceeded with the loan without underwriting there would be no quotation on the stock exchange."

INQUEST IS REQUESTED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 14.—An inquest on the death of Robert Kelly, fifty, found dead in a house on Dundas Street on Wednesday with a handkerchief and towel stuffed into his throat, may be held at the request of his friends, police stated to-day.

Although Dr. A. W. Hunter, coroner's physician, who performed an autopsy yesterday, believes the man died from asphyxiation caused by the gags, his friends are not satisfied with the theory that a bruise found on the back of his head was caused by a fall.

Inspector J. F. C. B. Vance, of the police science bureau, is making an examination of blood and stomach contents in an effort to ascertain more fully the cause of death.

St. Boniface, Man., June 14.—Believed to have been struck by a speeding hit-and-run motorist, the body of Mrs. Margaret Irwin, fifty-five, was discovered lying beside a road in suburban St. Boniface to-day.

Police, hurriedly summoned, at first believed the woman had been murdered, but discarded the theory when an umbrella she was believed to have been carrying was found nearby.

Limit Tourist Liquor Imports

U.S. Expected to Set One-quart Maximum Owing to Abuses of Allowance

Associated Press

Washington, June 14.—Representative Celler, New York, said to-day he had received assurances from the United States Treasury that it would be willing to have a one-quart limit placed on the amount of non-dutiable liquor a tourist might bring into the United States.

The present restriction limits to $100 the amount of property a tourist may purchase abroad and bring into the country duty free.

Abuses have developed on the Canadian border and at Caribbean ports, Celler said, and in some cases regular businesses have developed that permit entry of large quantities of liquor without the duty payment. Some individuals have each of their servants bring in $100 worth of liquor, and in other instances each member of the crew of a vessel does likewise, he asserted.

The Treasury Department, it was said, is preparing an appeal to the Customs Court of Appeals in New York to protect the internal revenue tax of $2 per gallon on all liquor imports in excess of one quart.

NEW FINANCE PLANS RUSHED

Ontario Premier Presses Forward Scheme to Sell Bonds to Citizens

Canadian Press

Toronto, June 14. — Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn continued to-day to extend his plans to raise money in the face of lack of support from financial interests, plans which will allow no constitutionality to halt their advance.

Coupled with the report upwards of fifty new branches of the Ontario Savings Bank would be opened, principally on strategic border points to interest United States investors, came the definite statement present laws would be amended, if necessary, to allow use of funds on deposit.

By to-morrow, when the new interest rate on deposits, raised from 2 to 2½ per cent, goes into effect, or in any event early next week, the government will begin the sale of small denomination bonds over the counters of the savings banks.

NO FARM LOANS

Yesterday evening the Premier explained deposits might be accepted to the extent of loans advanced to farmers by the Agricultural Development Board, which, according to official announcement yesterday, "deemed it advisable to discontinue making farm loans."

To date these loans total $53,000,000, whereas deposits total $21,000,000. In other words, $32,000,000 more in deposits can be accepted by the provincial banks.

On Wednesday, closing day for tenders for a $15,000,000 bond issue, the government found there were no bids from any financial concern in Ontario.

Kidnap Hunt Turns To Hills

U.S. Detectives Search For W. Mahan, Wanted in Weyerhaeuser Case

Associated Press

Butte, Mont., June 14. — Federal agents and police to-day scrutinized contents of a mountain cabin, hunting fingerprints which would determine if a mysterious recent occupant might have been William Mahan, Weyerhaeuser kidnap suspect.

Meanwhile officers searched along a portion of the continental divide area near the cabin, seeking further traces of the man who flew when the cabin's owner approached.

The owner, a rancher whose name was not disclosed, told officers he went to a cabin yesterday evening to clean it up, and as he entered he thought he saw a man leave by the rear door.

Cigarette butts, empty milk bottles, steel saw blades and scraps of recent newspapers, pointing to recent occupancy, caused him to notify authorities, he said.

A heavily armed group of federal and state authorities raided the cabin, three miles east of the city.

Meanwhile authorities asked W. H. Bartley, collector of customs at Great Falls, to use every resource at his command to guard the Canadian border on the chance that Mahan, a former resident of Saskatchewan, might attempt to return there.

Tacoma, Wash., June 14.—A principle of old English law—that a wife is the mere chattel of her husband—was cited by Tacoma attorneys to-day as likely to save Mrs. Harmon M. Waley from a life sentence for kidnapping young George Weyerhaeuser.

Mrs. Waley, nineteen, and her tall, broad-shouldered young husband, remained incommunicado in the Thurston County jail at Olympia to-day awaiting the calling of a federal grand jury to indict them for the $200,000 extortion "snatch."

Federal Loans To Prairies

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 14.—Loans of $500,000 to Saskatchewan and $218,000 to Manitoba for unemployment and drought relief, were announced today at the office of Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes.

DEATH CALLS F. LANDSBERG

cil of the Victoria Welfare Foundation which sponsored and supervised the Sunshine Inn, which has fed scores of thousands during the depression.

NOTHING SELFISH

Typical of the unselfish attitude with which he gave of his enthusiasm and abilities to the public welfare, were his instructions to newspaper men who came in contact with him during campaigns he directed for various community groups.

"Boost this thing all you can," he would say. "But leave Fred Landsberg's name out."

The funeral will take place on Monday at 3 o'clock from the B.C. Funeral Parlors. It will be conducted by the Oddfellows. Burial will be in the Jewish cemetery at the top of Fernwood Hill.

During his last conscious moments yesterday morning at the hospital, Mr. Landsberg deputized William H. Davis to carry on his various interests, including his business, the Empire Realty Company, which he had established in 1905. Mr. Davis has been with Mr. Landsberg in his business and other activities for twenty-eight years.

BORN IN UKRAINE

Although his life had been as crowded with experiences as a book of adventure, Mr. Landsberg remained right up until the last an alert, active man—his silver-grey hair the only indication of advancing years. He was the thirteenth of a family of seventeen born in Berditchef in the Ukraine.

RAN AWAY AT ELEVEN

At eleven years of age young Landsberg decided he would embark on a life of commerce, and as his father had other views, the lad ran away to Zhitomir. Education was the exception rather than the rule in those days, and the learning that the boy had acquired enabled him to find a place with a merchant there. He was engaged as messenger and salesman for fifteen roubles a year and keep. The pay was equivalent to about $1.25 per month. He stayed there for one year and three months before he moved to similar positions with other firms in different cities of the Ukraine. Within five years he was receiving 300 roubles a year, which was good pay in those days.

His business life brought him in contact with the House of Brodskey, whose business embraced manufacturing, wholesaling and retailing. Much of the business at that time in Russia was done through fairs.

There were no banks and banking facilities in those days. When he was fourteen years of age he was made the walking bank for his firm. Thirty to forty thousand roubles, the money taken at the fair by his firm, would be sewed into his vest to take back to the store.

SAW POGROMS

It was during this period of his life that Mr. Landsberg saw the gruesome massacres in which hundreds of his race were murdered by crazed religious fanatics. The massacres were at Kishenof, Bala and Odessa, and he was only twelve years of age when he witnessed the first grim spectacle. Led by a handful of frenzied agitators the anti-Semites raided the town of Kishenof, with death and destruction were their objectives. The boy saw men and women and children whom he knew fall victims to the fanatics. With another boy he fled to the attic and burrowed into the straw roof. In terror they remained there for three days, viewing the scene from a hole which they had made.

GETS TASTE OF WAR

When he was eighteen years of age Mr. Landsberg saw something of the Russian-Turkish War. He was through the Siege of Pleven.

As a twenty-year-old youth Mr. Landsberg landed in Canada at Quebec with forty cents in his purse.

All the English he knew was "All right," which he had learned from the sailors on the boat.

After working at various humble jobs he joined the construction gang building the Pembroke-Kingston railroad and after working until he had secured forty dollars, bought pocket handkerchiefs, razors and socks to se himself us as a peddler.

By the time he was twenty-four the young emigrant had become a fairly successful business man in Ontario, but the Pacific Coast called him, and he left Montreal on April 21, 1884, headed direct for Victoria.

He purchased a store selling a wide variety of articles and doing a big business with sealers, sailors, Indians and halfbreeds.

INDIAN TRADER; HIS MUSEUM

Within a few months he opened another branch in Victoria which was soon followed with another in Vancouver. Between 1885 and 1892 they accumulated a stock of Indian curios valued at $20,000.

It was in 1907 that he went into the real estate business and remained in it up to the time of his death. He has figured in many big sales. In one month, June, 1911, he sold $680,000 worth of real estate. Many of the most valuable blocks in the city have been sold by him and some of the clients who were on his books when he opened his office are still on his books to-day.

lowing repeal, police said, the liquor was smuggled back into Canada.

Count five of the original indictment, that of export liquor to foreign countries, was ruled out by Judge Desmarais during the hearing.

In a lengthy judgment delivered February 4, Judge Desmarais ruled exportation of liquor from Canada to a country where such importation was forbidden by law did not at any time constitute an indictable offence in Canada.

In throwing out the count, he dealt with the Export Act and its amendments. The Export Act from 1926 to 1930 did not contain prohibition to export into foreign countries intoxicating liquors, he said.

TWENTY BILLS ARE SIGNED

Batch of Measures Completed at Ottawa; Conventions Before Senate

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 14.—Royal assent to twenty bills was given in the Senate Chamber yesterday by Sir Lyman P. Duff, Deputy of the Governor-General.

Measures on which the stamp of approval was placed included the Government Public Works Construction Bill; amending legislation to the Special War Revenue, Excise and Customs and Tariff acts in conformance with budget changes; the remodeled Copyright Act; bill amending the Meat and Canned Foods Act to remove any doubt of the right of the Governor-in-Council to impose fees for inspection of canned fish and shellfish; One-twelfth Supply measure; bill amending the Interpretation Act and twelve measures granting divorce applications.

Notices of motion were given earlier by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, government leader in the Senate, of his intention to move next week, resolutions approving the international convention adopted at Geneva in 1931 for regulation of whaling and the Canada-United States convention of last April. Under the second convention $350,000 is to be paid to the United States government for damages in the state of Washington from fumes arising from operation of the smelter at Trail, B.C.

Third reading was given to the bill amending the Juvenile Delinquents Act, strengthening provisions against defence pleas in prosecution of adults for contributing to the delinquency of children. Its associate measure amending the Criminal Code also went through final reading. The two bills originated in the Upper House and will be sent to the Commons.

The Senate will reconvene next Tuesday.

No Decision On Columbia River

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 14.—The Dominion Government is aware of conditions on the Columbia River in British Columbia, but is not prepared to state whether the Oregon Boundary Treaty of 1846 has been or is likely to be violated, or what steps may be taken, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett told the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. He was answering a question asked by Thomas Reid, Liberal, New Westminster, who asked if the government was aware the treaty had been violated.

Mr. Reid asked if the government was aware a provision of the treaty had been violated that the Columbia River and its branches were to be kept open for navigation by all British subjects from the 49th parallel of north latitude to the Pacific Ocean.

CONVICTS ARE DEBATE TOPIC

Canadian Press

Montreal, June 14.—"When a convict is sent to a penitentiary, it means he has committed a serious enough crime to warrant his being put in a place where he is removed from society and rendered incapable of causing further harm," Brig.-Gen. D. M. Ormond, superintendent of penitentiaries for Canada, told delegates attending Canada's first penal congress here yesterday. The congress is being held in conjunction with the National Conference of Social Work.

Fifty per cent of inmates in Canadian penitentiaries were former offenders, he said, but only 7½ per cent of persons convicted of indictable offences were sent to penitentiaries in Canada.

Speaking from his experience on the Pacific Coast, Rev. J. Dinnage Hobden, secretary of the John Howard Society of British Columbia, urged there was a wide field between the incorrigible and the subnormal prisoner. In between these groups were to be found "some of the finest men I have met in my life."

THREE R.C.M.P. MEN PROMOTED

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 14.—The following promotions were announced yesterday by Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters.

Staff Sergeant Arthur G. Birch, stationed at Vancouver, to the rank of inspector as from May 1; Staff Sergeant William C. Brennan, at Cranbrook, B.C., to the rank of inspector as from June 15, and Sergeant Samuel Bullard, stationed at Halifax, has been promoted to the rank of sub-inspector as from June 1.

Washington Sees Shriners Parade

Associated Press

Washington, June 14.—A final blaze of pageantry yesterday evening brought some twenty thousand Shriners to the end of their stay in the oasis of the United States capital.

Like Shrove Tuesday for other carnival times, the final day and night of their 1935 convention, which lifted Leonard O. Stewart of Washington into the chair as imperial potentate for the next year, brought on parade the most glittering costumes and the most pretentious show of the week.

All of the business of the Shrine had been attended to. They had decided to go to Seattle next July for their week of carnival.

R. CURWEN DIES

Winnipeg, June 14 (Canadian Press)—Stricken by illness a few days ago, Richard Curwen, fifty-three, of Calgary, died in a hospital here yesterday. Related by marriage to Col. E. McCalmont, famous racehorse owner in England, Mr. Curwen was a familiar figure on western Canada race tracks where he had raced horses for many years.

Seattle Doctor Heads Association

Associated Press

Atlantic City, N.J., June 14.—Dr. J. Tate Mason of Seattle yesterday was elected president of the American Medical Association. He will take office at the 1936 convention.

A native of Virginia, Dr. Mason is now president of the Virginia Mason Hospital in Seattle. Previously he practiced as a physician and surgeon in Philadelphia and Franklin, Wash.

More For Beauty Than Education

Canada Spends Less on Inside of Head Than Outside, Says Weir

Bellingham, Wash., June 14.—In Canada the people spent $3,000,000 more in one year on the outside of their heads than on the inside, Hon. George M. Weir, Minister of Education and Provincial Secretary of British Columbia, told 182 graduates of the Bellingham Normal School at commencement exercises yesterday.

"The people of Canada spent $20,000,000 on the universities in one year and $23,000,000 in beauty shops and barber shops and on cosmetics," he declared.

"In 1932," he observed," $217,000,000 was spent for wines, liquors and cigars by the Canadian people and only $170,000,000 for education."

"Since repeal," he observed, "I think the United States is rapidly overtaking us."

Execution At Quebec To-day

R. Bilodeau Hanged For Killing Postal Officer; Five Others Slain

Canadian Press

Quebec, June 14.—Rosario Bilodeau, forty-year-old former Quebec postal carrier, was hanged to-day for the murder of Octave Fiset, superintendent of letter carriers, whom he shot down with a fusillade of revolver bullets in the general post office here last October 25.

Bilodeau was held criminally responsible by a coroner's jury for the death of Fiset and five of his own close relatives, whom he killed in a nearby wood shortly before entering the post office, and fatally wounding the postal superintendent. He was only tried on the one charge, however.

The other victims were: Miss Aurelie Bilodeau, sixty-two, and Miss Leonida Bilodeau, sixty, his sisters; Yvette Gauvin, twenty-one, his niece, and Gaston Gauvin, twenty, and Gernard Gauvin, nineteen, nephews.

Weyerhaeusers To Sell Home

Country Place of Tacoma Family Whose Boy Was Kidnapped Is Put Up

Associated Press

Tacoma, Wash., June 14.—Haddaway Hall, beautiful English country style home of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Philip Weyerhaeuser Sr., is to sold, according to an announcement.

Their son, J. P. Weyerhaeuser, recently had to raise $200,000 to ransome his son George from kidnappers.

The Meyerhaeuser home, costing more than $250,000, was built in 1923 and occupied by its owners on Christmas of that year.

Since the death of the elder Weyerhaeuser last month, the house has been untenanted except for caretakers. Mrs. Meyerhaeuser Sr. died in 1933. Heirs of the estate are reported to feel they are unable to occupy and maintain it.

The heavy demand made on J. P. Weyerhaeuser Jr. by the kidnappers late last month sorely taxed his ability to raise that amount of cash, it was stated at that time.

HOUSE RAZED, BUT TAX TO BE PAID

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 14.—S. Beaumont of Vancouver finds he must pay taxes on a non-existent building. Recently his house on Heather Street was torn down, but he must pay $60 taxes for 1935.

He complained, but was advised by the city law department the building had been razed after the 1935 assessment roll was closed and that, under the city charter, the roll can not be reopened.

A case similar to this was brought before the courts in Nova Scotia and the proprietor of a building destroyed by fire was forced to pay the taxes for the ensuing year.

It is said the rule works both ways and that a man building a house after the yearly assessment roll has been closed need not pay taxes on the building until the following year.

THRONE MOVE IN HUNGARY

Canadian Press from Havas

Budapest, June 14.—Premier Julius Goemboes yesterday told Parliament he "desired to see a national king seated on the throne of Hungary."

The name of Archduke Otto of Hapsburg, aspirant to the Hungarian throne, was mentioned unofficially as the subject of the Premier's reference as deputies conferred excitedly over Goemboes's unexpected statement.

Advertising Rates Levelled

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, June 14.—The standardization of commission and cash discount on national advertising was finally disposed of yesterday by the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association at its annual meeting here. The association reaffirmed the decision of its October meeting, effective next January 1, that commission and cash discount be standardized at 15 per cent and 2 per cent respectively.

In October last the directors of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association recommended the standardization of commission and cash discount and, with the concurrence of all members concerned, notified the agencies that the standardization would be effective as at January 1, 1936. Resistance was set up to this by some agencies and by some advertisers.

At their own request the following persons appeared before the publishers at the general meeting on Tuesday: Glen Bannerman, representing the Association of Canadian Advertisers; J. J. Gibbons, Adam Smith, H. R. Cockfield, C. T. Pearce and J. E. McConnell, as principals of various Canadian advertising agencies. All made representations as to why they considered the standardization decision should be rescinded or delayed.

LIQUOR EXPORTS

Ottawa, June 14 (Canadian Press)—While the export of domestic ale declined from 16,913 proof gallons to 4,033 during May, compared with the same month in 1934, exports of Canadian whisky rose from 129,349 to 184,340 proof gallons, according to figures issued yesterday by Hon. R. C. Matthews, Minister of National Revenue.

FORD V·8 SEDAN DELIVERY

PLENTY OF LOAD SPACE—The load space of the Sedan Delivery measures 65" long, 44" high and 46¾" wide. This is an unusually large amount of room for units of this type. The interior is completely insulated.

V-8 performance, economy and dependability make it the outstanding unit for all fast delivery service. Ask your Ford dealer for an "on-the-job" test.

THE handsome Ford V-8 Sedan Delivery is a most profitable investment. Its long, sweeping, passenger-car body lines create prestige and invite the custom of discerning persons.

It speeds up deliveries by handling generous loads at passenger-car speed. And Ford V-8 economy of fuel and oil, Ford V-8 performance and dependability, and the unusually low cost of repairs and replacements . . . all help to keep the cost per mile at a satisfactory low. Many basic improvements are included in the Ford V-8 Sedan Delivery. Directed-flow crankcase ventilation and heavy-duty copper-lead connecting-rod bearings have been added to the Ford V-8 engine. Load distribution has been improved. Control is easier because of quicker stopping brakes and a new lower pedal pressure clutch.

Ask your Ford dealer for an "on-the-job" test with your own loads. See the Ford V-8 Light Delivery and De Luxe Panel Delivery commercial units.

MAKING A MESS OF THINGS

TWO THOUSAND RELIEF CAMP STRIKers are in Regina to-day debating whether or not they will challenge the orders given to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to prevent them from proceeding to Ottawa. The idle "army" has appointed a committee of seventy-seven men who will "decide everything."

A dispatch from the Saskatchewan capital informs us that the men left a long freight train, marched to the stadium of the exhibition grounds, and partook of breakfast paid for by the Saskatchewan government.

No "overt act" has marred the trek so far. Few in the ranks would talk, but one said: "If they try to stop us, and use force, we will retaliate." He was quickly told by his comrades to keep quiet. There is in this incident fairly obvious proof that discipline is being maintained.

Supposing, however, the committee of seventy-seven decides that the Dominion government, having raised no objections to the "army" leaving Vancouver, when police instructions could have prevented unlawful use of the railways, has no right to halt the strikers at Regina—the capital of a 100 per cent Liberal province—what then? It will not be unnatural if they argue that a police matter has been converted into a political issue.

Should such a contention be advanced, the Bennett government will have only itself to blame. But the question of the Bennett government having only itself to blame, is an insignificant affair.

Supposing, again, a few of the strikers—assuming the committee of seventy-seven advises the advance of the caravan on Ottawa—should get a little bit too hot under the collar, who knows how long it might be before firearms would be brought into play?

Policemen have to do their duty. They are just as human as the men who, less fortunate, are trying to get to Ottawa to tell the government they are fed up with conditions.

But the situation which has been created by official stupidity, and complete disregard for a state of affairs which may at any time assume very serious proportions, might have been avoided by statesmanlike vision—a commodity in which Mr. Bennett and his colleagues appear to be sadly lacking.

TELLING THE EAST

IN A FEW DAYS THE BRITISH COlumbia government will broadcast through the press of eastern Canada an advertisement setting out the position and the disabilities of this province in the constitutional and economic structure of Confederation. We do not know what the government intends to say, or how it will affect the people of the east, but the need of enlightenment down there is obvious. Probably it will take some time, considerable vigor and not a little patience to tell our story to our partners in Confederation, but at least we are making a start.

The balance of trade between us and the east is entirely in the east's favor. The balance of mutual understanding is just as strongly in ours. Most British Columbians came themselves from the east or their parents did. They have memories of Ontario that go back often to days before Confederation, and family associations that date from United Empire Loyalist times. But the eastern Canadians of to-day who have crossed the prairies is relatively small. To the average easterners the country west of the Rockies is far less familiar than the states to the south of them.

The resulting ignorance of our conditions and problems here is almost beyond belief. The British Columbian visiting Toronto or Montreal is invariably astounded by it. As Premier Pattullo has frequently said, the attitude of the larger interests in the east seems to be that British Columbia is a mendicant asking for a hand-out. It is time the east understood that the position is quite the opposite. The giving has been largely on our part. The east has always stood at the receiving end.

By one of the ironies of Canada's lop-sided trading policy, our position in relation to the east gets worse as general conditions get better. For example, according to figures just issued by the B.C. Economic Council, we bought from eastern Canada in the four years, 1930-1933 inclusive, goods to the value of $285,823,682 and sold only $66,364,759 worth—or a balance against this province of $219,458,928! As prosperity returns, of course, the margin against us—which has been gradually dropping during the four years in question—will rise again unless the existing tariff structure undergoes a substantial modification.

It will be understood that to bridge the wide gap between our sales to eastern Canada and our purchases from eastern Canada we must sell enormous quantities of our own goods in world markets at low prices. But even this has been insufficient to counterbalance our losses in the markets of Canada. We have constantly incurred a net unfavorable balance on our total trade—1930-1933 we had a debit balance on our combined external and internal trade of $100,229,557—and this we have had to make up by borrowing. That means that we have had to borrow money in the east to buy back the east's goods at high prices.

If the east is wise it will listen to the reasonable complaints of a good customer.

THE STRIDENT VOICES

MR. H. G. WELLS, THAT RESTLESS and peripatetic prophet of a New Jerusalem, rather vague in outline, has lately been surveying the American scene and writing about it in Collier's. His observations, as always, are interesting, penetrating and leave one still in doubt.

Mr. Wells evidently is much in doubt himself and his final conclusion seems to be that the United States is going to work out of its troubles or it is not. It is an opinion hard to quarrel with, and takes on almost the light of a great revelation in the skilful hands of Mr. Wells, but it does not exactly settle your mind. It does not help you to decide whether to buy one of these seductive new streamlined models or to put your money into the savings bank.

In the midst of this rather comfortless generality, Mr. Wells has scattered a number of valuable thoughts, hardly new, but presented in new and refreshing form. One of these is his warning that the United States may fall into the hands of the Longs and the Coughlans and the Townsends—the men with strident voices, the quacks innumerable of every sort, simply because the men who could give it good advice are too busy with their own affairs.

If the strident voices should ultimately prevail, and if the United States should be plunged into ruinous national quackery, the men who should be advising the country and giving it good government now will have themselves to blame, says Mr. Wells. It is the unwillingness of the more intelligent to take any part in practical politics, an inevitable part of democracy, that makes Mr. Wells alarmed and more than usually skeptical of the future.

However his larger, world-shaking predictions turn out, Mr. Wells is undoubtedly right about this. Democracy, not only in the United States but here and everywhere, must recruit its brains or it will perish. It can not be saved by the strident voices.

HOLLYWOOD LEARNS A LESSON

WHEN HOLLYWOOD WAS COMpelled last year, by organized public protest, to abandon its long era of salaciousness, the producers cried out that this censorship would cramp their art and make it childish. Instead, after a brief period of floundering, Hollywood has gone further afield, discovered a new wealth of ideas and compelled the admiration of all thinking people. Beside the pictures they are turning out now, the suggestive films produced in the decade of indecency, seem pallid, silly and a little melancholy.

Indecency used to be mistaken for maturity. In the light of the new pictures it is clear that the movies only achieved maturity when they were forced to be decent. The last year has witnessed a renaissance of real art in Hollywood which has astounded the critics and forced the most cynical of them to take the films seriously. "David Copperfield" showed that movies could take a huge masterpiece, compress it into two hours on the screen and preserve the inward spirit of it as well as exact outward appearance—a "David Copperfield" which took Dickens to millions who had never read a line of his writing. In "Les Miserables" the critics seem to agree that the screen has established itself as one of man's major arts, a medium in which Victor Hugo would have been glad to work, if he had possessed it.

Lately they have been venturing into controversial fields where formerly they feared to tread. Some of the new pictures boldly explore social problems, vital current facts on which men's thoughts are divided, living subjects refreshing to the mind after the gilded inconsequence and silly sophistication which were once thought to be the only safe thing at the box office. The remarkable success of such pictures of real life seems to indicate that Hollywood had underestimated the intelligence and the mental age of the public. It has evidently revised its estimate upward, and found that the public was waiting for something better.

FRED LANDSBERG

UNTIL A VERY SHORT TIME AGO there was to be seen on the streets of downtown Victoria, a short, wiry little man, serious of demeanor, perhaps, but one whom everybody knew and for whom everybody had the utmost respect and admiration. He was Fred Landsberg, a sterling citizen of his adopted country, who closed a life of usefulness and good works this morning after a brief illness. His passing to the Great Beyond will cause hundreds of poor and aged people of this capital city of British Columbia to recall the unstinting humanitarian service he had rendered hereabouts for many years.

Fred Landsberg was a native of Poland. His early years were unhappy ones. It is related that during the Polish pogroms it was his tragic lot to witness the massacre of several of his close kith and kin. He migrated to Canada long before many who have worked with him were born, but many who had thoroughly come to understand—to know him for a good man in every sense of the term—and appreciate his fine qualities of heart and mind.

Fifty years ago, he came to Victoria, unembittered by his early experiences, and in possession of a serene outlook upon life, a solicitude for the welfare of others, and a spirit of unselfishness which endeared him to all with whom he came in contact.

It is not necessary here to detail the activities of Mr. Landsberg. Where a good cause was to be served, he gave most liberally of his time and talents. During the war, in the immediate post-war years, through the latter trying days of the economic recession, he played the part of the sterling citizen. Thus he passes on with a record for humanitarian service which the younger generation may look up to as a model for emulation.

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

THE LONELY BIRCH TREE

Upon a cliff beside the lake
Alone a crippled birch tree stands,
I think its eager roots much ache
For soothing soil and gentle sands.
Yet starved and thirsty and denied
The simplest needs a tree requires,
It wears its tattered robe with pride
And many a passer-by inspires.

There is a grove not far away
Where luckier silver birches grow.
Safe-sheltered and full-fed are they,
Like certain fat rich men I know.
And yet somehow that twisted tree,
Which never knows relief from pain
And has its roots in agony,
Still bravely battles wind and rain.

I know some human lives like that,
Misplaced and lonely, starved and cold,
Who see their fellows rich and fat
Yet bravely to God's purpose hold,
Upon the wind-blown cliffs they stay.
Prisoned by circumstance's clutch,
Glad for the joys that come their way,
Shaming us all who ask so much.

Loose Ends

Ep is in trouble now, like all the Steins—Mr. Ickes says something—A poor cop is never promoted—And we lose the innocence of the old pie days.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

EP, EIN, GERT

YOU CAN always count on one of the Steins being in the news. If it isn't Epstein, the sculptor, it's Einstein, the scientist, or Gertrude Stein, the poet; and the products of all of them are equally meaningless to a public which acclaims them wildly. No one understands Gert's poetry, probably not even Gertrude herself. No one understands Ein's theory of relativity and field equations and probably no one really believes them. And Ep's statues only give the public the blind shudders.

It is Ep who is in the news at the moment. He has resigned from the Royal Academy because that body hasn't shown proper respect for his monsters. The Vancouver Sun has taken up the case with a smashing attack on Ep and his "hideous lumps of metal." But it thinks that perhaps he has seen the light at last, that he is tired of deluding the public with his "lumpish gargoyles" and, pricked by his conscience after all these years of deception, he has decided to make a clean breast of it, confess that he never really knew how to make a statue and retire.

This is a shallow view of a great subject. You may not like the huge, bulbous figures carved by Mr. Epstein. You may not admire his women, all of whom suffer from acute elephantiasis, swollen joints and fallen arches. You may not think a woman is beautiful when, in real life, she would weigh two tons. But did it ever occur to you that you may be wrong?

Did you ever think that perhaps your notions of beauty have been distorted by generations of habit, by looking for so long on the different sort of women who inhabit our cities. Ep thinks the two-ton girls are adorable. To him the hundred-pound ones in the movies are probably hideous. Who is to prove that he is wrong? He may be as right as Ein, but when you carry these issues to their final proportions, whether in sculpture or astronomy, no one can be sure of anything.

We do know, however, that our grandfathers worshipped females who verged on two tons. If their taste had been allowed to develop, if someone hadn't discovered the diet fad, the ideal feminine beauty would shortly have become just about what Ep has tried to make it. His trouble was that the tendency of the times suddenly turned against him. If this sudden change hadn't occurred, it is quite probable that his two-ton flappers would have excited the modern youth to rare heights of romantic emotion.

And it may yet occur. The fashion may turn against the hundred-pounders, just as it turned fifty years ago against the two-hundred-pounders. Your modern flappers may look as absurd to your grandson as the broad-beamed nudes of the old Dutch school of painting appear to us. By the time Ein's theories are clear to every schoolboy and Gert's poetry is translated into English, Ep's two-ton monsters may be the ideal woman. Your grandson may marry one.

SOUND IDEA

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR ICKES, of the United States, one of the most enlightened statesmen of the time, has lately said this: "If I were not satisfied that our American political institutions are the most enlightened and freest in the world, I would join the ranks of those who would forbid the hateful words Fascism and Communism even to be spoken in a whisper in our schools."

We need a few statesmen in Canada who will take Mr. Ickes's view here. The idea that we can prevent communism and fascism or any other system of government in the young by forbidding the mention of it is very childish. The forbidden word is ever the one which the child remembers, as you may discover by observing the large vocabulary of profanity possessed by all small boys. If we do not allow the young, when they have reached a reasonable age, certainly in their college years, to discuss communism, fascism and other systems, and compare them with ours, we shall merely convince them that we are afraid of comparison and have something to hide.

POOR COP

THE FATE of some of the tragic minor figures in the movies always affects me deeply. Some time ago in this place I pointed to the unfortunate destiny of a fellow in Hollywood who was always a butler in the pictures. No matter what the picture might be, no matter how great his talents—and he was a much better actor than most of the stars—the poor fellow could never rise above butlery.

A few months after I had written that, I was rejoiced to see him risen to a British field marshal overnight, and from then on his career has been meteoric. I have always felt that I started him up the ladder from the pantry with my earnest appeal to the producers of Hollywood.

I now make the same appeal for another unfortunate victim of the economic system who is never anything but a policeman. He has been a policeman in every crime ever committed in Hollywood, and they have been numerous. I think he became a detective once, but briefly. He was soon demoted to the status of cop. It seems to me that after ten years of the most faithful service he ought to be given some encouragement. I am hopeful that after this has been printed he may yet be promoted to sergeant.

PIES

THE OTHER NIGHT this paper printed an editorial lament on the decline of the custard pie in Hollywood. It quoted expert and veteran pie-throwers down there as saying that the old craft had all but died out and the present generation of actors actually quailed before pies instead of taking them, like the old-timers, on the chin.

It is tragic, indeed, to think that one more authentic native art of America is perishing. And there is a kind of sweet nostalgia about the custard pie, which must be one of the most vivid memories of every adult person's youth. Indeed, there is only one thing more tragic than the disappearance of the custard pie and the growing debility of a race of movie actors who can't take it on the chin. That is the present public's utter lack of interest in this decline.

It makes you realize how time passes, how age creeps on, how the divine fire goes out of your life when you look back and remember that not so long ago, in our age of innocency, we could laugh all evening at an endless procession of custard pies dripping down an endless procession of faces. To obtain the same result nowadays a movie producer must think up a procession of rowdy stories, with frequent mention of unmentionable subjects, to keep us amused. Before we became sophisticated, along in the middle nineteen-twenties, the pies were filled with magic. Now they are only filled with custard. The custard pie age was really far funnier than the Mae West age, but we have lost our sense of humor with our innocence.

THE BIG SIX

While Joe Medwick and Wally Moses registered slight improvements in their batting averages in the Big Six yesterday, Arky Vaughan, the leader, went back to his normal .400 pace with a seven-point loss. Vaughan failed to get a hit in three times up. Pepper Martin and Jimmie Foxx also went hitless for losses of eight and six points respectively, while Bob Johnson connected only once in three attempts. Medwick and Moses, third-place rivals, gained two points each, the former hitting two out of four and the latter two out of five.

WARNING!

Henceforth it positively will not print communications which exceed that length.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our patient readers as for that of The Times.

CAUTION!

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the writers of articles sent for publication in the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this newspaper, whether they are published or not, unless they have been specially solicited.

ONTARIO CREDIT

To the Editor:—I notice in your yesterday's issue that "no bids made for $15,000,000 (Ontario) bond issue when time for tenders expires."

You and your readers may recollect that when Mr. Hepburn threatened repudiation of power contracts, he, Mr. Hepburn, said that Ontario's credit was not affected "one iota."

I wrote him at the time and suggested that he test his idea by an issue of bonds. He has done so, and I hope he now realizes that it is impossible for anyone who threatens repudiation of old debts to incur new ones.

Mr. Hepburn blames the investment dealers for the utter failure of his issue, but I would suggest to him that no sane business man would buy bonds of any government which has threatened repudiation of its debts and contracts.

BRITISH-ISRAEL; TRUTH OR ERROR?

To the Editor:—That the great difference between the two sides in the controversy regarding the Throne of David lies not so much in the letters themselves as in the widely different mental attitudes of the two parties, is the conclusion forced upon all thinking people.

It is eternally true that "a tree is known by its fruits," and it is also true that most of the letters opposing the British-Israel position have been well filled with "thorns" and "thistles."

My impression is that both sides agree that Jesus Christ was born of a virgin, and is the Son of God, as proclaimed by such as the prophet Isaiah and Luke the physician. Granting that premise, they must necessarily believe that He spoke the truth, even when He stated that all prophecy must be fulfilled to the very letter.

Consequently, when Isaiah, Ezekiel, Daniel, Obadiah, etc. all agree in foretelling that Jerusalem was to be delivered from Gentile domination by Jehovah, working through His nation Israel, British-Israelites expect that very thing to take place. But since the British forces, soldiers of His Majesty King George V, under General Allenby, brought about the fulfilment of that prophecy, and upon the very date previously arrived at by such students of prophecy as the late Gratton Guinness, what is the logical conclusion? Do our opponents believe that neither the prophets or the Lord knew anything about it, or do they think God's plans miscarried?

One might almost imagine one of them tapping the Angel Gabriel upon the shoulder and remonstrating with him for saying to Mary, the prospective mother of the Lord: "The Lord God shall give unto Him (Jesus) the throne of His father David;" but unless that throne is still in existence, as the prophets said it should be, how can even God give it to any one?

Truly spoke the prophet of these shepherds of Israel: "Eyes have they, but they see not; ears have they, but they hear not."

'SOCIAL JUSTICE'

To the Editor:—The general public is reading with interest and amusement the frantic assertions of the Women's League for Social Justic that they are a non-political body. They are, however, protesting the present government's policy and laying down Socialistic principles. And I am told on good authority that they have a strong right and left wing, and that the left will probably before long force the right wing out. That is why Socialism has always failed, because Socialists cannot agree amongst themselves.

In the Liberal Women's Forum we are a united body of forward-looking women and discuss social injustices from every angle, not simply from the viewpoint of the working class or relief recipient. How many Socialists can see the viewpoint of the business class? I am not for a moment belittling the good work Mrs. Lewis has done for the unemployed, both in Saanich and in connection with the camps, in arousing the public conscience, but she has an unhappy habit of leading forlorn hopes, and one would have thought her exper-

Saanich Cuts Water Revenue

Only Persons Using Service on New West Road Main Will Pay For It

Drastic reductions in Saanich water revenues and beneficial changes for domestic consumers were effected by the Saanich Council yesterday evening, when amendments to the by-law governing rates for consumption off the new West Road main were approved.

The council decided that only persons who take advantage of the new line will be charged frontage rates for consumption. Previously all persons were assessed for the service whether they used it or not, a ruling which brought protests from those affected.

The change marked a victory for rural councillors, who advocated lower rates when the schedule was originally set. Installation of the main was carried out under contract for the federal government, and the entire cost was met through the contract.

ALL PROPERTY ASSESSED

At the meeting when the rates for consumers were originally set, it was decided that all properties would be assessed for the service at a rate of five cents per foot frontage. Full frontages, however, were not the basis for the bills, the council revising these and in some cases effecting reductions of more than two-thirds.

Nevertheless, there were still various properties which remained with large frontages, which were not taking advantage of the service, yet were still being charged for it. In one instance a resident reported his water bill was $17 over the usual amount, and he was not connected to the main.

It was reported to the council yesterday evening that only one connection had been made to the main, which was installed by the Dominion government to provide water service for fire protection on Little Saanich Mountain, where the Dominion Observatory is located.

The by-law which followed installation of the main set the rate at five cents a foot for a period of four years, with a reduction after that period to three cents.

The resolution setting the new arrangement was moved by Councillor H. D. Coton, Ward Five, where the main is located, and seconded by Councillor A. G. Lambrick.

SPLIT VOTE DECIDES

It passed on a split vote, Councillors L. C. Hagan and Fred Borden adding their support to the original moves and Councillors E. C. Warren, G. S. Eden and W. R. Woods voting against.

Councillor E. C. Warren favored no change in the by-law.

At the reeve's suggestion an alternative proposal was put before the council. This was to charge eight cents a foot for the first year on the correct frontage of the property; six cents the next year on the adjusted frontage; five cents a foot for the next four years on the correct frontage; and then reduce it to three cents on the correct frontage.

When the matter was finally settled, however, the reeve stated he felt the council had done the right thing.

FRUIT CROP IN CALIFORNIA OFF

Pests and Bad Weather Blamed For Fall in Predicted Production

Associated Press

Washington, June 14. — Pests and bad weather are reported by the Agricultural Department as responsible for a short fruit crop in California this year.

In its monthly forecast, the department's crop reporting board said deciduous fruit crops on the West Coast would be well below average, but that there would be a nearly average crop of oranges. Citrus prospects in Arizona were reported especially good.

The report said the California pear crop, which usually represents more than one-third of the total pear production, suffered severe losses from scab infestation and a heavy fruit drop caused primarily by the heavy spring rains. Orchards were said to have been too wet during May to permit the operation of spray machines, and the result would be scabby and mis-shapen fruit.

Good prospects were reported for the Washington and Oregon pear crop.

The apple prospects in the Hood River and Willamette valleys in Oregon were reported as "spotted," due to many trees that bear alternate years. In Washington the report said, there was little commercial loss from late frosts and good crop prospects are reported from the Wenatchee, Okanagan and Yakima districts.

LANGFORD

During the summer months the evening service in St. Matthew's Church will be at 7.30 o'clock instead of 7 o'clock. Next Sunday evening Rev. P. C. Hayman will preach and conduct the service.

Mrs. D. Clarke and her daughter Mickey are staying at their summer home, "The Terraces," Langford Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zimmerman, who have been spending some time at Langford Lake, have left this week for Lake Louise and Banff, Alberta.

At the weekly meeting of the First Langford Scout Troop the following boys obtained their third-year stars: Hamish Bullen, Oswald Hincks, David McLean, John Bullen and Claude Hincks. Taro Yoneda obtained the first-year star. H. O. Hincks obtained the gardener's badge.

George Carlow and Geoffrey Bullen of the wolf cub pack have obtained the third-year star, and Cub Carlow was presented with the athlete's badge. Meetings of the scouts and pack will be held Friday as usual.

Mrs. P. N. Welch, Goldstream Road, announces that all essays by scouts and wolf cubs of the First Langford Troop on the subject of "The Chief Scout's Rally," should be sent to her by the end of this month.

Port Alberni

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Shannon, of Rockland Avenue, Victoria, returned home on Tuesday after spending a few days here as the guests of Rev. T. S. Glassford and his niece, Miss Helen Arbuthnot.

Mrs. O. V. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Currie, is a visitor here from Quatsino.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Waydlin of Surrey, England, have arrived to spend a holiday in the district, and with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Parsons of Edmonton, and small daughter, Janet, are occupying the residence of Mrs. A. F. Muller during her absence at Colwood.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Blackman have as guests Mrs. Shirley Smith of Victoria and her niece, Miss Grace Harding of Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Mair have as guest Mr. Wilson Billingsley of 51 Marlborough Avenue, Victoria.

Mr. Glen Stevenson has returned from a short holiday at Comox.

Miss Catherine Cotton of Vancouver is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Brown at Great Central.

Mr. Jack Bigmore, of the staff of the Royal Bank of Canada, Terrace, is spending a vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bigmore, Henley House, River Road.

Miss Bernice Manning was hostess at the tea hour on Tuesday, when the guests included Miss Marjorie Brown, Miss Dorothy Nichol, Miss Ada Bailey, Miss Lilan Smith, Miss Florence Noble, Miss Alberta Hobson, Miss Christine Sutherland.

Scarlet Fever Spread Is Mild

Cumberland Had Eight New Cases Last Week; Schools Were Closed For Period

Cumberland, June 14.—The Cumberland City Council met Monday evening with Mayor Maxwell presiding.

Alderman D. Bannerman, for the board of health, reported eight cases of scarlet fever, one an adult, since the last meeting, but no new cases had been reported during the last four days. It was considered advisable to close the school last week, but classes were resumed on Monday. The outbreak is very mild.

Alderman Parnham, for the fire wardens, reported three calls for the fire department since the last meeting, two to Chinatown and one to No. 5 Japtown.

The city clerk reported on the sale of the Kilpatrick property. The original bidder had failed to complete the deal, and therefore another offer had been accepted at the same figure. This action was endorsed.

ROYAL OAK

The First Royal Oak Girl Guides, under the direction of Miss Helen Arnott, and the Brownie Pack, with Miss Phyllis Towler in charge, met in the Royal Oak Community Hall, on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Swayne of Victoria demonstrated articles made from sackcloth. Mrs. T. Arnott and Mrs. Victor Robinson were among the guests present. Refreshments were served by the guides.

A meeting of the Royal Oak branch of the British Israel Federation was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Woods, Wilkinson Road, on Wednesday evening. W. H. Blackaller was the speaker.

Mrs. Walter Allison, East Saanich Road, returned home on Tuesday from Patricia Bay, where she spent a week's holiday with Mrs. J. Edge.

STRAWBERRY VALE

Ladies connected with the "Kingdom of God" movement prayer circle of the Wilkinson Road United Church were entertained at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edge, Patricia Bay, on Tuesday. The morning meeting was conducted by Mrs. William Allan and during the afternoon and evening a picnic was enjoyed. Those present included Mesdames William Allan, W. J. Jewell, W. Allison, J. Edge, E. Braithwaite, A. F. Marconi, A. Forest, Thom, W. T. Burow and S. Joner.

Mrs. J. Edge returned to her home on Carey Road, Tuesday evening after a vacation at her Patricia Bay summer home.

Duncan Festival Committee Quits

Members Charge Lack of Co-operation and Abandon Plans

Duncan, June 14.—At a meeting in Duncan Tuesday evening, the Sweet Pea Festival committee resigned. The reasons for this action were given as lack of co-operation. The two main sources of revenue at the festival were to have been a race meet and a dance, and it was felt that as a race meet and a dance were being planned by another organization so soon before the festival, it would considerably affect the receipts. The committee did not feel justified in incurring expense which might not be covered. Four of the committee were against abandonment of the scheme, and nine were in favor.

HOW TO MAKE ICED TEA

Infuse six heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh boiling water. After six minutes strain liquid into two-quart container. While hot, add 1½ cups of granulated sugar and the juice of 2 lemons. Stir well until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding the cold water; otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chipped ice.

CHAPTER XLIII

"Three doctors!" snorted Miss Janet, albeit very softly as Charmian closed the bedroom door gently behind them. "Three! Why not three dozen or three hundred?"

"Well, you heard them, Janet—what do you thing of him this morning?"

"I'm thinkin' o' yon nurse," quoth Miss Janet, scowling back at the closed door.

"Martha Betts? But, my dear, she is such a gentle, kindly soul as you know quite well, Janet."

"Ay, she mebbe a' that but I'm tellin' ye the wommans a gowk. Suppose Valentine has an interval of consciousness, d'ye think she'll ha'e the sense to act at once and send for us in time to ask him the dreadful question we must?"

"Oh, Janet . . . the poor boy lies on the very threshold of death . . . how can we ask such question?"

"Charmian Sofia, we must! If you won't, I will—for the sake o' Peter and Richard. We know, you and I, how fiercely Valentine threatened his father's life, there was death in his look, his voice and very gesture, he was mere rampant murder!"

"And now I . . . fear he is dying, Janet. Yes, my dear, in spite of all the doctors can say or do."

"The more reason to ken the truth frae him then . . . Valentine good as told us he would kill his father, it was long ago, but I could speak ye the verra worruds he used."

"Then don't—don't!"

"But, guid heavens, Charmian, in your heart you must be vera sure 'twas son killed wicked father as he vowed."

"But I'm not sure, Janet, I'm not—no, no, I wish I were. I have gone over it all in my mind, oh many times . . . recalled his looks and dreadful words and, God forgive me—even tried to believe his indeed the guilty hand, yet . . . when I remember the dear, shy, gentle boy he was, and as you must remember also, Janet—so very like his little, tender, helpless mother . . . when I look upon his poor, stricken face as it is now all sweet boyish gentleness again I cannot, no I cannot possibly believe it of him."

"Well I can—and do!" said Miss Janet, grimly.

They had now reached the sunny garden and were pacing slowly among the fragrant roses; and here Miss Janet paused to stamp her determinded belief so violently that she clashed.

"Charmian, I believe he killed von sinful Earl, as he vowed he would. And, mind ye, here was no juist an ordinar' brutal murder, this was an act o' justice, ay—but I would like fine tae hear him confess till it . . . afore witnesses, y'ken, for our menkind's sake. And besides, m'dear if the puir laddie is tae die indeed, it were better he made due confession and—My gracious me—will ye look at Peter!" she exclaimed, in such sudden amazement that Charmian turned and opened her beautiful eyes very wide at the unwonted, nay the astounding spectacle of her dignified husband abroad thus and striding towards them in his shirt-sleeves, cravat untied and fluttering, hair ruffled, face smudged with dust and grime but his eyes bright and eager.

"Peter—Peter what on earth!"

"My dear," said he. "My dear, a most remarkable discovery! You know how often I have considered the removal of that corner bookcase in the library, so awkardly placed and such an odd shape? We accomplished it this morning. Mordaunt and I . . . my dear, that bookcase was definitely, so built and shaped to hide a small, secret supboard and in it I found . . . aha!"

"What, Peter? For goodness' sake don't tantalize!"

"Money, is 't, Peter? Jewels?" enquired Miss Janet.

"Better than either! Come and see."

Giving an arm to each, Sir Peter brought them triumphantly into his library where Mr. Mordaunt, amid piles of books and ruins of the dismembered bookcase, bowed them welcome.

"There!" said Sir Peter, with dramatic gesture.

"That?" cried my lady in instant dispraisal. "Oh, goodness me, Peter—merely that old, rusty sword?"

"My certie!" snorted Miss Janet. "Is this all?"

"But such a very frowsy old thing, Peter, and all rust, and I was hoping you had found something really wonderful."

"I have reason to believe," he continued patiently, "this wonderful sword was presented to my great grandfather by Oliver Cromwell after the battle of Edgehill and used by him somewhat frequently afterwards, you will observe how notched the blade is."

"Still Peter, dear, it is not a thing of beauty or any value is it?"

"I am endeavoring," sighed Sir Peter, "I am patiently attempting to imform you that this sword once in all probability was borne by Oliver Cormwell himself."

"But then, Peter at school I never liked Oliver Cromwell. I used to think he was a bloodthirsty old wretch."

Dumbly Sir Peter laid the old sword gently upon the table and lifting grimy hand to ruffled hair with an almost hopeless gesture, proceeded to set his hair more on end than ever.

"However," sighed he at last, "despite such unreasoned strictures, Oliver Cromwell was, is, and I dare to think, will ever remain one of our England's greatest."

"Did you find anything else, Peter "

"I did," he nodded. "I found—these!" and he indicated four stout leather-bound volumes.

"More books!" sighed Charmian.

"These, my dear soul," he explained, sighing like one utterly hopeless, "are a record kept and very painfully set forth by my great-grandfather, John Vibart—"

"Well now this really is rather wonderful, Peter! Let us look."

"It is—very wonderful!" he answered, dark eyes kindling. "See now this beautiful penmanship! And from brief snatches I have read, it tells much intimate detail of Oliver, his looks, habit, and manner, his fierce hatred of injustice and his deep and obvious sincerity . . . by heavens, the man himself seems to stand before you alive and vigorous! Then here, too, is an eye-witness's account of the Battles of Edgehill and Naseby, with skirmishes and sieges . . . If you care to sit down and listen you shall hear how this wonderful record begins."

So down they sat forthwith; then Sir Peter, opening a certain volume with that tender care which ever bespeaks the true lover of books, began to read on this wise:

"'The Narrative of John Vibart heretofore Fifth Baronet of Barcomb in the County of Sussex and sometime Colonel of Horse in the late wars. Begun this fifth of April in the year of God 1665.

"'In these sad, degenerate days when faith in mankind, yea and in God himself seemth dead, when prayer is jeered and piety become a mock and scorn; in this grievous day when great Oliver's dishonored bones do, even now, lie rotting with the dust of unnumbered malefactors at shameful Tyburn, I John Vibart bereft of all but life here in this humble cottage that looketh on Dering Tye here forgot yet withwithal content, even I John Vibart that know this English Oliver as few men might, do take up my pen meaning, in these days of his bitter dispraisal and wanton misjudgement, to set down the very truth of him in so far as by God's help I may do so, that when I am safe marched through and beyond Death's valley, men yet unborn shall, reading these my true and faithful words, learn therefrom and know at least in some part, what manner of man this Oliver Cromwell truly was'."

Sir Peter had paused here and glanced up to ask their opinion when borne to them came a sound of hoofs and wheels.

"They are here!" cried Charmian, rising.

"Ay, and—with the child!" quoth Miss Janet, peering from the window and away they sped together leaving Sir Peter gazing after them, the open book in his hand.

"It is a strange thing, Mordaunt," sighed he more plaintively than ever, "that women, yea even the very best of them, are singularly devoid, indeed, entirely lacking in reverence for the abstractions of life . . . what are you staring at, pray?"

"Miss Rosemary, sir, Mr. Clipsby, Mr. Richard and a little girl."

"You will see them better if you go out to them, Charles, and which you have greeted them, have the goodness to ride and engage Hurley, the carpenter, to reconstruct this bookcase." So saying Sir Peter leaned back in his chair and became lost in the narrative of his long dead ancestor John Vibart. Time passed, clock chimed, the light began to fade, yet he read on and on like one enthralled, until he became aware the door had opened and frowned, glanced up impatiently and glimpsing Charmian, smiled.

DEAD MAN AT TRUCK'S WHEEL

Boston, June 14 (Associated Press).—A runaway motor truck with a dead man at the wheel plunged through the crowded market district at Lexington and Richmond Streets yesterday, leaped a curb, struck an aged man, injuring him slightly, and crashed into a building. Carlo Buonanno, fifty-three, the driver, had been stricken and died while operating the truck.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

JUNE IS THE MONTH TO START BABY'S SUNBATHS

There is no more ideal month than June for beginning the summer sunbaths, for surely even the most timid mother will not quail at the idea of exposing her naked infant to its sunshine.

In June it is not the mother's timidity that must be feared but her lack of caution. The sun may appear so mild and so gentle that she is far too apt to treat the hapless infant to a good roasting rather than a delicate tanning.

The small baby will profit by having his tender skin rubbed with baby oil before he is put out in the sun. And his first few sunbaths should be limited to minutes, however he may enjoy them.

LET THE SUN DO IT

The whole procedure is more fully explained in the leaflet, "How to Give the Summer Sunbath," which may be had in the usual way. Send a self addressed and stamped envelope and ask for it of Myrtle Meyer Eldred, care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

In winter we are denied enough sunlight on bare skin, because of the temperature, and we substitute for it cod liver or halibut liver oil or viosterol or some combination of both of them. In summer we can let the sun shine on the child's skin and activate the natural oil of the skin to a production of its own vitamin D. This, coursing through the child's system, gives the body additional ability to make use of the minerals in the diet and help to deposit them where they are most needed in the bones and teeth and nervous system.

PROTECT THE EYES

At the end of the winter, even though he has had some vitamin D product, it is possible for a child to show mild signs of rickets. Such disturbance usually rights itself during the summer months if the mother is aware of her golden opportunity to make the best use of the sun. But she must remember her obligation not to overdo it to the point of exhaustion and suffering for her helpless infant.

For those mothers who have asked this question: "Shall the infant's and child's eyes be shaded during the sunbath," the answer is, "Decidedly, yes." Bright sunlight is a terrific strain on the infant's eyes. The sunlight is just as beneficial when it falls on the body itself and the infant's eyes are protected from it.

To-morrow: "You May Not Like Sour Milk—But Baby May."

TO DESCRIBE BRIDGE WORK

NBC Broadcast To-morrow Will Show How Cables Over San Francisco Bay Spun

The beginning of the gigantic task of spinning the cable which will support the spans of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge will be described for a coast-to-coast NBC network audience during a special half-hour broadcast at 10.30 a.m., P.S.T. tomorrow.

Four NBC announcers, situated at strategic points, will bring listeners a verbal picture of the cable-spinning. The origination positions for the broadcast will be the Rincon Hill anchorage, the top of the No. 2 tower, the centre anchorage and the catwalk between two of the towers.

Art Lindsay, stationed on the Rincon Hill anchorage, will open the broadcast with a description of the machinery which will be used for spinning the cable. He will be assisted by John Martin, engineer in charge of the spinning, who will act as Lindsay's observer.

Dresser Dahlstead, on the No. 2 tower., is expected to interview Governor Frank F. Merriam of California, C. H. Purcell, chief engineer of the bridge, and Earl Lee Kelly, director of public works, who will be with him on the tower. Dahstead will also describe the stringing of the cable from his point of view. Clinton Twiss, carrying a pack transmitter, will be heard from the catwalk, and Cliff Engle, stationed on the centre anchorage, will continue the description from there.

The spinning of the cable for the bridge will take 200 men, working twenty-four hours a day, approximately five months to complete. The cable will consist of thirty-seven strands, and each strand will contain 472 wires, each of which is about the size of a pencil. When pressed, the cable will measure twenty-eight inches in diameter.

"Hunger March" Here Planned

While the national march of the relief camp strikers to Ottawa has been halted at Regina to-day, arrangements for a provincial-wide "hunger march" to Victoria on July 22 are being initiated by unemployment bodies, it is reported.

Unemployed, it is stated, will ask the provincial government for non-contributory social and unemployment insurance, work at trade union wages, and increased relief allowances.

TRACK MEET ON CBS TO-MORROW

One of the most spectacular sports events of the year—the invitation track meet at Palmer Stadium, Princeton University — will be described in a special broadcast over the Columbia network from 1.30 to 2.15 p.m. P.S.T. to-morrow. Ted Husing, Columbia's ace sports announcer, will be at the microphone.

Six events will be described in the broadcast but the one commanding the greatest public interest is the mile run, with Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, who holds the record, running against Bill Bonthron, Gene Venzke and Jack Lovelock. This race will be on the air beginning at about 2.05 p.m. Other events, with the world's outstanding athletes competing, will be the pole vault, the two-mile run, the quarter-mile, the high hurdles and the half-mile.

Stations will include KOL, KVI, and KSL.

HEALTH WORK IS DESCRIBED

Duncan, June 14.—The annual meeting of the study group of the Duncan P.-T.A. was held at the home of Mrs. A. Leeming on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. F. G. Driver was elected president for the coming year and Mrs. H. O. Homewood, secretary.

Mrs. W. B. Clayton was the speaker for the afternoon. She gave an interesting address on "Infant Welfare in New Zealand," with special reference to the work of the Royal New Zealand Society for the Health of Women and Children of which she was honorary secretary of the Auckland Branch for seventeen years.

A vote of thanks was accorded Mrs. Clayton. After adjournment tea was served by Mrs. Leeming.

FOSTER HOMES DECLARED BEST

Care of Unmarried Families Discussed at Social Work Conference

Canadian Press

Montreal, June 14.—"Those who specialize in work with unmarried families must get rid of their prejudices and preconceived ideas in regard to this group," said Miss J. Vera Moberly, executive secretary of the Infants' Home and Infirmary, Toronto, speaking to-day before a meeting of the Child Welfare League of America, which is convening here in connection with the sixty-second annual meeting of the National Conference of Social Work.

Miss Moberly discussed the advantages of foster homes as compared with institutions in caring for the unmarried mother.

PRIVACY APPEALS

"We find that the privacy of the foster home appeals to the unmarried mother and to her parents," she said. "The girls do not come in contact with others in similar trouble and need not live in fear of meeting someone who knows their secrets. The period in foster home gives the mother a quiet time to think through her problem to a satisfactory decision regarding plans for herself and child. The flexibility of foster homes is also an advantage. There is no limit to their number, and they are all different so that one is able to fit different types of mothers into the homes most suited to them."

Miss Moberly said fifteen years ago she was appointed superintendent of the Infants' Home in Toronto, a large congregate institution, caring for young children as well as mothers with their babies. This institution has since developed into a case work agency for unmarried parents, and does child-placing of Protestant children under four years of age for the city of Toronto.

"We are practically a central bureau for assisting unmarried mothers," she said, "and we have found the cost in foster homes, including health and hygiene service, to be $1.00 per diem per capita, whereas in the institution corresponding cost, without these services, is $1.25."

CHURCH AS RURAL AGENCY

The church in rural communities no longer is a training ground for city ministers, or an old-age home for worn-out ministers, the conference was told to-day by Robert A. Polson, assistant professor of Church Organization, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York. Professor Polson spoke before a section studying group work under private auspices.

In his work with New York state communities, Professor Polson said, he found that the church is now one of the most important rural agencies for assisting with leisure-time activities.

"The number of discussion and study groups organized by the minister or some volunteer lay leader is increasing greatly. These will centre around national and international problems. This last winter many a rural community was gathered around the stove in some church basement, discussing the pros and cons of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration programme.

"The church also sponsors for young people discussion groups, group games, folk dancing, singing games and dramatics," Professor Polson said, "and, in the summer time also, such activities as hiking, camping, and picnicking.

"Other rural groups working on leisure-time programmes," he stated, "include farmers' organizations, village libraries, boys' and girls' organizations, including the 4-H Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls, also parents' and teachers' organizations."

TO OPEN FAIR IN AID OF CHURCH

Mrs. E. W. Hetherington, president of the Victoria Little Theatre, will formally open the annual fair to be held by St. Alban's Church Wednesday, June 19, at 2.30 o'clock. Besides the usual stalls of home cooking, fancy work, books, and home produce, there will be coconut shies, doll shies, housie-housie, roundabouts and hot dogs.

FLANNEL DANCE TO-NIGHT

Lavish decorations will add to the gaiety of the Flannel Dance being held this evening at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club by the Revellers. Among the many preparations to ensure the utmost in comfort and entertainment for the dancers, is the improved floor, and special setting for the orchestra to carry the music to all parts of the hall and spacious veranda. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock.

Thunder does not sour milk; it is the hot weather accompanying the storm that hastens souring.

Rev. E. A. Henry, D.D., pastor of Fairfield United Church, and Mrs. Henry marked the fortieth anniversary of their wedding on Tuesday, in Vancouver, when they were "at home" afternoon and evening at the Tudor Manor apartment of their son, Dr. A. Taylor Henry. Dr. and Mrs. Henry, who have a host of friends in the mainland city, many of whom were members of Chalmers and West Vancouver United Churches during Dr. Henry's pastorates, were showered with floral tributes, congratulary wires, gifts and personal felicitations expressed by the large throng calling on them on the happy milestones in their married life. Some seventy signatures were affixed to the pages of a morocco leather-bound guest book, numbered among the gifts. Another received by Mrs. Henry was an exquisite ruby ring. Wires were received during the afternoon from the official board and the women of Fairfield Church. Mrs. Henry, who was wearing a becoming gown of pearl-grey crepe, touched with blue, had asked little Eleanor Fergusson, wearing an adorable frock of pleated shell pink chiffon, to be in attendance at the door. Mrs. J. W. Taylor was assisted in the tea-room by Mrs. Alexander Duff, Mrs. H. P. McCraney, Mrs. A. G. Creelman, Mrs. Robert A. Mack, Mrs. E. E. Stoner and Mrs. George Hay of West Vancouver, who presided at the effectively appointed tea table that was spread with a filet lace cloth and graced with crimson roses in a crystal bowl. Mrs. George Baldwin of West Vancouver presided at the urns in the evening, with the Misses Minnie and Gertrude Hopper, Margaret Fergusson and Mrs. Ida Mah assisting in serving.

2,000 GUESTS AT ROYAL BALL

Queen Glittering Figure in Pink Lace and Diamonds

London, June 14. — The Queen, wearing a gown of pink lace, sat alone on a golden throne at the end of the long white and gold ballroom in Buckingham Palace last night as 2,000 guests danced at the second court ball of the Jubilee year.

The King was recovering from an attack of bronchial catarrh at Sandringham, so the Prince of Wales escorted the Queen into the ballroom and took his place in the royal circle.

'Flowers For Madam' Theme of Dance

NURSES ASK FOR PEACE

No Glamour in War, Says B.C. Association in Strong Resolution

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 14. — The Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia has passed a resolution urging the Canadian Nurses' Association "to bring to the International Congress of Nurses our determination to stand behind measures for world peace and control of armaments."

"No great international organization can have more intimate knowledge of the human wreckage left by a great war than this great nursing body," the resolution states.

"They also know the glamour and glory that direct and indirect propaganda can build around war. They know the courage and spirit of high adventure that animated thousands of young men and women of all countries in the last war.

"If the women of the world united; if they really thought this problem through; if they really wanted to stop war—war could be outlawed, just as slavery and plague, once considered a normal phase of human life, have been."

WOULD ENFORCE LAW RIGIDLY

National Council Discuss Minimum Wage; Apprenticeships Urged

Canadian Press

Toronto, June 14.—Rigid enforcement of minimum wage laws in industry was recommended by the National Council of women, in annual meeting here yesterday.

Establishment of apprenticeships under apprenticeship boards was also urged as findings of a sub-committee on resolutions designed to protect women wage-earners, passed by the annual meeting of the Canadian Y.W.C.A. in Ottawa, were passed.

Mrs. Rex Eaton, Vancouver, presenting the report, stressed the need for apprenticeship boards, stating there was a lack of trained workers in skilled trades and occupations.

These boards, she suggested, could fix the terms of contract, regulate a course of training and conditions of labor and wages.

Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P., Vancouver, reported British Columbia had established apprenticeships in six trades.

CHURCH GARDEN PARTY ENJOYED

In spite of the uncertain weather, the garden party held by the Oak Bay United Church W.A. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McArthur, Woodlawn Crescent, yesterday afternoon, was an outstanding success.

Mrs. A. J. Gerry, the president, was general convener and during the afternoon delightful music was played by Mrs. H. C. Kinghorn and her orchestra. Pupils of Miss Dorothy Cox presented a number of charming and colorful dances, which added to the pleasure of the many guests.

The tea tables and the various stalls were arranged on the veranda. Tea was served by Mrs. J. H. Harvey, Mrs. Cordiner, Mrs. M. Moloney and Mrs. W. H. Ruffell. The home cooking was in charge of Mrs. S. Johnson; the teacup reading, Mrs. J. B. Sinclair; strawberries and cream, Mrs. G. B. Switzer; ice cream, Miss Davis, and candy, Miss Isabel Barnes and Miss W. Graham.

JUNIOR GROUP AIDS HOSPITAL

Younger Auxiliary Makes Generous Gifts to St. Joseph's, Reports Show

Donation of a cheque for $145 to Sister Superior, to be used for the children's ward, was a highlight of the annual meeting of the Junior Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Alfred O. Hood, the president, was in the chair.

The president's report of the year's activities showed that the social service work, which has been just recently started, was progressing satisfactorily under the direction of Miss Beryl Nelson. During the year a novel art exhibit, the annual cabaret, a telephone bridge and rummage sales were held to raise funds.

Nomination of officers took place and a special meeting will be held on Thursday evening, June 27, at 8 o'clock, in the sewing-room of the hospital, when the election of officers will take place.

Following the meeting, tea was served, the table being attractively centred with roses. Sister Superior spoke encouragingly to the members and gave a detailed account of the purchases made with the money donated by the Junior Auxiliary last year.

LADIES' CHOIR NAMES OFFICERS

The seventh annual meeting of the Victoria Ladies' Choir was held recently with a very good attendance of members. Following the reading of reports and their adoption, Mrs. H. Beckwith conducted the election of officers, resulting in Mrs. M. Pebernat being re-elected president. The following form the executive for the ensuing year: Vice-president, Mrs. A. P. Fryatt; recording secretary, Miss A. Miller; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Glover; treasurer, Mrs. W. Murgatroyd; librarians, Mrs. H. Jones and Miss B. Fraser, and pianist, Miss Barbara Fraser.

The choir plans to resume rehearsals the first Tuesday in September under the leadership of Mr. Hart, a newcomer to Victoria, who has had considerable experience in choir work in Brighton, England; Red Deer, Alta., and Chilliwack, B.C.

Prof. Ira Dilworth paid the choir a visit during the evening and was welcomed by the president. On behalf of the choir she conveyed to him best wishes and success in his work as conductor of the Vancouver Bach Choir. Mr. Dilworth thanked the ladies for their kind interest and wished them every success during the coming year.

Women Conservatives—The Victoria Women's Conservative Association met yesterday evening at headquarters, Mrs. K. Palmer, the president, in the chair. The treasurer's report was read and routine business discussed. Mrs. Rolston reported on the Local Council of Women. Hugh Allan, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, gave an interesting talk on Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett and matters of special interest to Conservatives. Russell Twining, a recent graduate of the University of British Columbia, will be the speaker at the next social evening of the club on June 27, the subject to be "A Young Man's Stand on Politics." The meeting will start at 8 p.m., and the public is invited. There will be a programme and refreshments will be served. The business meetings of the association will be discontinued until after the summer months.

London—A notable feature of the Royal Academy exhibition this year has been the great demand for pictures painted by women artists.

London—The Royal Borough of Kensington is the first district in London to have a woman tax inspector. There are already seventy in country districts of Great Britian.

Weddings

EVE—CLARK

Shirley, June 14.—At a pretty home wedding on Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, the marriage was solemnized of Florence Evelyn, eldest daughter of Mrs. M. A. Clark and the late Percival E. Clark, and Victor Francis, eldest son of Mr. W. Eve and the late Mrs. Eve of Sooke, formerly of Victoria.

Rev. P. McNab of Victoria performed the ceremony under a floral archway of ferns and white roses. The bride wore a smart pale blue silk crepe ensemble, with hat and accessories to match, carrying a bouquet of carnations and roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Irene Clark, wearing a smart pale green suit with matching hat and accessories and wearing a corsage bouquet of blue iris and pink snapdragons. Little Patsy Mugford, niece of the bridegroom, made a dainty flower-girl, dressed in pale blue organdie, and carrying a basket of sweet peas.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. H. F. Anderson, and Mr. Robert B. Mugford was groomsman. Miss Helen Welsh played the wedding music.

The wedding party was entertained at a reception following the ceremony, Mrs. M. A. Clark, mother of the bridge, wearing a smart navy blue costume. Assisting her in receiving were the sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. A. Unwin, Mrs. G. Jones and Mrs. R. B. Mugford. Centring the table was a beautifully decorated two-tier wedding cake.

Mr. J. J. Matheson and Mr. Arthur Unwin contributed to the pleasure of the occasion by their solos, Mr. Matheson singing "Love's Coronation" and "The Trumpeter," and Mr. Unwin singing "I Love You Truly" and "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling."

A large number of beautiful gifts were received by the young couple. After their honeymoon, they will take up their residence in Sooke.

FOUR CRICKET GAMES CARDED

Victoria Club to Put Three Elevens in Field To-morrow; Five C's Win

Three elevens from the Victoria Cricket Club will go into action to-morrow in exhibition matches, while there will be a regular league fixture at Beacon Hill Park between the Albions and Five C's.

The teams for the league match are as follows:

VICTORIA TEAMS

The Victoria Cricket Club elevens play the University School at Mount Tolmie, the Incogs at Macdonald Park and Shawnigan Lake School at Shawnigan. Both local matches start at 2.15 o'clock.

The club's teams follow:

Against University School—H. A. Goward (captain), H. A. Tomalin, G. Sellars, P. Jones, R. A. Willcox, A. J. Collett, G. C. Grant, W. J. M[illegible], E. Fuller, E. P. Gillespie and T. Barclay.

Against the Incogs—J. F. Meredith (captain), T. Peers, R. Moore, V. Moore, A. F. Mitchell, J. Clarke, B. Hood, G. B. Kinch, R. White, P. Nation and G. Marshall.

Against Shawnigan Lake School—H. Lethaby (captain), A. J. Darcus, G. Austin, P. Austin, F. Jordan, J. Wise, H. S. Hurn, R. Moffatt, C. Jones, B. Starkey, F. Bossom.

FIVE C'S WIN

The Five C's swamped the Victoria Club in a Wednesday League match at Beacon Hill, the score being 157 for one wicket to 31. Quainton got six wickets for thirteen and N. Smith four for sixteen. Kinch was the only Victoria batsman to do anything with this bowling. Going in first, he carried his bat for fifteen.

The Victoria Club had probably been overawed by the previous batting performance of their opponents. A. Griffin got fifty-three before being caught and A. Griffin and P. Comley carried their bats for seventy-one and twenty-four respectively. A declaration was made when the score stood at 157 for one wicket.

DENY REPORT FIGHT FIXED

Canadian Press

New York, June 14.—Reports—not carried by the Canadian Press or the Associated Press—that the New York State Athletic Commission planned investigation of rumors of a "fix" in connection with the Max Baer-Jimmy Braddock title fight yesterday evening were denied to-day by Brig.-Gen. John J. Phelan, its chairman.

"I have made no statement concerning a fixed fight," Phelan said. "I am certain there was nothing wrong with the fight. There will be no investigation because there's nothing to investigate."

Canadian Negro and Former Opponent Wire Challenges to Braddock

Canadian Press Cable

London, June 14.—Larry Gains, erstwhile Canadian heavyweight champion of Toronto and more recently a holder of the British Empire title, would appreciate a crack at the newly won boxing crown adorning the brow of James J. Braddock, the Jersey Irishman.

The emblem of world supremacy in the fistic art had barely settled on Braddock's black-thatched head before Harry Leven, manager of the Canadian negro, had cabled a challenge to the champion.

Columbus, Ga., June 14 (Associated Press).—Corn Griffin, local boxer, yesterday evening wired the new heavyweight champion his congratulations and challenged him to a return bout.

The Columbus boxer's defeat by Jimmy Braddock one year ago to-day in the Long Island open air arena was the turning point in the champion's career. Griffin floored Braddock for the count of nine in the opening round but Jimmy won in the third by a technical knockout.

Griffin's wire said: "Congratulations, champion. Would like to meet you again."

DERBY HORSE WAS PULLED

Theft, Aga Khan Entry, Slowed Down By Jockey to Let Bahram Get in Front

Associated Press

London, June 14. — Thousands of bettors who backed the Aga Khan's Theft in the Derby had cause to feel slightly peevish to-day after what amounted to official revelation that the colt was "not run on his merits" in finishing fourth.

It was revealed in The Racing Calendar, official turf publication, that Jockey Harry Wragg had been raked over the coals by the Jockey Club stewards because he pulled up Theft after he had reached the final straightaway to permit the Aga Khan's first-string contender and the betting favorite, Bahram, to go through to victory.

"HANGMAN" IN MAT VICTORY

Vancouver, June 14. — Howard "Hangman" Cantonwine, 218, of Iowa, used his favorite "hanging" hold yesterday evening to beat Jack Forsgren, 220, Vancouver, and win the main event of a wrestling card here.

Jagat Singh, 220, India, and Andre Adoree, 201, Montreal, went four fast rounds to a draw. Each obtained one fall, Singh with an Indian death lock in the second and Anoree in the fourth with a body slam.

"Marine" Jacobs, 168, Bremerton, Wash., and Frank Marci, 175, Portland, Ore., tangled for four rounds to a draw. There were no falls.

Ole Anderson, 216, Minneapolis, defeated Ernie Bickerton, 222, Vancouver, in three rounds, taking the only fall in the third with a body scissors.

Toronto, June 14.—Don O'Mahoney, 223, undefeated Irish champion, squelched Gino Garibaldi, the big Italian, 219 pounds, before 8,500 wrestling fans here yesterday evening in two straight falls.

Other results:

Associated Press

At Worcester, Mass.—Ed Don George, 225, North Java, N.Y., threw Steve Warren, 220, New York, in straight falls.

JUBILEE of A STRUGGLING ARTIST

A PRODUCT of London's East Side, Barnett Freedman, in competition with nineteen other artists, drew the successful design for the Silver Jubilee stamp of Great Britain. Born of Jewish parents in the humble Stepney district, Freedman enjoyed little play and school life because of continued illness. For four years he lay flat on his back in London Hospital. During that time he taught himself to draw and, after regaining health, went to night school and won a scholarship. Soon his paintings became famous. To-day, at thirty-three, married and with one child, Freedman modestly continues his painting career.

WHEAT EXPORT VOLUME DOWN

Value Per Bushel Is Higher Than Last Year, Bureau Reports

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15.—Exports of wheat and wheat flour showed a considerable decrease in volume during May compared with May, 1934, according to a report issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The value for bushels, however, increased by more than 10 cents per bushel, against May, 1934.

Exports of wheat during May amounted to 11,989,891 bushels, valued at $10,081,013, or an average of 84 cents per bushel, compared with 19,023,770 bushels at $15,562,154 and 71 cents in the same month last year. Wheat flour exported amounted to 383,221 barrels valued at $1,486,004, or an average of $3.88 per barrel against 481,725 barrels at $1,652,024 and an average of $3.43 in May, 1934.

Wheat exports during the twelve months ended May 30 totaled 160,127,417 bushels valued at $130,858,040, an average of 81 cents per bushel, against 172,201,051 bushels at $119,541,956, or 69 cents per bushel in the preceding twelve months. Wheat flour exported during the same period amounted to 4,774,609 barrels at $18,123,659, an average of $3.80 per barrel compared with 5,642,816 barrels at $20,077,535, or an average of $3.56 in the twelve-month period ended May 30, 1934.

LANGFORD

A meeting of the Langford Parent-Teacher Association was held on Wednesday evening at the home of the president, D. B. F. Bullen. The principal, Mrs. L. Peacey, requested the aid of members at a picnic on Friday, June 21, at Ocean Beach Lagoon. Mr. Bullen was appointed head of the sports committee with D. Stewart and J. Wilkinson as assistants. Mrs. Bullen, Mrs. H. A. Hincks, Mrs. E. P. LeQuesne and Miss M. S. M. Hincks were chosen as the refreshment committee.

Cards were played. Miss L. M. A. Savory and E. P. LeQuesne won the first prizes for progressive contract bridge while Mrs. P. N. Welch and J. E. MacDonald were the prize winners at a non-progressive bridge table. Consolation awards went to Mrs. E. F. LeQuesne, Mrs. P. A. Moir, Mrs. J. E. MacDonald and D. Stewart.

A meeting of the St. Matthew's Church committee will be held at 8 o'clock next Monday evening in the vicarage.

DESOLATION at CORBIN

Communists Order Strike—Prosperous Community of 600 Left Permanently Jobless

Further Details of the Ruin Spread in trail of Workers' Unity League Terrorist Machinations

Five months ago Tom Uphill, the Labor member for Fernie, boasted that the coal mining town of Corbin was the most prosperous town in British Columbia—that it was the only place in the Province with no unemployment.

Minimum wage paid by the Corbin Collieries was $4.50 a day. Wages ran all the way up to $8-$10, and even $12 a day.

The miners had 110 privately owned motor cars—many of them Packards, Hudsons — the finest that money could buy.

Into this town came Harvey Murphy and J. Stokoluk, organizers of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada (sometimes called the Mine Workers' Industrial Union of Canada — formerly the National Mine Workers' Association).

The Mine Workers' Union of Canada is the "All-Canadian" organization of miners formed by the Communist Party of Canada on written instructions from the Red International Labor Union at Moscow.

The Mine Workers' Union of Canada is affiliated with and subordinate to the Workers' Unity League, the Communist Party's "Trade Union Department" of which ARTHUR H. EVANS is the B. C. Secretary and Organizer.

The Corbin Miners' Association was induced to become Local No. 3, District No. 1, of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada, thereby coming, probably unknown to most of its members, under the ruthless exploitation of the Communist leaders.

* * *

The Corbin strike occurred on January 20, the day following the dismissal of J. Press for quitting work too early and failing to dump a trip of coal.

The miners' committee gave the company 20 minutes to reinstate Press and comply with four other demands.

At the end of the 20 minutes they went on strike in violation of their union constitution and in violation of their agreement with the company.

It is significant that J. Press, the man whose deliberate neglect of duty was the excuse for the strike, was SECRETARY OF THE LOCAL.

On February 9, F. E. Harrison, representative of the Dominion Labor Department, wrote the Union that the company had agreed to all five demands.

On February 11, the miners were summoned to meet with outside leaders, including J. Stokoluk, one of the Communist organizers of the M. U. of C., in attendance.

Instead of accepting the situation the leaders prevailed on the men to formulate three new demands and by the usual terrorist device of standing vote (not secret ballot as their own constitution demands), a majority was obtained for continuing the strike.

NOTE:—Both the Relief Camp strikers and the Vancouver Waterfront Workers, under the Communist leadership of Arthur Evans, Jack Emory and other Red agents, were similarly intimidated by standing vote at mass meetings instead of the secret ballot. Thus we see the same unscrupulous manipulating hand from the Communist International reaching into all these attempts to create dissension and disorder in British Columbia, employing the same unscrupulous devices, denying the workers the right to express their own honest convictions as guaranteed to them by their union charters. The Reds are afraid that the real workers might favor keeping their honorable agreements.

The strike went on; riots occurred; the pickets placed their women in the front row and would not let them get away when they provoked a clash with the officers of the law.

Meantime the neglected mines became unworkable—the company lost its contracts due to three months' failure to keep up the supply.

The Corbin Collieries were compelled to close down permanently. The entire 600 miners and their families are permanently out of work and are one by one moving away from the desolated town of Corbin.

D. W. Jones, Corbin miner, member of the union, wrote to the "Weekly Journal," Coleman, Alberta, a letter describing the whole affair in which he concluded as follows:

> "After attending all meetings since the strike it is abundantly clear that the whole thing has beeen carried through by the political motive back of the whole thing . . . . I have spent many hours since the commencement analyzing the situation with the strike committee and on the floor of the union meetings, but to no avail. The campaign of intimidation and terror set up by a few fanatics was too strong."

What greater proof that the Communist is the sworn enemy of the working man. Determined to win his terrible end even if he has to wreck industry and starve innocent women and children.

This is your fight, the fight of every true citizen to stamp out the reptile of Communism.

Women's Institute Holds Garden Party

Duncan, June 14.—A garden party was held at "Mere Side," Quamichan Lake, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Leather, on Wednesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Cowichan Women's Institute. The attractions included a cooked food stall in charge of Mrs. Lamming and Mrs. A. Stannard; "Bingo" in charge of Mr. Livesay, and afternoon tea in charge of Mrs. G. Colk, Mrs. Vidal and Miss Colk. Tea tickets were sold by Mrs. Stannard. Clock golf was run by Mrs. F. G. Aldersey and Mrs. H. N. Watson, and was won by Mrs. E. W. Neel and Hugh Savage. E. W. Carr Hilton was the winner of a "treasure hunt" arranged by Mrs. Bradley and Miss Spooner. Mrs. F. G. Christmas, the president of the Institute, had general supervision.

Contraction of Trade Is Shown

B.C. Imports and Exports Dropped $70,000,000 in Depression; Economic Council Figures Show East's Big Advantage

Shrinkage in the volume of British Columbia's trade during the depression years and the toll exacted by the province's unfavorable trade balance with eastern Canada are demonstrated in figures released by the B.C. Economic Council to-day.

Over the four years of 1930-33 inclusive, the council claims B.C. had an adverse balance with the rest of Canada, amounting in all to $219,458,923.

Partly offsetting this was a favorable balance on other markets of the world totaling $199,229,366, leaving an adverse balance on the total provincial trade of $100,229,557.

In round figures the total B.C. trade, both imports and exports, dropped from $213,000,000 in 1930 to $140,000,000 in 1933. This is shown in the following table:

	Imports	Exports	Balance
1930	125,388,648	88,260,000	-37,128,648
1931	107,038,394	83,649,073	-23,389,321
1932	87,547,906	59,245,833	-28,302,073
Four-year total	396,048,646	295,819,089	-100,229,557

The decrease in the unfavorable balance in 1933, as compared with the previous year, was, according to the figures, the result of improvement in the provincial trade with foreign countries and a falling off in imports from eastern Canada. On world markets the province retained its position of selling more than twice what it buys, despite the deflation in total trade. World trade (exclusive of Canadian) over the four-year period is shown in the following:

	Imports	Exports	Balance
1930	32,600,000	68,260,000	+35,660,000
1931	28,272,861	64,071,480	+35,789,619
1932	26,046,736	46,558,865	+20,512,129
Four-year total	110,224,964	229,454,330	+119,229,366

During the depression years B.C. cut down its purchases from other parts of Canada by more than one-third, and sold about one-third less to other provinces, but its trade with the rest of the Dominion was still over-balanced almost four to one against this province, the figures show.

Following are the figures for B.C. trade with the other eight provinces:

	Imports	Exports	Balance
1931	78,765,533	19,577,593	-59,187,940
1932	61,501,170	12,686,968	-48,814,202
Four-year total	285,823,682	66,364,759	-219,458,923

This large adverse balance, according to the council's economic experts, is what the province has to make up in the way of borrowings, payment of dividends and other invisible exports.

Other factors in the trade situation, such as the ration between export prices and import prices, due to tariffs, are being worked out.

Chemainus

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Caswell, Tuesday for Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Donald who are leaving Chemainus after forty years' residence. They will reside in Duncan. A beautiful rug and an umbrella were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Donald by Mrs. Cathcart on behalf of the guests, who included: Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Caswell, Mr. and Mrs. Cathcart, Mr. and Mrs. Dunne, Mr. and Mrs. Halhed, Mrs. Bonde, Mrs. Walter Porter, Mrs. Allan Porter, Mrs. Gustafson, Mrs. J. R. Robinson Sr., Mrs. A. Work, Mrs. N. Lang, Mrs. W. C. Cryer, Mrs. C. D. B. Ross, Mrs. Maurice Halhed and others.

A card party and old-time dance was held in the Chemainus Hall under the patronage of the apron committee of the Women's Benefit Association on Tuesday. The prize winners were: ladie's first, Mrs. Phippips; consolation Mrs. McInnes Sr.; gentlemen first, Mr. Estridge; consolation, Mr. Webster. Traveling prizes were won by Mrs. J. Syme and Mr. Goldsmith.

The Baptist Mission Circle and Ladies' Aid packed a bale for India this week in the church classroom. Things for children included scrap books, picture rolls, schoolbags, baby clothes and two quilts. These were sent to the White Cross headquarters and will be forwarded to Miss Mattie Currie, Tuni Godavari District, India.

PLAN SAANICH ROAD REPAIRS

Municipality to Apply For $18,000 Loan For Relief Works Project

Application for an $18,000 loan from the provincial government to finance a minor road programme which would effect necessary repairs to the more important highways of the municipality, will be made immediately by the Saanich council. The resolution making the application was passed at the council meeting yesterday evening.

The municipality intends to devote the funds largely towards the purchase of materials for the work, there being only a small appropriation for this work in the 1935 budget.

The loan is to be considered as the municipality's share of unemployment relief costs for the first six months of this year, which represents 40 per cent of the total expended since relief is now paid by the government and municipality on a 60-40 basis.

This year's relief appropriation totaled approximately $60,000, but only a small portion of this could be allotted for materials, the remainder being devoted to labor.

Word of the municipality's intention to repair roads will be well received by residents throughout the entire district. While this amount will not be sufficient to deal with all necessary road work, it will materially assist in putting into shape a number of roads which consist chiefly of potholes following last winter's fierce weather conditions.

In Wards Five, Six and Three there have been steady complaints regarding road surfaces, and it is probable a fair share of the loan may be applied in these districts.

WANT LICENSE ISSUE PROBED

Saanich Council Asks Inquiry Into Application For Beer Parlor at Gorge

A complete investigation of all circumstances surrounding the application for a beer parlor license to premises formerly occupied as the J.B.A.A. clubhouse will be sought from the provincial government as a result of a resolution passed by the Saanich Council yesterday evening.

The council will forward to the Premier, Attorney-General, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Municipal Affairs a strongly worded protest against the issuing of the license.

Members of the board were unanimous in their opinion against the license, pointing out that it affected Saanich more than Esquimalt and was thus invading a dry territory.

That the surrounding population is of Saanich people rather than Esquimalt residents.

That the waters of the Gorge at this point are considered dangerous and the narrow approaches to the Gorge Bridge are also a traffic menace.

That the site is located at the street car terminus which feeds a Saanich population and Saanich women and children may be annoyed by beer parlor patrons, particularly after dark.

That the premises are located close to two public parks.

That there was no local demand for the license; on the contrary, local organizations protested the license.

That a license for these premises was previously refused.

The resolution then asks an investigation by an independent board be held to inquire into all negotiations dealing with the license application.

JINX HOLDS IN GARDEN'S BOWL

Canadian Press

New York, June 14.—The jinx hanging over champions in Madison Square Garden's Long Island Bowl was even stronger yesterday evening as Max Baer, in the thirteenth heavyweight title match there recognized in championship history, lost his title to James J. Braddock on the thirteenth day of the month. No boxing ruler has ever defended a championship successfully in the bowl.

Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey, Primo Carnera and Baer, among the heavyweights, and Barney Ross and Jimmy McLarnin in the lighter classes all lost their titles.

Standing committees for the ensuing year will be announced by H. B. Witter, president, when the Y.M.C.A. board of directors holds its final meeting of the season at 7.30 o'clock Monday evening.

A report from the boys' work committee on the new camp site at Glins Lake will be presented to the meeting.

The board will not assemble again until September.

WELFARE WORK BADLY IN NEED

Friendly Help Will Have to Close If Funds Not Forthcoming

An urgent appeal for funds with which to carry on their work is being made by the Friendly Help Welfare Associations of Greater Victoria. A sum of $18,000 is needed to finance the work for the remainder of the year, and unless the necessary support is forthcoming the associations will be forced to discontinue their activities.

The Friendly Help aims at preventing dependency and family disintegration by building up the ability of the individual to understand and meet his own needs, and it tries to help families solve such problems as desertion, marital discord and child behavior.

SPECIALLY TRAINED

It is obvious that work of this nature calls for very special training on the part of the social worker—a capacity carefully to investigate and analyze the needs of each particular case, and to prescribe the appropriate remedy.

In addition to this service, the associations co-operate with health agencies and physicians in building up public health. They also give material relief as part of a plan for families whose needs cannot be met in any other way.

Donations, no matter how small, will be gratefully acknowledged if mailed to or left at campaign headquarters, Room 3, 640 Fort Street. Pledge cards are available for those who wish to spread their contributions over a period of time, or who wish to pay at a later date.

Well-known Racing Figure Passes Away

Seattle, June 16.—Fred A. (Happy) Rogers, about sixty, racetrack character known among the Coast from British Columbia to California for years as a purveyor of racing information, died suddenly at a hotel here. He came here on Saturday from Spokane. His widow lives at Spokane.

Victoria race-goers will remember "Happy" Rogers, for many years a popular figure at the Colwood and Willows tracks here. As late as last season "Happy" was at the Willows racing meeting.

MONEYBOX WINS MANCHESTER CUP

Canadian Press Cable

Manchester, England, June 14.—Moneybox, brown colt by Winalot out of Golden Rocket, to-day won the Manchester Cup over a mile and a half, finishing 1½ lengths ahead of Shortrun. Hoplite finished third two lengths behind Shortrun. Eleven ran. Moneybox was 100 to 6 in the betting, Shortrun 6 to 1 and Hoplite 8 to 1.

Braddock Writes Ring History To Capture Championship

THE SPORTS MIRROR

CRICKET will claim a larger share of the sportlight throughout the British Empire on Saturday, when England opens its first test match against South Africa at Nottingham. Five matches are scheduled between the two teams.

* * *

Of fifty-four tests since the teams started to meet one another, England has won twenty-eight and lost eleven. Fifteen have been drawn. The Springboks have never defeated the English team on the latter's home pitch. But this season the visiting eleven has made fine headway against first-class county teams and promises to give the home of the national sport a good exhibition.

* * *

A repetition of the trouble that broke the cricket world asunder when England played last in Australia is not expected. The home team is not likely to resort to body-line bowling against the South Africans. That practice seems to have been definitely stamped as unsportsmanlike.

* * *

And yet cricket seems to be losing some of the vigor it attained through the famous leg theory of Harold Larwood. According to English dispatches, Larwood is no longer rifling down his terrific deliveries. And, as a result, his home town followers have ceased to show the same interest in the game they did when he was the object of bitter controversy.

On the local cricket front, followers of the game are looking forward to the visit of Ridley College boys for one, two or perhaps three games near the end of July. The college team will definitely appear here, it was learned from authoritative circles, but the actual date has not yet been settled.

* * *

The team from the Ontario school will be composed of boys ranging from fifteen to eighteen years of age. If they play two or more games here, it is expected a boys' team will be sent on the field against them for one match.

* * *

In the hopes of taking part in the match several of Victoria's juniors are reported to be turning out regularly for practice. The prospect of the game is proving a big feature in popularizing the sport with the younger element, old stagers state.

* * *

The Ridley visit and the proposed match against a British cruiser which will come to Victoria during the summer, promise to be the highlights of the season here.

* * *

The proposed series against California cricketers has been abandoned. Aubrey Smith, the Hollywood Englishman who originally broached the scheme, has been forced to go to England on business and consequently has dropped the series.

* * *

In the offing, as the biggest plum cricket can offer a Victoria player, is the proposed tour of England next year by an all-star Canadian team. Negotiations are going ahead in Eastern Canada towards the final arrangement of the tour. While the majority of players on the national team will undoubtedly be from the east, British Columbia is expected to contribute two or three men.

* * *

Informed circles here consider Reg Wenman, one of Western Canada's leading players, about the only man who would be certain of a place if he wished it. Although there are several promising juniors coming along, as well as a number of good veterans, Wenman is figured as the stand-out prospect for the Canadian team. Pearson and Hendy of Vancouver are also regarded locally as good prospects for the touring side.

The sport of kings is under fire in England. The charge is made now that one of the Aga Khan's entries was pulled up in the Derby. This follows a long dispute over the behavior of a rider in the Grand National at its last running.

* * *

In the steeplechase classic Golden Miller, the redhot favorite, and Jockey Gerry Wilson parted company on a jump that was balm to the hearts of the bookmakers and scandal to the English turf world. The result caused the severance of the horse's trainer and owner.

* * *

Now the report comes through that Jockey Harry Wragg pulled up Theft, one of the Aga Khan's entries, to let Bahram, the favorite, get out in front on the home stretch. The horse was not "run on his merits," the story sayt.

* * *

This act by Theft's jockey has come in for censure by the Jockey Club stewards. No doubt some justification will be advanced for Wragg's action.

"Man Who Could Not Win" Takes Highest Title

New Jersey Irishman Beats Max Baer in Plodding Fifteen-round Battle

EX-CHAMP SAYS HE IS THROUGH

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

New York, June 14—The man who couldn't win, the ten to one shot who didn't have a chance — twenty-nine-year-old James J. Braddock—is the heavyweight champion of the world to-day in the most astounding upset since John L. Sullivan went down before the thrusts of Gentleman Jim Corbett back in the gay nineties.

He couldn't win—but he whipped the curly-haired "man killer," Max Baer, by a margin that was close but nevertheless convincing in fifteen slow plodding rounds before an amazed crowd of scarcely 30,000 cash customers yesterday evening in Madison Square Garden's half-empty bowl.

He earned the unanimous decision of Referee Johnny McAvoy and the two judges, George Kelly and Charley Lynch.

Braddock was just another fistic "has been" only a year ago, getting up off the floor in a preliminary to the Baer-Carnera slugfest. That fight started a comeback which led straight to the end of the rainbow, with its championship glory and the pot of gold that means no more visits to the relief agency by the Braddock family.

STUCK TO GUNS

Braddock won because he stuck everlastingly to his guns, standing his ground in every exchange at close range and using every resource at his command to the best advantage.

The Californian fought a bad fight, but Braddock made him look bad. Max hurt both hands, he said, before the fifth round, but he didn't do it because of using them too often.

Disconsolate but generous in praising his conqueror, Baer said he was "through" with the ring. No one took him seriously.

He probably will fight the winner of the forthcoming Joe Louis-Primo Carnera bout, in New York, and attempt later to regain the world championship.

WAIT FOR ATTACK

Round after round, the onlookers seemed to be waiting for the moment when Baer would open up, launch a characteristically savage attack and cut the plodding challenger down.

Baer let five rounds slip past before he landed anything like a solid, jarring punch.

When Braddock missed a punch in the eighth round, Baer feigned grogginess and with a grin swayed in his tracks, hands down, but Referee McAvoy took three rounds away from him—the fifth, ninth and twefth—because the champion either hit low or backhanded.

Braddock took everything Baer could muster in the last three rounds. The challenger not only countered briskly to the head and body in every exchange, but tried hard for a knockout himself. Once he grazed Baer's chin with a looping right hand that had dynamite in it.

ROUND ONE

Baer, instead of rushing, backed carefully away, and Braddock hammered two lights to his side. The champion sneered as Braddock, pressing sturdily forward, whipped a left hook to the head, but missed a long right. Braddock took a short right uppercut to the chin, but smashed a hard right to the chin. Max missed a left hook to the head and took two left hooks on the chin as the crowd cheered the challenger's amazingly fine start. Twice Braddock jabbed Baer's head with lefts before digging a hard right into Baer's head. Neatly, Braddock speared the champion's head with lefts, then pounded his body with rights as the champion waited

Admission Paid By 29,366 Fans

New York, June 14.—Paid attendance at the Baer-Braddock heavyweight championship match yesterday evening was 29,366, Madison Square Garden officials revealed to-day. Gross receipts totalled $205,366.37.

Double-header On To-morrow

Carroll Friend, Tacoma, to Pitch in One of Two Ball Games

Carroll Friend, Northwest League flinger, and Lloyd Cann will alternate in the two baseball fixtures scheduled here tomorrow between Victoria Sons of Canada and Port Angeles, it was announced yesterday by officials in charge of the local team.

Tommy James, Tacoma shortstop, will also play with the local outfit. Roy Barnes, regular backstop, will take a rest owing to a sore arm, and Jack Bacon, peppery skipper, will catch. Noel Morgan will hold down first base, Freddie Gibbons, second; James, short, and Cliff Hilton, third. Ken Fleming, Bill Holman, Roy Haines and Steve Dunc will be ready for the outfield.

The first game is scheduled to start at 2.30 o'clock, with the night piece beginning at 6 o'clock.

Friend turned in a pretty pitching performance here on May 24 against the Vancouver Uniteds, and will have the confidence of the local boys when he goes to the mound to-morrow.

UPLANDS SCENE OF TEAM MATCH

Eagles' Nine To Oppose Stockers

Stockers and Eagles, deadlocked in top berth in the Commercial Babeball League, will meet this evening at the Athletic Park at 6 o'clock to settle the leadership.

Wilfred Shouldice, crack pitcher, will hurl for the Eagles and Lonnie Murray, clever mound star, will chuck for Stockers. Strong line-ups will be in the field this evening in an effort to break the deadlock between the two clubs. Each club have three victories to its credit, and is undefeated.

Roy Barnes will be the umpire.

Katherine Stammers Beats Helen Moody

Associated Press

London, June 14.—Helen Wills Moody suffered the first defeat of her tennis comeback campaign to-day, bowing to Katherine Stammers, third ranking British star, 6-0, 6-4, in the semi-final round of the Kent championships.

Facing the sternest test of a campaign that had brought her eight successive victories in England, Mrs. Moody found herself outmatched by Miss Stammers, left-handed holder of the British hard-court championship.

Miss Stammers used her backhand to make openings for winning drives and was helped no little by the fact the Californian lacked her usual accuracy. Mrs. Moody overdrove the baseline by yards on several occasions.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

John Paul, a Scotsman who added "Jones" to his name and later became America's greatest naval hero of the Revolutionary War, never knew defeat. The closest he ever came to it was in August, 1788, while serving under Russian colors, when he unsuccessfully attacked a Turkish flotilla. During the Revolution Jones engaged in twenty-three sea battles without a defeat. A complete list of all Jones's engagements, as recounted in a commemorative book authorized by Congress, includes forty-eight fights.

The ancient fire-fighting equipment in the above drawing was built for the Tahitian city of Papette nearly 100 years ago—but somehow it was never delivered there, and instead was brought around Cape Horn in the 1840's to protect life and property in the thriving California city of Columbia, a city of 50,000 people.

Columbia, long since a ghost city but once the metropolis of the coast, still has the fire engine. Less than 100 people live there now—but a few decades ago Columbia missed becoming the state capital by but one vote.

The fire wagon is equipped with hose made of buffalo hide. The old nozzles for the hose are seven or eight feet long, and the pumper unit depended entirely on manpower. It was operated like a railroad handcar and drew its water from cisterns spotted strategically about the town in the manner of ancient Rome. In case a bucket brigade forms, there are four leather-handled buckets included in the equipment.

Braddock Is Signed For Title Defence

Will Meet Schmeling Or Baer in Bout Next Summer; Joe Louis and Primo Carnera Out, Says Johnson

Associated Press

New York, June 14. — Jimmy Braddock, newly-crowned heavyweight champion, to-day agreed to defend his title for Madison Square Garden against Max Schmeling, former titleholder, in the summer of 1936, thus eliminating any chance of a championship fight in September.

In announcing that the new champion would make the first defence of his title next year, James J. Johnston, head of boxing at the Garden, said Max Baer would be offered a bout with Schmeling in September, and if victorious would be substituted for the German in a return bout with Braddock.

But as for Joe Louis, the Detroit negro, and Primo Carnera, who will meet June 25 under the promotion of the rival Twentieth Century Club, they are out as far as a chance at the title is concerned, according to Johnston.

SCHMELING COMING ACROSS

"We're going to have Schmeling over here within a few weeks to start building him up for the next title shot," said Johnston. Louis and Carnera, however, are out of the picture as far as the Garden and Braddock are concerned.

"Louis refused to fight Braddock for the Garden when they were seeking an opponent for the new champion after the Art Lasky fight. Carnera had a gentleman's agreement to fight the winner of the Braddock-Lasky bout, but he ran out on the match.

"So," said Johnston, "those two guys just ran themselves out of the championship picture."

SOCCER WORKOUT

Saanich Thistles, following a workout to-morrow evening at 6.30 o'clock, will meet Esquimalt in a practice game, Sunday at 2 o'clock, in Bullen's Park. All players are urged to attend.

Von Cramm Beats Crawford Handily

Berlin, June 14.—Gottfried von Cramm sent Germany away to an early lead in the European zone Davis Cup tennis semi-finals with Australia to-day, defeating Jack Crawford in straight sets, 6-3, 7-5, 6-2.

WILL HOLD HANDICAPS

Special Events Listed For Local Runners Starting June 22 Here

Track and field stars of the city, as well as those less adept at the different events, will start away on a series of handicaps a week to-morrow in the first meet of its kind, arranged by John Baxter, handicapper of the Y.M.C.A.

On June 22, the athletes will work on the 100 yards, quarter-mile and mile, as well as the broad jump, shot put and hop-step-and-jump in the men's section. For the girls a handicap sixty-yard sprint and a broad jump have been arranged.

No races will be held the following Saturday, since the best of the local team will be competing in open events in the Vancouver police sports.

On July 6 the handicap runners will perform over the furlong and half-mile distances. High jump, javelin, discus and hurdles contests will also be staged. For the fair sex the handicapper will arrange a 100-yard sprint and a high jump.

REPEAT EVENTS

The June 22 programme will be repeated on July 13, and the events listed for July 6 will be staged again on July 20.

Further meets have tentatively been arranged for local runners and jumpers later in the season.

This year the "Y" track club will again be open to girls, who may register at the Y.M.C.A.

Associate membership cards for those wishing to support the club will also be issued this year in an effort to increase the financial strength of the track group.

COLWOOD TEAM TO BATTLE RAINIER

The first half of the annual match for the Langley Trophy will be held here Sunday between teams representing the Sagamore (Rainier) Golf Club and the Colwood Golf Club.

9.30 a.m.—R. Randall and S. Marling.
9.35 a.m.—A. B. Christopher and H. D. Reid.
9.40—A. C. Falk and A. D. Straith.
9.45—R. W. MacKenzie and Dr. J. Sturdy.
9.50—Geo. Straith and D. McDiarmid.
9.55—Dr. A. Webster and A. V. King.

Favor California To Win At Poughkeepsie

Associated Press

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., June 14.—It may be a hunch and it may be a case of history repeating itself, but some experts watching sixteen crews prepare for the intercollegiate regatta believe the University of California will be first under the wire in the four-mile pull Tuesday.

Washington, California's western rival, won the annual regatta on the Coast in 1934 only to lose to the Bears on the Hudson. Washington won again this year by six feet, and Ky Ebright and his proteges feel its history's move next. All he says is that he has a good crew—much better and heavier than the one which lost to the Huskies.

The experts point to the smoothness with which the California boatload masters the same stroke that carried the Bears to victory in 1932

BIG BIKE RACES BILLED TO-NIGHT

With the largest entry in the last nine years filed for the events, The Colonist bike races are scheduled to start to-night from the corner of King's Road and Quadra Street at 7.30 o'clock. Fifty-eight competitors will seek laurels in the different classes. Neil Duval, winner of The Colonist Cup last year, will be unable to defend his trophy, having been forced from the running by the doctor's orders.

STILL TIED IN SOFTBALL

Silent Glows and Bert Waudes Bracketted in Top Berth After Victories

Locked in the leadership of the "A" Section of the Lower Island Softball League, Bert Waudes and Silent Glows still remain together as a result of their victories yesterday evening.

Smashing in nine runs in the third inning at Work Point Barracks, Silent Glows sent Teskey, Garrison hurler, to the showers and, though they were held by Glendenning to one run during the remainder of the game the burnermen played good ball themselves and vanquished the army nine, 10 to 2.

Bert Waudes accounted for New Method Laundry, last year's city and island champions, 5 to 3, in a tight game at Athletic Park. Behind 3 to 1, the laundrymen evened the score in the last half of the sixth, only to go one run behind again when the hairdressers brought a man home in the first of the seventh. Bert Waudes made their position more comfortable by increasing their lead to two in the first of the ninth.

BRUNDSONS WIN

With Jacklin starting as a baserunner and scoring three of his team's runs, Brundson's Boys shutout Civic Staff, 4 to 0, at Victoria West Park in a third "A" section fixture. The winners scored single runs in the first, fifth, seventh and ninth.

Painter's Bruins continued their winning streak by turning back the Eagles, 15 to 12, in a free-scoring "B" division affair at Spencer's Park. Painter's took a two-run lead in the first inning and the birdmen scored once. The Bruins added two in the second and three in the third. But the Eagles came back strong to score seven runs and take a one-run lead which they held until the sixth when the fuel boys sent in two runners and then went on a scoring rampage in the seventh to drive home six runs and bring the score to 15 to 8 in their favor. In the seventh the Eagles scored twice and added two in the ninth.

POODLE DOG WINS

Playing good ball behind the pitching of Rankin, Kreeges turned back the Navy, 6 to 5. Going into the ninth with the score tied five all, the chain store men drove a runner the route to take a close-fought battle.

In a "C" section game, Sid Carr ran his string of pitching victories to three in a week to give Hudson's Bay a 19 to 11 win over Spencers at the Memorial Park. Young Liberals beat the Revellers by a similar margin at Central Park and Dealats won from the Hustlers by default.

In the Junior League fixtures, Smeltz Machinists defeated Canucks, 14 to 9, and Harris's Cyclettes beat Togo Cleaners by the same score.

Bridges Wins Ninth Straight Ball Game

Detroit Flinger Continues Smart Performance, But Tigers Fail to Gain; Braves Set Back Cardinals

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

You mustn't mention—even in a whisper—that American League record of sixteen consecutive victories which Lynwood Rowe equalled last season, but his Detroit teammate, Tommy Bridges, already is in a good position to shoot at that mark.

Bridges has run up a string of nine successive triumphs since April 27, topping it off with a 6 to 1 victory over the Red Sox yesterday and entrenching the Tigers more firmly in third place.

Tommy gave the Sox only eight hits, smacked a double and single himself and got the benefit of Hank Greenberg's fourteenth homer of the season and three blows by Manager Mickey Cochrane.

But the Tigers couldn't gain an inch through the victory, as the other three first division teams bowled over lower ranking rivals. The league-leading Yankees trimmed the Browns 8 to 3 behind Johnny Broaca's seven-hit flinging. The White Sox, in second place, pounded over nine runs in the fifth inning, as Chicago trounced the Senators 10 to 6.

The Indians launched a fifteen-hit attack to beat the Athletics 6 to 3.

GIANTS GAIN

In the National League the Giants, partly because of Hal Schumacher's Indian sign on Cincinnati, gained a lot of ground. With Schumacher pitching four-hit ball in the opener for his fourteenth triumph over the Reds, who never have beaten him, the league leaders took a doubleheader 7 to 2 and 9 to 1.

Meanwhile the second place Cardinals took a 3 to 1 setback at Boston when Danny MacFayden, making his debut with the Braves, outpitched Paul Dean. The third place Pirates ran into a 3 to 0 shutout at Brooklyn.

Despite their victory the Dodgers wound up in a fourth place tie with Chicago when the Cubs hung a pair of defeats on the Phillies 12 to 6 and 9 to 7.

COAST LEAGUE
By the Associated Press

Earl McNeeley's Sacramento Senators to-day thanked the strategy of Ed Pickrell, Seattle hurler, for their 5 to 2 win over the tribe.

With the count tied at two-all, and one man on, the Indian moundsman purposely walked Henry Steinbacker and Harry Rosenberg, Sacramento's two sluggers, to get at rookie Max West. The youngster laced out a long double to clear the bases and bring in the winning runs.

Pitcher Jimmy Tobin was the whole show at Emeryville as he pitched and hit Oakland to a 4 to 3 victory over Hollywood. Tobin and pitcher-manager Frank Shellenback indulged in a hot pitching duel all through the game, but the Acorn flinger came through at the plate with a couple of lusty blows, one a homer and the other a single, which put him in position to score the winning run on the hit that followed.

The San Francisco Seals made it three straight over their home town rivals, the Missions, when they took yesterday's game 9 to 6. Joe Di Maggio clouted two homers.

Los Angeles and Portland did not play.

Marjorie Todd and Mrs. E. Jackson In City Golf Final

Oak Bay Player Turns Tables On Colwood Entrant

Accounts For Mrs. F. F. Sayward-Wilson, 3 and 1, in Semi-final at Oak Bay

Mrs. Hutchinson Loses, Two Down

Avenging the defeat she suffered from her opponent in the recent British Columbia championship, Miss Marjorie Todd yesterday afternoon triumphed over Mrs. F. F. Sayward-Wilson, 3 and 1, and won a place in this afternoon's final of the city women's golf championship at the Victoria Golf Club.

The other finalist is the 1933 champion, Mrs. E. Jackson, of the Uplands club, who was taken to the eighteenth green by Mrs. Hutchinson after being three up and three to play. She won two up.

Miss Todd's victory, putting her in a fine position for her third city championship, came after a see-saw struggle. Three up on the sixth hole, the twenty-year-old golfer saw her lead cut to nothing on the tenth green. Still unsteady, she managed to get a half on the eleventh in fives.

BREAK AT TWELFTH

The break came on the 525-yard twelfth where, with her smashing wood shots, Miss Todd was able to play an easy iron to the green. Her opponent, inside her in four, was laid a partial stymie by Miss Todd's first putt and lost the hole with a six to a five.

On the short thirteenth, Miss Todd got down a tricky three-foot putt to win the hole with a par three after her opponent, badly bunkered, had recovered well to sink a six-footer for a four. Two up and five to play, victory seemed fairly certain.

But Miss Todd still had to fight hard. Both were in the bunker at the right on the fourteenth, but Mrs. Sayward-Wilson was putting for the hole in three. Again Miss Todd's ball was in the way and the Colwood star had to be satisfied with a half in fours.

On the dog's leg fifteenth, Miss Todd went out of bounds and only bagged a half in fives by laying a long chip shot dead after her opponent lay twenty feet from the hole in three.

STEALS A HALF

The sixteenth was a repetition as far as a comeback by Miss Todd was concerned. In trouble far over in the rough on the left in two, she put her third in the bunker. Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, on the far edge of the green in two, was away, and she putted to within four feet. Marjorie used her putter to get out of the bunker, laying her ball twelve feet from the cup.

A dramatic touch was given the game as Miss Todd sank her putt and Mrs. Sayward-Wilson missed hers, thus causing the hole to be halved in fives and making Miss Todd two up and two to play.

Miss Todd was right on top on the long seventeenth, being hole high in three with two woods and a mashie-niblick. Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, just short in three after a weak third shot, chipped twelve feet beyond the hole in four and missed the return putt, conceding the match at this point.

The first nine medal score was:

Miss Todd ..... 5 4 5 5 4 4 4 3 5—39
Mrs. Sayward-Wilson ..... 7 4 5 5 5 6 3 3 3—41

Mrs. Sayward-Wilson's card indicates she extricated herself from an early unpromising position by her accurate play "out on the point," where she carded perfect par figures on each of the par three holes and cut her opponent's lead to one at the turn. The match was squared on the tenth after Miss Todd got off to a bad start by putting her first drive out of bounds, thus duplicating her performance on the previous hole. The eventual winner finally pulled herself together on the long twelfth.

AHEAD AT TWELFTH

Mrs. Jackson also forged into the lead at the twelfth after a dingdong battle and was never again caught. All square on the twelfth tee, the Uplands star won the long twelfth with a par five to a six. She went two up on the fourteenth with a par three after a half in fours on the thirteenth, and became dormie on the fifteenth with a five to a six.

Mrs. Hutchinson stayed in the fight with a fine four on the sixteenth and also won the seventeenth in unusual circumstances. She was on in three, twenty five feet from the cup, while Mrs. Jackson, short in three after a poor third, was on in four. Mrs. Hutchinson's first putt was weak, while Mrs. Jackson putted to within thirty inches.

Mrs. Hutchinson then missed her short putt for the hole, but her life was saved when Mrs. Jackson also missed.

On the eighteenth, Mrs. Jackson, now only one up and one to play, narrowly missed the bunkers in the middle of the fairway with her drive. Mrs. Hutchinson's second was just short of the crest of the hill, while her opponent was on the green in two. Mrs. Hutchinson then laid a chip shot to within four feet of the pin, but the match was over when Mrs. Jackson laid her first putt stone dead for a par four.

FIRST NINE CLOSE

The first nine was a see-saw affair. Mrs. Hutchinson was one up at the end of the sixth, but her opponent won the seventh and eighth, going one up for the first time. Mrs. Hutchinson evened the match at the turn by sinking a twenty-footer for a three after Mrs. Jackson had nearly sunk a chip shot just off the green.

Mrs. Hutchinson went one up again at the tenth and had a stroke of bad luck on the eleventh. Mrs. Jackson's putt for a four missed and Mrs. Hutchinson, lying three, had a putt for the hole. Mrs. Jackson's ball, however, was in a dangerous position as far as Mrs. Hutchinson was concerned, and Mrs. Hutchinson knocked her opponent's ball into the hole as her own putt missed. Thus Mrs. Jackson, not Mrs. Hutchinson, won the hole and squared the match. She took the lead at the next hole and was never headed.

FLIGHT RESULTS

In the first flight, Mrs. E. D. Todd defeated Mrs. Boyd, 3 and 2, and Miss Dorothy Fletcher accounted for Mrs. Dowell, 4 and 2. The two winners were meeting in the final to-day. Mrs. E. Watson took the second flight final from Mrs. Nickson, 3 and 2. Mrs. J. H. Wilson won the third flight, defeating Mrs. South, 3 and 2, and Mrs. Freeman came through in the fourth flight at the expense of Mrs. Woodcroft, 2 and 1.

BRITANNIA BRANCH WILL HOLD RACES

A programme of seventeen events will be staged by the Britannia branch No. 7 Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. at its annual picnic at the Willows Beach on June 29, according to an announcement by the secretary to-day.

The programme includes races for boys and girls four years and under, from four to six, from six to eight, from eight to ten, from ten to twelve, and from twelve to fourteen, as well as a members' egg-and-spoon race, a ladies' race, and egg-and-spoon race for the ladies' auxiliary, a members' needle race between the band and the branch, and a band race.

The programme will start at 3.15 o'clock, with P. C. Payne, P. Shrimpton, D. Swan, M. Gosnell and H. Pearson in charge.

From Depths to Heights---Champion Braddock

Few stories read as graphically as that of James J. Braddock, the New Jersey Irishman who outpointed Max Baer for the heavyweight championship of the world yesterday evening. Once relegated to pugilistic boneyard, after slipping from a promising start, Braddock came back the hard way, fighting to the top, fame and riches.

Drub Montreal All-stars 3 to 0 in Final Game of Trip Through Canada and the United States

Canadian Press

Montreal, June 14.—The magic of Tommy Walker's toe, the Heart of Midlothian star, who scored the first two goals, yesterday evening led the Scottish football association team to a 3 to 0 victory over a picked All-Montreal eleven as the Scotsmen concluded their thirteen-game tour of Canada and the United states.

More than 12,000 soccer enthusiasts comfortably filled the bleachers at the baseball stadium to see the only Montreal appearance of the squad, which went undefeated throughout its series, begun at Philadelphia May 18. The Scotsmen will sail for home during the weekend.

CLOSE-IN GOALS

All goals were scored during the first half, A. Ferguson netting the other. The three scores were from close in after the Montreal backs had been passed and Robert Pinkerton, who played a stellar game in the Montreal nets, had no chance on them.

The line-up:

Scotland—Goal, Stevenson; full backs, Anderson, Cummings; halves, P. Wilson, Donnelly, Macdonald; forwards, Ferguson, Walker, D. Wilson, Mills, Duncan.

Montreal — Goal, Pinkerton; full backs, Moon, White; halves, Reed, Low, A. Fitzpatrick; forwards, Chodsoy, Davis, L. Fitzpatrick, Cree, Manuel.

Referee—W. G. Howve.

Entries In For Canadian Golf

Draw in National Amateur Tourney to Be Announced To-night Or To-morrow

Associated Press

Hamilton, June 14.—With the entry list now around the 125 mark, the advance guard of shotmakers seeking the 1935 Canadian Amateur golf title headed yesterday from all parts of the country for Hamilton, where the championship will be played on the Ancaster course next week.

Secretary B. L. Anderson of the Royal Canadian Golf Association said the list of entries and draw probably would not be announced until to-night or to-morrow.

It will be all match play when the golfing army starts out Tuesday morning. Two rounds will be played daily until Friday, when the semi-finalists carry on over the thirty-six-hole route.

WIDE-OPEN STRUGGLE

Indications point to a wide-open struggle before a new champion is crowned. Albert "Scotty" Campbell, Seattle star who won the title the last two years, is definitely out of the picture. He announced his inability to come east in defence of his crown.

The new champion may come from among members of the five interprovincial teams that will play Monday for the Willingdon Cup. But dark horses were seen yesterday at the invitation tournament of the London Hunt Club when Joe Thompson, Hamilton, scored low gross and seventeen-year-old Lawrence Bissell of the London Thames Valley municipal course, tied for second.

CLOSE MATCHES AT HILLCREST

Two well-fought three-set matches were seen in the men's singles event of the Hillcrest Tennis Club's championships yesterday. Play continues to-day.

RESULTS

I. Temple won from A. Smith, 6-3, 6-3.

A. Webster won from J. Stewart, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4.

H. Davey won from S. Hicks, 6-1, 4-6, 6-0.

TOO MANY PROSECUTIONS

Pittsburgh, June 14 (Canadian Press)—Police have been "tagging" so many cars, Traffic Magistrate Fred C. Baur, with some 80,000 "tickets" on his hands, is shouting for help. He asked the city council yesterday to tell police to "lay off."

PRINCE ALBERT DEATH

Prince Albert, Sask., June 14 (Associated Press)—Dr. A. W. Brodie, forty-six, former jail physician here and veteran of the World War medical corps, died of pneumonia here yesterday.

MARKET NOTES

The quality of the local strawberries which are now supplying the city's demand, was reported to be good this morning by wholesalers.

Growers have already shipped one car to the prairies and are working on another. Whether they will send any more strawberries to the east or not is questionable.

Starting next week, growers will pick only sufficient to supply local demands, wholesalers believe. The rest of the crop will go to supply jam contracts, which are said to be very attractive this year.

Prices for this small fruit vary in different stores, but are expected to become more uniform next week.

* * *

A shipment of pineapples from Honolulu arrived in Victoria this morning. The quality of this tropical fruit is said to be excellent.

* * *

Weather affects the sale of watermellons, and with the present dull and chilly weather sales are reported to be not so brisk.

* * *

* * *

Wholesalers expected a shipment of apricots and plums from California this morning, but it did not turn up. They are hoping to get this carload of fruit to-morrow.

* * *

* * *

* * *

The onion market is very firm, and available supplies of Australian onions will be cleaned up in two weeks. After that onions will have to be imported, and the price will rise still higher as the dump duty and ordinary duty amount to over $30 a ton.

NEWS IN BRIEF

H. C. Berry, scenario and short story writer of Beverly Hills, Cal., accompanied by Mrs. Berry, will be a guest at the Empress Hotel for the next ten days.

License fees on public billiard tables in Saanich were increased to $10 per table for every six months by resolution of the municipal council yesterday evening.

W. J. G. Duval, a member of the Saanich Fire Department, will be superannuated on July 1. His application for superannuation was approved by the municipal council yesterday evening.

Margaret Cameron, 920 Cloverdale Avenue, is suffering from bruises sustained when she was knocked down this week in an accident on Inverness Street by a car driven by Miss Margaret O'Neill, Craigmillar Avenue.

Nine-year-old Charles de Macedo, 1001 Balmoral Road, suffered a fractured wrist when he fell from a cherry tree in an orchard on Balmoral Road yesterday afternoon. He was taken to the Jubilee Hospital, where Dr. D. W. Graham attended him.

Wong Soo, Chinese, was fined $15 and $2.50 costs in the Saanich Police Court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving to the common danger as the result of an accident last Saturday on North Quadra Street.

The Saanich Council yesterday evening was notified by the Department of National Revenue that concrete pipe manufactured by the municipality and used in works projects was liable to a sales tax. "They will put a sales tax on hair-cuts next," commented Councillor L. C. Warren.

J. W. Clark, sheep rancher of Gisborne, New Zealand, who reached Victoria yesterday with Mrs. Clark and family by the liner Aorangi, is staying at the Empress Hotel en route to England. Ian Graham, tutor to Master J. W. Clark, is traveling with the party.

The Victoria West Liberal Social Club will hold a military five hundred card party this evening in the clubrooms, 414 Skinner Street, at 8 o'clock. The card party is being held in aid of the sick fund. Prizes will be presented and refreshments served. A full turnout of members and friends is expected.

Ben Bowman, 2896 Inez Drive, was slightly injured yesterday evening in an accident near the corner of Hillside Avenue and Grosvenor Street, when the steering wheel of the car he was driving west on Hillside Avenue locked. The machine leaped the sidewalk and struck a telephone pole. The damage was reported slight.

The annual meeting of the donors and subscribers to the Jubilee Hospital will be held on Friday afternoon, June 21, in the Nurses' Home, Richmond Road, at 4 o'clock. The business will include reading of the annual report of the directors, presentation of the financial statement and election of four directors.

"Accidental death" was the verdict of the coroner's jury which this morning investigated the death of Mew Hing, Chinese, at an inquest at McCall's Funeral Home. The Chinaman died from injuries sustained in an accident at the corner of Government and Herald Streets, when he was accidentally struck by Lyle L. Pelland, a cyclist.

Executive officials of the new civic employees' organization, the Federation of Civic Employees of Greater Victoria, were named at a meeting in the fire hall yesterday evening. They are: Sergt. A. H. Bishop, president; Wilfred Hulme, vice-president, and Albert Taylor, secretary-treasurer. The executive committee will be chosen later when plans for the drawing up of the constitution and by-laws will be discussed.

Charged with failing to provide the necessities of life for his two children, four and six years of age, Charles Lewis, known also as "Dr. Charlie," hot-dog vendor, was arraigned before Magistrate Jay in the Saanich Police Court yesterday. The case was adjourned a week for the prosecution to inquire into the accused's testimony that he did not draw revenue from the hot-dog stand at the rear of the Halfway House beer parlor. Frank Higgins, K.C., is defending.

Press Service For Australia

Merger Brings Australian Associated Press Into Being

Associated Press

Melbourne, Australia, June 14.—Recent registration of the Australian Associated Press represents the completion of twenty years of planning for the extensive service of the Empire and foreign news to all the chief Australian daily newspapers

Keith Murdock of The Melbourne Herald and publisher of newspapers in other parts of the Commonwealth, is credited with making the plan effective.

The individual members of the Australian Associated Press will have freedom to place special correspondents anywhere.

Originally, four independent press associations, the members of which mutually refrained from individual services, developed as the Australia Press Association and Australian Newspaper Cable Service which competed for many years but now are merged.

PRESSING SALE OF BABY BONDS

Vancouver, June 14.—First subscription from eastern Canada to Vancouver's "baby bond" issue was received to-day when John P. Coyle of Toronto applied for $10,000 of the ten-year 3 per cent bonds on behalf of the company of which he is vice-president.

Mr. Coyle stated he felt his firm should make an investment in Vancouver to help put its citizens to work.

Subscriptions yesterday evening totaled $656,400, with another $200,000 promised. Further figures will not be released until this evening.

Proceeds from the $1,500,000 issue will be used to construct a city hall and to inaugurate a works programme.

LAUDS MORALE OF FARMERS

Bryce R. Muir, of Ford Motor Company, Makes Contacts on Tour

"One thing particularly pleased me on my tour t' ough Canada, and that was the high morale of the prairie farmer," said Bryce R. Muir, ge eral sales manager, Ford Motor Company of Canada, who is at the E press Hotel today with a party of company officials from East Windsor, Ont.

The party included P. G. Willey, construction manager; A. Stanley Ellis, service manager, and Charles A. Smith of the sales department at East Windsor.

More people are buying cars and the improvement in business generally throughout the country is quite noticeable, said Mr. Muir. "The prairie farmer may not be making money growing wheat, but they are going in for mixed forming and are going off relief," he said. "The morale of the farmer is splendid."

Mr. Muir said he was on the Coast making contacts and meeting L. de S. Duke and W. P. D. Pemberton of Ford Motors. He is leaving for Seattle by the afternoon boat to-day.

Forester Goes To Conference

P. Z. Caverhill Will Attend Empire Gathering in South Africa in September

British Columbia, one of the largest softwood producing areas in the British Empire, will hold a place in the limelight at the forthcoming Empire Forestry Conference in South Africa.

P. Z. Caverhill, chief forester of the department of lands, will attend the gathering as the B.C. representative.

Mr. Caverhill will leave Victoria July 20, traveling by way of England. The sessions start on September 1 and will be held in Durban, Johannesburg, Pretoria and Capetown.

The conferences are held every five years and the 1935 meeting is the fourth of its kind. The main object is discussion and interchange of ideas to advance silviculture and forestry practice in different parts of the empire.

Mr. Caverhill will place before the delegates information on B.C. timber resources gained from the recently-completed forest census of the province. He will also explain the work done by the B.C. forest branch in investigation of logging methods, forest conservation, reforestation, protection against fire and other matters.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

The funeral of Miss Edith Birch, who passed away Wednesday, will take place to-morrow afternoon at the Thomson Funeral Home at 2.30 o'clock. Rev. G. A. Reynolds will conduct the service, after which the remains will be laid at rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park. It is requested that no flowers be sent.

Miss Birch is survived by one sister, Mrs. McLagan of Stratford, Ont.; her aunt, Mrs. Birch of 949 Foul Bay Road; two nieces, Miss Winfred McLagan of Stratford, and Mrs. James Hahn of Toronto, and a cousin, Mrs. H. Keeler of Victoria.

LITIGATION ON PIONEER MINE

Owen versus Bull et al, involving a large share interest in the Pioneer Mine, opened in Appeal Court to-day. This case is linked with the litigation launched by Andrew Ferguson two years ago.

Ferguson brought the original action on behalf of himself and all other minority shareholders to compel the various defendants to account to the old Pioneer Gold Mines Company for shares in the new company, on the ground of fraud and oppression.

The action was dismissed in Supreme Court by Chief Justice Aulay Morrison who held that the facts were not proved. The case eventually reached the Privy Council which also dismissed the action on the ground that as the old company was in liquidation the minority shareholders had no right to bring the action. This right lay with the liquidator, John S. Salter. The Privy Council also held the charge of fraud was "recklessly made."

The new petition was brought by Vernon Lloyd-Owen, who holds 10,580 shares in the old company and who was associated with Ferguson in the original action and is asking the court in a petition to direct Liquidator Salter to bring a new action. The action was opposed by the defendants on the ground that the charges of fraud were disposed of by all courts including the Privy Council, and that outside of the fraud charge, the claims were unsubstantial. Arguments were heard before Mr. Justice Denis Murphy in Supreme Court on March 26 and the petition was dismissed. The appeal now being heard, followed.

J. A. MacInnes is arguing the case for Owen and J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., for Alfred E. Bull, J. Duff-Stuart, R. B. Boucher, F. J. Nicholson, Helen A. Wallbridge and executors and trustees of the estate of the late Adam H. Wallbridge.

Pay Last Tribute To Mrs. M. H. Watkins

A profusion of beautiful floral tributes and a large gathering of sorrowing friends marked the funeral yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Mary Hannah Watkins, well known pioneer who passed away last Monday. Rev. J. H. A. Warr officiated.

The congregational hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." The five sons, C. Elwood, C. William, Ernest B., Frank M. and Charles R. Watkins, and a grandson, Thomas E. Watkins, acted as pallbearers. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Beverly Hills, Calif., June 14.—To the Editor of The Times: I hate to report any shortcomings in one of my heroes, but Huey Long is going back. Imagine only being able to talk sixteen hours. Why, before he was fattened by the luxury of senatorial life he would have talked right on into July, but at that he pulled the biggest and most educational novelty ever introduced in the Senate.

He read 'em the constitution of the United States. A lot of them thought he was reviewing a new book. Headline says, "Japanese by Thousands March Further Into China." Yes, and in forty years they will all be Chinamen.

Yours,

Will Rogers.

LOWER RATES RESTRICTED

Water Consumers in Unorganized Districts Do Not Benefit From City Cut

Individual homes in unorganized districts and irrigation systems in the city and Esquimalt will not benefit from new low water rates, contrary to the provisions of the originally-drafted by-law, it was announced at a special meeting of the City Council to-day.

Amendments making the low rates beneficial only to homeowners in the city and Esquimalt were approved at the meeting at which the by-law was given final passage.

The new rates provide a $1 service charge for five-eighths meters, a charge of ten cents per 100 for the first 400 cubic feet and five cents per 100 for the remainder.

HEAR TALK ON LAND REGISTRY

H. J. Crane Speaker at Real Estate Board Luncheon To-day

Details of the operation of the land registry department, and some of the finer legal points involved in land transactions were explained to the Victoria Real Estate Board at their luncheon in Spencer's dining-room to-day by H. J. Crane, registrar of titles.

An interesting sidelight on the conditions of land registry in the province was given by Mr. Crane in the form of a comparison between the figures recorded by the Vancouver and Victoria offices. In 1929, said the speaker, the Vancouver branch dealt with 21,000 applications, and the Victoria office with 8,000. In the year ended March 1935 the figures were 6,796 for Vancouver and 5,625 for Victoria, a complete change in the proportion.

Mr. Crane gave his address under the title of "Miscellaneous notes on the Investigation of Titles," and dealt with some of the snags against which the prospective purchaser might run. A certificate of title, he said, was regarded as conclusive evidence of ownership, but there were some circumstances under which it became invalid.

ADVERSE POSSESSION

Adverse possession was one of these. After twenty years of continuous and hostile occupation of land in the case of a private property and sixty years in the case of the crown, the adverse possessor's title overrode the registry certificate.

Mr. Crane stressed the need for the consideration of tenants' rights. Leases for periods of less than three years did not need to be registered and the purchaser should make sure that he obtained copies of all such leases.

It was a good plan, he said, in real estate transactions, not to let the client into full possession until the transaction was actually completed, in case of legal difficulties arising.

SILENT TRIBUTE

The meeting stood in silent tribute to the late Robert Baird and the late Fred Landsberg. A vote of condolence to their relatives was proposed by James Forman and seconded by Major Beaumont Briggs.

H. D. Paterson expressed the board's appreciation of the city's reduction of water rates during the summer.

The board will write to the City Council expressing its views on the matter of the cleaning up of the city's beaches. It went on record as strongly approving Alderman Hunter's attitude.

Mehan Singh was fined $10 on two traffic charges in Saanich Police Court yesterday. He was fined $5 on a charge of failing to produce a driver's license and a similar amount for failing to stop at an arterial highway.

BAER TO FIGHT IN SEPTEMBER

Associated Press

New York, June 14. — Mike Jacobs, promoter of the 20th Century Club, announced late to-day that Max Baer had agreed to fight in September the winner of the June 25 match between Joe Louis, Detroit negro, and Primo Carnera, former heavyweight champion.

Judge Attacks Affairs Here

Mr. Justice McPhillips Presses For Information on "Rooming House" Licenses

The second day of the hearing before the Court of Appeal here of the appeal of Eddie Miller File, Vancouver retail store keeper, sentenced by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald to two years for living off the earnings of prostitution through ownership of half interest and getting half the profits from a house on Johnson Street, Victoria, was climaxed just before noon to-day by an attack on the system by Mr. Justice McPhillips.

After hearing facts presented by Fred Donnenworth, counsel for Mr. File, and E. A. Dickie, prosecutor, as to the operations of the house here by Hattie Farrell MacMillan Miller, Mr. Justice McPhillips pressed his demands for information as to why the house, which city police officers had sworn in court was a brothel, should be offi 'ally licensed and approved as a "rooming house" by the city of Victoria.

"It is unthinkable that the city of Victoria would, after convictions, allow this three-story, twenty-roomed brothel to continue to operate right in the middle of our city," Mr. Justice McPhillips went on. "It is such a reflection on our city administration that one hesitates to suggest it."

"It is inconsistent, my lord," interjected Mr. Dickie.

"The chief of police possibly could answer that," Mr. Dickie replied.

"To think that the citizens of this city of Victoria should have a big common bawdy house operating day after day right in the very centre of the city is unbelievable—and should be cleaned up," Mr. Justice McPhillips went on.

"I agree with you, my lord; we have the same sort of thing going on in Vancouver," Mr. Dickie said.

Mr. Donnenworth argued there was no independent evidence linking Mr. File with the charge and that if he received money from Hattie McMillan that would not bring him under the law, as she herself was not a prostitute, but the keeper of a rooming house.

"The City of Victoria has licensed this place as a rooming house," Mr. Justice McPhillips added.

"I am afraid it is not a rooming house, but a "bawdy house," said presiding Justice Martin after perusing the convictions against the Johnson Street establishment.

Mr. Dickie explained Madame "H" was not tried as a prostitute herself, but for carrying on the business of prostitution.

Mr. Justice McPhillips pointed out that the appeal court had decided that a Chinese cook in a brothel was not guilty of living off earnings of prostitution and suggested Mr. File was in the same position as Hattie McMillan, who was not charged as a prostitute herself but as a landlady. Presiding Justice Martin said that the Chinese cook there was just like the charwoman, plumbers and tradesmen who work for such establishments.

"But they could not carry on these establishments with all these cooks and other servants necessary to keep them going, without the money—and where does the money come from, if not from prostitution?" Mr. Justice McPhillips went on.

Presiding Justice Martin said the court had decided inmates of such establishments had the right to live and to service, while Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald asserted that the cooks and other servants were living there on their own skill and not on the earnings of prostitution.

The argument finally closed just before the court adjourned for luncheon this afternoon, with the justices reserving judgment.

SALMON RUN EXTENDING

Fishing Spreads to Waters Off Victoria and Discovery Island, Report States

"A general survey of Vancouver Island indicates that salmon fishing, while continuing good in Brentwood Bay, is now spreading to other waters such as those off Victoria, around Discovery and Chatham Islands, and further north off Qualicum and Comox," according to the weekly report issued by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

"Trout fishing is good in the majority of lakes when trolled, and exceptionally good in the best-known rivers," continues the report, which goes on to give the following particulars:

"Good trolling for trout is available in Shawnigan Lake, Cowichan Lake, Cameron Lake and Sprout Lake. Fly fishing, especially in the evening time between sundown and dark, has brought good results in the Cowichan (near the Riverside), in Shawnigan Lake, especially at the southern end; in lower Campbell Lake and MacIvor Lake, both of which are on Campbell River.

"There has been good salmon sport in Brentwood Bay, and these fish are also beginning to run off Brotchie Ledge (Victoria waterfront), Trial Island, Discovery Island, and also off Qualicum and Comox. During the week a number of blueback entered Deep Cove in Saanich Arm, and were taken freely on a bucktail fly.

"Sea trout are migratory, but there has been good sport on odd days off Muir Creek, Sooke Harbor and Little Qualicum.

"The best water for steelhead at the present time is the Stamp River in the Alberni district. The fish are fresh, are in excellent condition and average from six pounds to twelve, mostly eight pounds. Wading and fly are the means."

Jack Morrill of Honolulu, a frequent visitor to Victoria, landed a 22½-pound salmon when fishing from Hugh Creed's boat in the Finlayson Arm near Brentwood yesterday evening. He hooked the fish at 8.20 o'clock, but it put up such a fight that he did not land it till 8.45 o'clock. Mr. Morrill, who is a keen fisherman, and landed a forty-pound tyee at Campbell River three years ago, was delighted with the evening's sport. "I've never had a fish fight like that," he told Mr. Creed.

PROMISE GOOD TIME ON TRIP

Full Programme Arranged For Army and Navy Veterans To-morrow

Rain or shine, veterans who go to Seattle on the Army and Navy Veterans' excursion to-morrow are assured of a really good time. Complete arrangements have been made for their entertainment both in Seattle and on the Princess Marguerite during the trip both ways.

The committee in charge of arrangements on the American side includes several members of the American Legion 40 and 8 well known to Victoria veterans. Henry W. Cramer is chairman, and among the committee men are William Bloch Jr., Chef de Gare of Voiture 75, 40 and 8; George James, Lou Kessler, Les Wolf, Ben Pullenwider, Cecil McKenistry, Alex Ronald Ray Knight and Gearge Grant.

All taking part in the excursion will be entertained at the Savoy Hotel, Seattle, and will later have the chance to be conducted free of charge by competent guides through several spots not accessible to the ordinary visitor, including the County City Building, the studios of NBC, station KOMO, the city jail and the public library.

DANCING ON SHIP

On board the Princess Marguerite, which will sail from here at 9 a.m. and be held at Seattle for the return trip until 7 p.m., dancing to the strains of a popular orchestra and a varied entertainment will be provided. The entertainers will include Joe Dobie, Bill Smith and W. Brown.

The excursion is a courtesy visit reciprocating the coming here last year of a party of 40 and 8 veterans, who presented the historic mace to Premier Pattullo. The Army and Navy Veterans will take with them a Union Jack, specially mounted, as a tribute to the American Legion.

Council Honors Fred Landsberg

Tribute to the work of Fred Landsberg, Victoria philanthropist, who passed away this morning, was paid by Ald. P. R. Brown at the City Council meeting this afternoon.

The council passed a standing vote of condolence to the bereaved relatives.

Ald. Brown referred to his active interest in civic affairs and the splendid charitable work which he carried out.

The council also passed a vote of regret over the passing of Mrs. Simon Leiser, whose charitable work for hospitals and the home for aged women was mentioned by Ald. J. A. Worthington.

Miss E. L. Gallichan Died Yesterday

The death occurred yesterday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital of Miss Elizabeth Lydia Gallichan, aged seventy-two years. She was born in St. Helier, Jersey, Channel Islands, and had been a resident of this city for many years. The funeral service will be held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel tomorrow at 1.45 p.m., Rev. A. deB. Owen officiating. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Hawaiian Queen Founded Priory

Sister Katherine Helen, who has been identified with St. Andrew's Priory at Honolulu for the last four years, arrived here by the liner Aorangi yesterday evening, en route to Glendale, Ohio, to join the Sisters of Transfiguration there.

St. Andrew's Priory was established by Queen Emma of Hawaii years ago for the education of Hawaiian girls.

Many Mourn Late G. H. Richardson

In the presence of a large congregation, funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's Church for George Henry Richardson, engineer for Oak Bay, who died in Kelowna on June 10. The service was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Dewdney. The casket and hearse were banked with beautiful floral offerings.

The following were honorary pallbearers: Col. C. C. Bennett, Samuel Gunter, Capt. Dexter, Thomas Watt, R. W. Mayhew, Reeve of Oak Bay, and Robert Jameson. The active pallbearers were: Bros. R. Angus, R. R. Taylor, John Syme, J. Vaughn Roberts, J. V. Johnson and T. J. Goodlake of the Masonic Order.

The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park, and the Masonic service at the graveside was conducted by Worshipful Master Lucking.

LADNER BRIDGE TIME EXPIRED

With the expiry on May 28 of the time limit granted the Ladner Bridge Company for commencement of work on a bridge over the Fraser River at Ladner, B.C., provincial authorities to-day were checking up on the government's agreement, with the company to determine the status of the project.

The agreement signed last November 28 allowed six months in which the company was to start work.

Until the question had been fully looked into, the government to-day declined to comment as to whether the proposal is dead or whether further negotiation may be carried on.

A FRUIT TREE MAY BLOSSOM IN THE spring, grow apparent healthy crop of foliage, but if the cleansing spray has not been applied properly its fruit will be blighted and scarred. Young people note carefully: You may partake of our coarse whole wheat bread, our rye bread, our Roman meal bread, our unsweetened bran muffins, or our many other building foods and grow apparent healthy bodies, yet if your inner thoughts are not kept purged from wrongdoings, the fruit that grows on your "tree of life" will be blighted and scarred. Profit daily and live a long and useful life. Golden Loaf Bakery, 711 Fort Street.

ROUND TWO

Very casual about it all, Baer danced out and Braddock popped him twice with lefts to the head. Baer, much the bigger man, laughed and posed as Braddock shot three lefts to the head and a right to the body. Braddock outjabbed Baer with a right uppercut. Baer cut loose for the first time with a two-fisted barrage to the body, but Braddock slugged right back, and half a dozen times Braddock stabbed Baer's head with lefts, then crossed three full rights to the chin. Max clowned, danced and laughed as he missed a long right to the head. The champion made a gesture as though he were holding back his right, capable of letting it go for the kill at any time. He slapped Braddock in friendly fashion on the shoulder as the bell rang.

ROUND THREE

ROUND FOUR

They came out very slowly and Braddock stabbed three lefts to the champion's head. Baer drilled both hands into Braddock's body as they clinched and contorted his face fiendishly. Baer nearly wrestled Braddock off his feet and the crowd booed. Baer raised both hands apologetically to the crowd. Fiendish again for a moment, Baer shot two rights to the side, caught the grim Braddock with a right uppercut, but Jimmy stabbed back at him with a left and made the champion bend with rights to the body. Braddock took a hard right to the chin against the ropes, the best blow Baer had landed, but fell into a clinch, shook his head clear and took another right to the head without wincing. A long right to the cheek knocked Braddock to the ropes, but he tore back with a right to the body as the bell sounded.

ROUND FIVE

Baer lazily came to mid-ring as Braddock again jabbed his head with a half-dozen lefts. Baer tore madly to close quarters, hammering both hands into the challenger's sides. A hard right bounced off Braddock's chin, but Jimmy tore back with two thudding rights to the head. They stabbed slowly in mid-ring, fell into a clinch, and Baer was warned for backhanding. Baer landed three right-hand uppercuts, drove a hard right to Braddock's body and complained Jimmy's right was low. Punching madly, Baer tore after the challenger, landed two long rights to the head, but took a half-dozen full smashes to the chin in return. Baer nailed his challenger with a right to the temple and stalked him, grinning from a crouch, threatening with his right hand, but doing nothing about it as the bell rang.

ROUND SIX

Baer ripped into Braddock with a half-dozen short rights to the head. He split Braddock's nose with a right uppercut. Braddock pulled away from the onslaught and stabbed two lefts into the champion's head. Baer threw a long right into Jimmy's head and Braddock smashed back with both hands, rocking the champion's head with a volley of rights. Baer nailed Braddock with a half-dozen short uppercuts, his best punch at the moment, but Braddock stabbed him with lefts. Braddock wavered under Baer's furious attack as Baer hammered him mercilessly about the head. Blood streamed from Braddock's nose as Baer thundered after him, but the challenger was punching even with the big champion at the bell.

ROUND SEVEN

They came up slowly again and Baer was forcing the fight now. He tore into Braddock, but the challenger popped him with a half-dozen left jabs. Braddock shot a left and right to Baer's head, poked his face with a half-dozen more lefts before falling in close to pound Baer's body. Baer shook the challenger with a half-dozen right uppercuts and shook him with two right smashes to the head. Braddock wobbled, but stabbed back gamely with his left, and the champion hammered another left to the head. Jimmy shook his head, smashed a long right to the jaw, but took two right uppercuts, damaging punches. Baer rifled Braddock's head with a half-dozen rights, but Jim stabbed right back at him with lefts, then flung a hard right to the chin. Again, as they came in close, Baer lifted a half-dozen short, vicious uppercuts to the head before the bell rang.

ROUND EIGHT

Again they were slow engaging, but as they came in close Baer again rocked Braddock's head with three short right uppercuts. Braddock backed away, and, as Baer followed, the challenger whipped a terrific right to the head. Baer put on his clowning act, reeling rubber-legged about the ring as the crowd roared. Braddock merely followed him, pumped two lefts and two rights to the head as Baer backed into a corner. Braddock nailed the champion with two lefts and two rights to the head as the champion crowded him. A long right bounced off Braddock's jaw and two right uppercuts shot Jimmy's head back. Baer stalked Jimmy with his right poised, but Braddock laced a right to the champion's chin as they stood toe-to-toe slugging evenly to the body in mid-ring as the bell sounded.

ROUND NINE

Methodically, Braddock stabbed Baer's head with lefts as the champion was low with his right. Baer aimed a half-dozen left hooks at Braddock's body and one fell very low, drawing another warning from the referee. Braddock pounded Baer's body and the champion seemed so remorseful he made little effort to punch back. Braddock leaned into him and then hammered both hands ceaselessly to the body. As Baer followed the challenger, Braddock nailed him twice with long lefts and rights to the head, and Jimmy had to take half-dozen more stiff right uppercuts. As they came back to long range, Braddock hammered two long rights to the head and they laid on each other in close again, punching ceaselessly to the head and body until the bell sent them to their corners.

ROUND TEN

ROUND ELEVEN

Game and still fresh, Braddock stalked out, pumping lefts to the head. Max drove two long rights to the body, two to the head, and smashed the challenger fiercely about the head with both hands. Baer tried to throw the challenger through the ropes and drew another warning from McAvoy and the booing reproof of the crowd. Max tried desperately to measure Braddock with a long right, but he couldn't find an opening, and they swung in close again, slugging furiously and evenly to the body. Max laughed as he held his right hand poised when Braddock's back was half-turned, but Jimmy swapped rights to the body with him and never changed his expression as a half-dozen right uppercuts bounced from his chin. Forcing the battle desperately as Braddock slugged gamely back, Baer was ripping right upper-cuts to the chin in close as the bell sounded.

ROUND TWELVE

ROUND THIRTEEN

ROUND FOURTEEN

Braddock walked in with his long left, but Baer drilled both hands to his body. Apparently feeling he was behind, Baer punched furiously at the challenger's head with both hands, but Jimmy stood flatfootedly and slugged with him, and Max was first to back away. Braddock stabbed twice into the middle of Baer's face, but took a half-dozen terrific right swings that reddened his side. Braddock threw two terrific rights into the champion's head. Braddock jumped in and the champion held, then ripped a right uppercut to the Irishman's jaw. Braddock took a fierce right on the side, but Jimmy flung a long right to the head before they stood and cuffed each other, both very tired now, in a clinch up to the bell.

ROUND FIFTEEN

They shook hands and Braddock stabbed the champion's head with a left, then locked in close in a body-smashing duel. Braddock backed away, looped a left hook to the head, and stepped back in to hold, as Baer hammered furiously on the challenger's body. They leaned on each other again, clubbing, mauling, wrestling in close, slugging wearily to the body. Madly Baer sought an opening for his right, but the best he could do was drum the challenger's side and then rip his head with a half-dozen right uppercuts. They leaned in close again, and Braddock shot a hard right to the Head. Desperately, Baer threw everything he had in a mad assault on the challenger, but Jimmy stood like a rock and slugged back with everything he had. They were standing there punching as the final bell rang.

NEW HOME FOR CHAMP'S WIFE

Vacation Alone With Jimmy and New Residence Goals of Mrs. Braddock

By MARY ELIZABETH PLUMMER
(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)

Guttenberg, N.J., June 14.—May Braddock, wife of the world's new heavyweight boxing champion, wants to get away for a vacation "with just Jimmy."

"We never had one together," she explained simply, after James J. Braddock, comeback king, had reached his goal.

"Now," she said, "maybe we can have a nice one-family house. We've always lived in a little apartment."

It was in the hot little living-room of their third-floor apartment on the Palisades of the Hudson that Braddock's twenty-six-year-old wife huddled by the radio yesterday evening and heard how her Jimmy was taking a beating from Max Baer—and giving a better one in return.

"Last September," Mrs. Braddock recalled, "our gas was shut off, and there was nothing to eat in the house. Jim went out to see if he could borrow just a few dollars, and that night, we went on relief.

At the decision, she burst into tears for the first time.

CHOPIN GIVES BALLET TITLE

"Chopinalia" Featured in Russian Ballet School Revue at Royal

Chopin, master of the valse and fantasy, gives the title to an exquisite classical ballet number in "Moods and Melody," which will be brought to the Royal Victoria Theatre on June 22 at 8.15 p.m. by the Russian Ballet School and its bevy of 150 artists.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Of course, in the development of just such humor, the right player must be had to add the right amount of punch to the gag. Ordinarily, one player is given the gag and plays it all through the picture. Sometimes two players bandy it back and forth, but in the Monogram feature "Flirting with Danger" which is being shown at the Columbia Theatre three sterling screen performers, Robert Armstrong, Edgar Kennedy and Bill Cagney play with the line and carry it through to the finish when a hilarious climax is afforded.

SEA BATTLE IS SCREENED

Spectacular Work in "Thunder in the East" at Dominion Theatre

The most spectacular sea battle ever flashed upon a motion picture screen is featured in "Thunder in the East," the Leon Carganoff production formerly known as "The Battle," which began a three-day run at the Dominion Theatre to-day.

These scenes come as the breathtaking climax to the seething conflict in the lives of three people—Marquis Yorisaka, the Japanese naval commander, played by Charles Boyer, who loves his country more than honor; Mitsuka, his lovely westernized wife, played by Merle Oberon, and Fergan, the handsome young English naval officer into whose arms Yorisaka pushes her in order to learn secrets of British naval strategy.

"Thunder in the East" was directed by Nicholas Farkas, internationally distinguished cameraman, and has resulted in his being hailed as a true directorial genius.

Robert Stevenson wrote the dialogue and Roger Hubert is credited with the magnificent photographic effects. The music is by Andre Caillhard. "Thunder in the East" is presented by Al Lichtman and released through United Artists. The supporting cast includes Betty Stockfeld, V. Inkijinoff, Miles Mander and Henri Fabert.

FEUD LASTING BETWEEN PAIR

March and Laughton Again Are Enemies in "Les Miserables"

Hollywood's most celebrated feud continues apace. Fredric March and Charles Laughton, the famous adversaries of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," are opposing each other again in Darryl Zanuck's Twentieth Century production of "Les Miserables," which is coming to the Capitol Theatre to-morrow.

March is seen in "Les Miserables" as Jean Valjean, who spends five years on a French prison ship for stealing a loaf of bread and then becomes a fugitive from justice by violating his parole; while Laughton is cast as Javert, the fanatical detective, who dogs his trail, although he leads an honest and increasingly prosperous life.

Sharing stellar honors with the famous film enemies is Sir Cedric Hardwicke, distinguished star of the English stage and screen, while Rochelle Hudson, Frances Drake and John Beal, three rising young Hollywood stars, supply a love theme that forms the counterplot of Valjean's life-long attempt to elude the clutches of Javert.

This fine Gaumont-British picture is excellently acted by a particularly capable cast, including Marta Eggerth, Hans Jaray and Helen Chandler. Marta Eggerth's singing is notably fine. The whole film scintillates with beauties of music. Fascinating music is played at a peasants' fete by the gypsy band, Gyula Howath.

Wall St. Session Active With Highs For Year Recorded

Associated Press

New York, June 14.—Investment demand was again the dominant force in to-day's stock market, and many issues were pushed up to new highs for the year or longer with gains of fractions to around 3 points. Rails, communication and "Blue Chip" specialties were the leaders. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,300,000 shares.

Strength of the carriers was one of the most encouraging signs to recovery proponents. Sentiment was also aided by announcement that union leaders, at the personal request of President Roosevelt, had agreed to recommend postponement of the coal strike which had been called for Monday.

Shares pushed ahead after a dull start which accompanied profit-taking. While there was some realizing near the finish, Western Union was up about 3, and others, major fractions to around 2 higher, included Santa Fe, Union Pacific, N.Y. Central, Northern Pacific, U.S. Smelting, Cerro De Pasco, American Telephone, International Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Du Pont, Care, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, Westinghouse, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, Evans Products and Inland Steel.

The 5 and 6 per cent preferred stocks of American Power and Light dropped more than 3 points each following omission of dividends by the company's directors.

LONDON MARKET

London, June 14.—A cheerful tone prevailed in a quiet session of the Stock Exchange to-day. Gilt-edged securities, iron and steel shares were firmer. Transatlantic and oil stocks were good, but speculative issues eased on profit taking. The market closed steady.

U.S. GOLD STOCK AT RECORD MARK

Washington, June 14. — Monetary gold stock of the United States passed the $9,000,000,000 mark for the first time in history during the week ended June 12, the Federal Reserve Board reported yesterday. An increase of an even $100,000,000 for the week brought the total to $9,016,000,000.

The daily average volume of federal reserve bank credit outstanding during the week ended June 12, as reported by the federal reserve banks, was $2,476,000,000.

MINES ACTIVE AT TORONTO

Toronto, June 14.—The Toronto Mining Market pepped up to-day on the leadership of the New York Board and the close was higher. Trade in the golds was confined chiefly to a half dozen secondary issues and in the base metals and silvers, Noranda and Eldorado held the main interest.

In Noranda a little nervous selling came along when it became known the stock would likely be withdrawn from the New York Board and a low of 37.80 was registered. However, the close around 38.25 showed practically no change. Falconbridge and Base Metals Corporation improved slightly and Big Missouri and Hudson Bay closed unchanged. Eldorado, Bear and Castle closed slightly higher.

Nickel Active On Vancouver Market With Prices Firm

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 14.—B.C. Nickel was again active in the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day, though price did no more than remain unchanged at 30 cents.

Nickel was among the most active of the list, trading around 5,000 shares. Total board ansactions for the session amounted to 111,000 shares.

Bridge River stocks brought little change, trading under light demand. Bralorne was off five cents, while Bradian, Wayside and B.R.X were unchanged.

A number of the cheaper stocks were firm, coming out for fractional increases. Among this group were Grange, Minto, Noble Five and Beaver.

Premier and Reno were slightly stronger, both ending up two cents. Cariboo, Dentonia and Congress held unchanged.

Outside Interest Boosts Winnipeg Wheat Slightly

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, June 14.—Influenced by upward trends at Chicago and Liverpool, wheat closed ¾ cent higher on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. July closed at 81⅜ and August at 81¾ cents in a moderately active trading session.

Some buying by outside interests was reported but operations were local for the most part. Offerings were light and it took little support to hold prices over yesterday's close. No export business was reported.

Chicago gained one cent and Liverpool closed ⅛d lower to ¼d higher. Cash coarse grains were firm.

Tarzan The Untamed

As the great ape leaped from the stage, a terrified audience expected to see the man in the box its easy victim. Instead they saw the bronzed giant placing his arm soothingly about that shaggy neck.

The nearest heard him speak some meaningless sounds. Meaningless to them, but evidently the ape understood. His menacing actions changed to docile ones; it whimpered softly and gently grasped the man's shoulder.

When the lights again went up the man had disappeared. Later Pat's father learned he was Lord Greystoke. "Well known in London," said the captain's friend, "but better known in Africa. There, he chooses to live in the jungle, almost naked."

"The natives claim he is half ape, himself," laughed the friend. Pat forgot all this as the exciting sailing day arrived. But time came when she recalled it, for she was destined to meet the ape-man in his own jungle—and not as his friend.

Shall We Tax Bachelors? | Dorothy Dix | Finds He is Soaked Enough?

NOW THAT the government must increase its revenue so enormously there is a growing movement toward taxing bachelors. This is justifiable or not according to the way you look at it. If you regard celibacy as a privilege, then it is only fair that a man should pay for his luxury. But if you consider not being married to be a misfortune, then it is hard on a man to be deprived of both money and a wife.

In reality the bachelor tax is probably more or less of a spite tax. The married man, beholding his single brother roaming about in freedom, with no home time clock to punch, no wife to put him through the third degree as to where he has been and what he has done whenever he is out of her sight, no children to feed and educate any buy sports cars for and pay out of trouble, is filled with envy of the lucky guy and obsessed by a burning desire to make him pay for the privilege of single blessedness.

Indeed, the general feeling toward the bachelor is very much like that which we entertain toward the multimillionaire, a sentiment of mingled admiration, jealousy and resentment. Men resent him because they feel that he has been cleverer than they in that he has ducked all of the responsibilities and burdens of domesticity. Women resent him because they feel that he has done one of their sex out of a husband and a home and the spending of his money. Hence the slogan "Soak the bachelor" is a popular one.

It has always seemed to me, however, that far from being in the privileged class, as he is assumed to be, the bachelor comes nearer to being the universal goat of society. Because he belongs to nobody he belongs to everybody, and everybody assumes the right to sacrifice him for profit and pleasure. He has none of the defences and protection that the married man has. He has no alibi to offer when demands are made upon him, as has the husband and father who can hide behind his family. The most potent excuse in the world for not doing what you don't want to do is: "Sorry, old chap, I'd just love to, but my wife won't hear of it."

The married man thinks that the bachelor's pocketbook is his own and muses upon how delightful it must be to buy yourself new golf togs instead of finery for the wife, and to be able to lay up money in the bank instead of seeing the last penny go for household bills. And he wonders that all bachelors are not plutocrats. Little he knows. Because the bachelor has no family of his own to support, all of his family think that he should support theirs. Because the bachelor has no daughters and sons of his own he is expected to buy pretty frocks for all of his nieces and send all of his nephews to college.

Furthermore, the bachelor is the predestined victim of everybody with "causes" and if he doesn't head every subscription list for buying flannel petticoats for the Hottentots to establishing homes for disabled cats he is considered a regular Scrooge. For what else does a bachelor work except to make money for other people?

So if any one thinks that a man gets out of buying perambulators and paying for having Johnny's adenoids out and Mary's teeth straightened and launching girls in society and starting boys in business by not marrying and having children of his own, they are vastly mistaken. On the contrary, so often is he the family provider that we are led to the conclusion that a benevolent Providence ordained the bachelor to pinch-hit for shiftless fathers.

Heaven knows a lot of married men who are sitting around pretty in idleness will have to get busy if the bachelor is taxed out of existence.

Inasmuch as the bachelor is taxed, even as you and I, for everything else under the sun, why should this additional levy be made upon his freedom? That is pitifully small, at best, and a possession he has to defend with unceasing alertness and skill in a world that is overfilled with husband-hunting women who consider him their especial meat. True, he has deprived some woman of a husband, but he may have done that in kindness and saved her from a great misfortune.

Nor is it always the bachelor's fault that he is a bachelor. Many a man never marries because he is true to a lost love, and many another stays single because he sacrificed the dreams of his youth, the home and wife and children he might have had, in order to take care of an old father and mother and helpless little brothers and sisters.

So for these and various other reasons I am unalterably opposed to the bachelor tax. Let every man have the right to marry or not as he chooses without the law's discriminating against him. Besides, whatever should we do for godfathers for our babies and men to fill out at dinner parties if there were no more bachelors?

Uncle Wiggily's Lantern Bugs

By HOWARD R. GARIS

When Uncle Wiggily had finished eating supper in his hollow stump bungalow one evening and was sitting in his easy chair to read the newspaper, his wife asked him:

"Are you going out to-night, Wiggy? Or are you going to be busy?"

"No to both questions, my dear," said Mr. Longears, politely. "Did you want me to take you to the movies? There's a very nice picture at the Oak Tree Theatre. It is called 'How He Got a Head.' It's about a gentleman cabbage."

"Thank you, I don't care to go to the movies to-night," said Mrs. Longears. "But we ought to go call on Mr. and Mrs. Twistytail. We haven't been to see these pigs in a long time."

"Then we'll go now," said Uncle Wiggily. "Mr. Twistytail is one of the finest pig gentlemen I know."

"I like Mrs. Twistytail, too," said the rabbit lady. "But be sure to bring your flashlight with you. It's very dark walking through the woods. The moon doesn't rise until late."

TAKES FLASHLIGHT

"I'll bring my flashlight," said Uncle Wiggily. Soon he and his wife were on their way along the woodland path and the rabbit gentleman made his little electric flashlight gleam in the dark places so he and the lady rabbit didn't stumble and fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Twistytail were very glad to see their friends. Curly and Floppy, the two piggie boys, had gone to bed and so had Squeake Squealer, the little pig, so the old folks had a quiet evening. They talked and after a while Mrs. Twistytail set out something to eat.

Uncle Wiggily and his wife had such a good time visiting the pigs that it was late before they knew it. All of a sudden Mrs. Longears, looking at the clock, exclaimed:

"Oh, Wiggy! We must go!"

"It's early yet!" grunted fat Mr. Twistytail.

"No, we really must go," said the rabbit lady, so she and Uncle Wiggily started back through the dark woods. They hadn't gone very far before Mrs. Longears said:

"I don't know whether my eyes are getting weak, Wiggy, or whether your flashlight is going out. But it doesn't give enough light to see the path. I can't tell where I'm going."

LIGHT GOES OUT

"It is dark," said the bunny gentleman. "It's my flashlight!" he added. "I've used it a lot lately and the batteries are giving out. There they go!" he cried as the light grew very dim and then faded out altogether, leaving him and his wife in the dark.

"It is so late all the stores are closed," said Mr. Longears. "But I know what I can do," he said, as he saw many fireflies, or lightning bugs, flickering in the forest. "I'll ask some of these lantern bugs to make a light for us." Calling to the fireflies, Uncle Wiggily told them his trouble, and they quickly agreed to help him.

"Take the old batteries out of your light," one lantern bug said. "Take out the tiny little bulb and we'll perch upon the shiny reflector and flash our lights through the glass so you can see." This was soon done. Then, carrying his flashlight with lightning bugs in it instead of batteries, Uncle Wiggily lighted the way home for himself and his wife. There the fireflies were allowed to fly away, after Mr. Longears had thanked them kindly. And if you see the gas stove trying to put a shoe on the foot of the stairs, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the sticky sand.

GARDEN CITY

The regular monthly meeting of the Garden City United Church Women's Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. N. Gardner, Marigold Avenue, on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. C. Alexander read a devotional leaflet on "Unselfish Friends." Temperance leaflets were read and discussed by several of the members after which Mrs. Raynor, treasurer, gave an encouraging half-yearly report.

The meeting closed with prayer. Refreshments were served by Miss Campbell and Miss M. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Beale, Gladiola Avenue, entertained at their home on Sunday afternoon in honor of the tenth birthday of their second son, Gordon Douglas. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Burow, Mr. and Mrs. H. Beale, Mrs. C. Harrington, Mr. J. A. Douglas, Margaret Beale, Trefor Jones and Ronald Beale.

Miss Elsie Pryatt, Snowdrop Avenue, returned to her home on Monday, after visiting Port Angeles, where she was the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. T. Kelly.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, JUNE 15, 1935

Although adverse planetary aspects are active, according to astrology, this should be a fairly favorable day. It is well to seek recreation under this sway.

Women are well directed to-day. It is a time for them to entertain friends and to concentrate on home and the finer things of life.

It is a happy wedding day, but one that seems to promise much of love and less of wealth. Many changes of homes are indicated and much travel.

Many merchants should profit this month, when there will be increased demand for sporting apparel and beach furniture. Summer resorts will benefit through this summer although freak weather is prognosticated.

There is a promising sign for engineers and builders. They add to the comfort as well as the beauty of American cities. Street widening will focus interest in many places.

Actors and actresses of real gifts will win recognition this summer. Genius will be discovered in summer stock companies.

This is read as a lucky day for young lovers, but not so fortunate for middle-age suitors, who may be exceedingly susceptible to debutantes.

Warning is again given that there will be an extraordinary number of accidents this summer among pleasure-seekers. Explosions and other mishaps may be expected among aviation lines.

Children born on this day may be either gifted with artistic talents or endowed with business or political sagacity. Many attain great success.

Ernestine Schumann-Heink, famous singer, was born on this day, 1864. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Edward Grieg, composer, 1843.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Japan, Sailing For Orient, Tour Ship

Two Round-the-world Groups and Four Orient Parties Leaving Here Aboard C.P.R. Liner Flagship Posted to Clear To-morrow Evening For Yokohama and Hongkong

A total complement of 450 passengers will be aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, Capt. L. D. Douglas, R.N.R, when she clears from Pier 2, Rithet Docks, about 6 o'clock to-morrow evening on her outward voyage to Honolulu, Yokohama, Shanghai, Manila and Hongkong.

The ship is listed to sail from Vancouver at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning and she will berth here at 4 o'clock to take aboard local passengers and mail.

SIX TOURS

The departure to-morrow of the Empress of Japan marks the inauguration this year of organized tour parties, for two round-the-world groups and four Orient tours are using Victoria and Vancouver as starting points for their holiday jaunts.

Prof R. B. Hall, former member of the University of Michigan staff and noted travel organizer, with fifteen members of his party, will conduct his annual world tour. Another party aboard will be under the leadership of Wayne Andreae, who will follow the highways and byways of China and Japan. There are ten members in the Oriental group. Twelve prominent residents of Salem and Portland, Oregon, under the conductorship of Mrs. J. Vinton Scott, and known as the "Oriental Sunshine Cruise," will also be aboard.

Another party of twelve, made up of students of the University of Washington, are also commencing a round-trip Oriental tour, and will return on the Empress of Japan at the end of July. A special party consisting of bankers, merchants, teachers and students from all over the United States, particularly California, will make up the summer vacation tour organized by the D. F. Robertson Travel Bureau of California. Mr. Robertson, who has himself made seventeen globe-girdling trips, has in his thirty years of travel organizing booked over 10,000 people for world tours. He will be leaving on his eighteenth world tour later in the summer, and has in the meantime appointed Frank E. Smith, one of his assistants, to conduct his summer vacation Orient party, of whom there are thirteen. They are due to return to the Pacific Coast about the end of August.

Dr. H. C. Slater, another representative of the Robertson Travel Bureau, will have charge of twenty-seven round-the-world travelers on the Japan, making the first world tour organized by the bureau to leave this summer for far-away ports.

GIRLS LEAVE HERE

Also aboard the world-famous tour ship will be five girls, daughters of prominent Europeans of Yokohama, who are returning home to Japan for summer vacations, having been students at the Strathcona Lodge in Victoria for the last season.

Prominent among the saloon passengers will be Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Barnett, of Spokane, bound for surf-riding and tanning on the shores of the midpacific playground of Hawaii; J. E. Schraeder, importer and exporter, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Julian and family, returning to the Orient, where Mr. Julian is manager of the Radio Corporation of America; Miss Helen Giggs, sister of Sir Alexander Gibbs, who is making an independent world tour in company with Lady Veronica Bruce; J. A. Boyes, representative of Messrs Hanson, Orth and Stevenson of Manila, who is on the last lap of a world tour; Dr. J. E. Hultman, Swedish minister to Japan, with headquarters in Tokio; Mrs. Hamilton-Watts of Vernon, B.C., for Shanghai and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. C. van Wamel of Rotterdam, Holland, commencing a world tour.

In addition seven Jesuit missionary fathers, destined for work in Manila, will be on board. They are Rev. Ernest B. Ciamanta, Rev. Walter O. De Lawder, Rev. Eugene A. Gisel, Rev. Coleman A. Daily, Rev. James J. Hennessey, Rev. Paul B. Hugendobler and Rev. John V. McEvoy.

One hundred passengers will disembark from the Empress of Japan at Honolulu, although 250 more will be taken aboard there for the continuation of the voyage to China and Japan.

JAPAN SURE OF TRADE TREATY

D. K. Abe, Leader of Economic Mission, Says Japan-Australia Pact Assured

Consummation of a trade treaty between Japan and Australia will be made following the return of Premier Joseph Lyons to Canberra from London.

Positive assertion that the trade pact would be successfully concluded between the two countries was made by Dr. K. Abe, assistant editor-in-chief of the Tokio Nichi Nichi, spokesman for the Japanese Pacific Economic Mission, sponsored by the Osaka Mainichi and Tokio Nichi Nichi, which reached here yesterday evening by the Canadian-Australasian liner Aorangi from Honolulu.

The other members of the goodwill party were: E. Yokoyama, of the Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha; S. Megata, managing director of the North Korean Real Estate Company Ltd. and director of the Yuki Electric Company Ltd.; I. Shimatani, of the Shimatani Steamship Company Ltd.; Y. Takatsu, director of the Minami Shinkichi Shoten Ltd.; N. Hashimoto, proprietor of the Hashimoto farm; K. Yabashi, marble dealer, and W. Fujino, student of the Osaka University of Commerce.

K. Sato, assistant managing editor of the Osaka Mainichi, English edition, and S. Sekine, of Thos. Cook and Son Ltd., remained in the South Seas to continue observations in the Japanese mandated islands.

Dr. Abe said the conference arranged for the discussion of trade relations between Japan and Australia was being held in abeyance pending the return from England of Premier Lyons of Australia. Premier Lyons is expected to pass through Victoria shortly on his way home from the King's Silver Jubilee celebrations.

CONFIDENT

"We are confident that a trade treaty will be successfully negotiated," said Dr. Abe. The spokesman explained that the mission was a goodwill tour of the countries bordering upon the Pacific Ocean. "Development of trade and the various spheres of intercourse should be encouraged by the nations of the world, and particularly by the countries bordering upon the Pacific," he said.

Japan's policy, he added, was to establish goodwill and foster friendship with all countries.

From Canada, the members of the mission will go to the United States and establish contacts with industry. They said the results of the tour, so far, had been wholly successful.

Dr. Abe was in Victoria twenty years ago, when he studied at Johns Hopkins and Columbia Universities.

Messrs. Hashimoto, Megata, Shimitani and Fujino, after visiting the United States, plan to go on to Europe.

STARTS EDMONDS RUN TO-DAY

Ss. Olympic of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, which this afternoon inaugurated a double-daily service between Victoria and Edmonds, giving passenger and automobile connections with Seattle. The service will be continued throughout the summer. The steamer Iroquois, of the same fleet, will make two round trips daily during the season between Victoria and Port Angeles. Both boats will berth at the Black Ball dock, immediately opposite the Post Office, in the Inner Harbor.

Aorangi's Master To Retire In November

Capt. J. F. Spring-Brown Will Turn His Ship Over to Capt. T. V. Hill After Fine Record of Service on Pacific

Retiring from the sea at the end of the year, Capt. J. F. Spring-Brown, commander of the Canadian-Australasian motor liner Aorangi, which docked here at 7.30 o'clock yesterday evening from Sydney and Auckland, is beginning to say his farewells to the shipping community on these shores.

The genial commander, with a service record second to none on the Pacific, casts his eye about his cabin on the bridge deck of his favorite ship and reflectively calls to mind the pleasant associations he has formed since he started coming to British Columbia.

Another voyage or two, and he will strip his cabin of his personal belongings and go ashore to take his place among the army of sea skippers spending the autumn of their lives happily ashore.

Capt. Spring-Brown will leave the Aorangi in November, and he will have no regrets when he turns his ship over to Capt. Thomas V. Hill, commander of the liner Niagara.

Capt. Spring-Brown was due to retire some time ago, having reached the retiring age limit, but he was prevailed upon to consider an extension of service afloat.

FINE VOYAGE

Docking here yesterday the Aorangi completed a fair weather passage. The ship, the skipper reported, maintained her schedule for the whole route. Many of the passengers, of which there was a total of 228 aboard, carried a healthy sun-tan gained during the voyage.

The ship was delayed six hours at Honolulu to pick up a party of school teachers returning to the United states on vacation.

Mrs. George Littlejohn traveled by the Aorangi to Honolulu, where she joined Mrs. Charles T. P. Ulm, widow of the flier whose plane was forced down and sank off Hawaii last December, while on a flight to Australia. Mrs. Littlejohn is the wife of Ulm's co-pilot. The other member of the ill-fated crew was Leon Skillings, navigator. Mrs. Ulm went to Honolulu soon after the disaster in the hope of finding some trace of her husband.

PASSENGERS ABOARD

The Aorangi's passenger list included W. Atkinson, director of Atkinson Oates Motors Limited of Capetown, South Africa, proceeding to England with his wife and two daughters; E. B. Laycock, pastoralist and manufacturer of Melbourne, with his wife and son; J. W. Clark, sheep farmer of Gisborne, New Zealand, en route to England, accompanied by his wife and their two sons; H. S. Jones, of the Australian Gas Light Company, Sydney; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Blackwell, prominent residents of Christchurch, N.Z.; W. Gee-Taylor, manager of the Colonial Motor Company of Auckland, with his wife; C. G. Banister, connected with Exide Batteries, England; Mr. and Mrs. T. Y. Wardrop, residents of Christchurch, N.Z., and Mrs. E. M. Barker, wife of the Hon. Alport Barker, mayor of Suva, Fiji Islands, paying a visit to the Pacific Coast.

A prominent party of travelers on board was the Japanese newspaper and business mission to the South Seas, including Dr. K. Abe, of the Tokio Nichi Nichi; K. Yabashi, W. Fujiamo, Y. Takatsu, E. Yokoyama, I. Shimatani, H. Hashimoto and S. Mekata.

RAILWAY HERO RIDES CUSHIONS

Canadian Press

Three Forks, Mont., June 14.—Thomas Whitney, twenty-eight-year old transient worker, "rode the cushions," a hero to-day as he resumed his homeward trip to Chicago, interrupted by a freight train wreck.

For saving the lives of two trainmen, railroad officials gave him a suit, free transportation to Chicago by passenger train, and unstinted praise

Taking Delivery of New Pacific Liner

Lieut.-Col. N. S. Falla, Managing Director of Canadian-Australasian Line, Passes Through Victoria on Way to England to Accept 21-knot Turbo-electric Ship; New Vessel May Be Seen in B.C. Service

On his way to England to inspect and officially take over on behalf of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand the new twenty-one-knot turbo-electric liner building at the Barrow-in-Furness plant of Vickers-Armstrong Limited for service in the intercolonial trade between Australia and New Zealand, Lieut.-Col. Norris S. Falla, C.M.G., D.S.O., general manager and director of the company, arrived in Victoria yesterday evening aboard the motor liner Aorangi.

The new turbo-electric ship, which will be the speediest of the fleet, will be delivered and put into operation by the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand early next year.

It is intended to have her in commission by April, 1936.

Although designed for service across the Tasman Sea between Australia and New Zealand to bring Sydney and Auckland in closer touch, it has been intimated by company officials that the new liner may later be seen on the Australia-New Zealand-British Columbia route, possibly as a relief ship when the regular ships are withdrawn for overhaul, or in case of other changes affecting the company's various services.

Col. Falla declined to discuss the possibility that the new ship might be diverted to this route.

He is much pleased with the progress made on the turbo-electric liner and considers that with her speed and luxurious appointments the new vessel will prove a worthy link between Australia and New Zealand. In tonnage the new boat is said to be similar in size to the Aorangi. She will be four knots faster, however, the Aorangi averaging about seventeen knots.

AIR SERVICES

While he is in the Old Country Col. Falla will confer with aviation experts relative to the type of planes best suitable for service between North and South Islands of New Zealand. Establishment of an air service to carry passengers, mails and express between the two islands is being considered.

Col. Falla followed Sir Charles Holdsworth as general manager of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand. He has held the office since 1934.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during three of the usual tidal periods.

Pan-American Clipper Prepared to Hop Off From Honolulu For Midway

Associated Press

Honolulu, June 14.—With three crossings of the California-Hawaii ocean air route already to her credit, the Pan-American clipper to-day was poised for its first test of the Oahu-Midway route.

On completion of a flight here from Alameda, Cal., yesterday, Capt. Edwin C. Musick refused to say just when he would send the ship over the Midway hop, but Pan-American Airways officials said the trip would be started in "a couple of days."

Ahead of the clipper lies a virtually uncharted flight of 1,323 miles, heretofore flown only by occasional navy planes. To the clipper, this distance is short compared to the 2,410-mile hop she completed in 17 hours 57 minutes yesterday, and the hazards insignificant compared to those likely to be encountered on a later flight from Midway to lonely uninhabited Wake Island, 1,191 miles farther southwest.

This Midway-Wake flight, however, will not be made until the clipper has returned to Honolulu and made its fourth and fifth flights across the Hawaii-California route, Pan American officials have stated.

MORE GRAIN SHIPS

Two other ships arrived to-day to take on grain shipments at the Ogden Point elevator, leased by the Alberta Wheat Pool. The Leeds City is posted to sail from the elevator at 3 o'clock this afternoon for the Fraser River, and her place will be taken by the Trondanger and the Daldorch, both of which will take Victoria grain to Europe. The Trondanger went alongside Pier A, Ogden Point, temporarily, while the Daldorch went to an anchorage in the Royal Roads.

"Bringing Coals To Newcastle"

Increasing flour shipments from Australia to Canada arouses interest; consignment landed here, however, is special brand of pastry flour.

"Seems strange," it was remarked aboard the Canadian-Australian liner Aorangi as she was discharging cargo at the Rithet docks last night, "that flour should be imported by Canada from Australia when we are a great wheat-growing country ourselves."

It appears that the consignment of flour put ashore here from the Aorangi was a well-known brand of pastry flour. Twenty tons of flour in sacks were lowered overside and trundled into the warehouse, where it was stacked in neat piles.

"I should say they do," said a freight checker when asked whether Canadian housewives used Australian pastry flour extensively. "These shipments have been coming in for some time and they seem to be increasing. It may be twenty or sixty tons, but it seems to find a ready market." "Yes, and that's not all the story," interjected an officer of the ship, chancing to overhear the discussion. "There's a whole lot more of it aboard for delivery at Vancouver."

Apparently, it is not a question of high wheat prices in Canada, government control, or the like. This country, it would seem, does not specialize in the manufacture of fine pastry flour, as Australia does.
